Ayer's
SARSAPARILLA
THE WORLD'S GREAT REMEDY

SCROFULA AND SCROFULOUS DISEASES,

From Emery, Judd, Stratton, Bristed, England.

I have sold large quantities of your SARSAPARILLA, but never yet one bottle which failed to bring relief and restoration to those who took it. As fast as our people try it, they agree there has been no medicine like it before in our community.

Eruptions, Pimples, Blistering, Carbuncles, Boils, Scrofula, All Diseases of the Skin.

From Emery, Judd, Stratton, Bristed, England.

It is my duty to you and the public, when I add my testimony to you publish the medicinal virtues of your SARSAPARILLA. It is a drug, and a powerful one, having a lasting effect in the eyes, and hair for years, which we were unable to use until we tried your SARSAPARILLA. She has been a great blessing to me.

Dr. John E. Bissell, a well known and much esteemed lady of Dennisville, Cape May Co., N.J., "I have suffered for years past from a chronic disease, and nothing has relieved me until I tried your SARSAPARILLA, which soon completely cured her."

From Charles P. Gage, Esq., of the widely-known firm of Gage, Ayer & Co., manufacturers of emollients, perfumes, &c., Boston, Mass.

I had for several years a very troublesome affliction in my face, which greatly disfigured me, and became an intolerable infliction.

I tried almost everything a man could find of both advice and medicine, but without any relief, until I tried your SARSAPARILLA. It immediately made my face worse, as you told me it might for a time, but in a few weeks the new skin had grown over, and become a tolerable infliction.

My face is as smooth as anybody's, and I am without any symptoms of the disease that I know of. I enjoy perfect health, and without a doubt owe it to your SARSAPARILLA.

Erysipelas—General Debility—Purify the Blood.

From Dr. Judah, Hingham, N. Y.

DR. AYER: I send you to remove Erysipelas and all other diseases by the following use of your SARSAPARILLA, and I have just now cured an attack of Mastoid Erysipelas with it. No other physician offered any relief until we tried your SARSAPARILLA, which soon completely cured her.

From Charles E. Johnson, Esq., Wadsworth, Conn.

For several years I have used your SARSAPARILLA, for general debility, and for purifying the blood, with very beneficial results, and feel confidence in commanding your SARSAPARILLA.

St. Anthony's Fire, Rose, Salt Rheum,

Scald Head, Sore Eyes.

From Harvey Sibley, Esq., the editor of the Timeshawock Democrat, Pennsylvania.

—On only child, about three years of age, was attacked by a severe sore throat. This rapidly spread until they formed a loathsome and virulent sore, which covered his face, and actually blinded him. He was given every kind of specific, and various ointments of silver and other remedies, without any apparent effect. For fifteen days he guarded his hands, and with them he shielded his face, so as to cover his whole face. Having tried every thing else we had any hope from, we began giving your SARSAPARILLA, and upon the fourth day he was entirely free from the affection. I began taking your SARSAPARILLA. Took two bottles, and some of your PILLS. Together they have done a great service, and excites the wonder of all.

From Henry Monroe, M. P. of Newmarket, C. N., a leading member of the Legislature of Parliament, for your SARSAPARILLA in my family, for general debility, and for purifying the blood, with very beneficial results, and feel confidence in commanding your SARSAPARILLA.

Mr. Anthony's Fire, Rose, Salt Rheum,

Scald Head, Sore Eyes.

From Dr. Hiram Smith, St. Louis, Missouri.

"Dr. AYER: I do not see how you have found your SARSAPARILLA an excellent remedy for Syphilis, both of the primary and secondary type, and effectual in some cases that were too obstinate to yield to other remedies. I do not know what we can employ in more extreme cases, where a palliative and local treatment is required."

Mr. Chas. S. Van Lier, of New Brunswick, N. J.,

had dreadful ulcers on his legs, caused by the abuse of mercury, or mercurial ointment. Many cases of irregularity, Leucorrhœa, Internal Ulceration, and debility, arising from the scrofulous diathesis, have yielded to it, and there are few that do not, when injected or given internally. It is a great remedy, and far superior to any other.

From the well-known and widely-celebrated Dr. Jacob Merrill, of Cincinnati.

Leucorrhœa, Whites, Female Weakness, are generally produced by internal Scrofulous Ulceration, and are very often cured by the alterative effect of this SARSAPARILLA. Some cases require however, in addition to SARSAPARILLA, the salutary application of local remedies.

QUINCY PATRIOT

and little children gradually gather round them. This is what ninety-nine out of the one hundred find to be the delights of matrimony!"

THE QUINCY PATRIOT.

Saturday, July 4th, 1863.

"Born to no Master, of no Sect are we."

PERSONAL MATTERS. Two years since—dating back from the next number—our connection as publisher of the PATRIOT commenced. The last publication, June, 1861, was dictated by him, who, before another issue, was taken from us, and by death, removed from the scene of his labors. So sudden and afflicting dispensation—involved new responsibilities—a young family which claimed our attention—the settlement of a business of long standing, surrounded with so many difficulties that it scarcely allowed a remuneration for our trouble, left but little time for reflection, or inclination to enter upon new and untried duties. But through the solicitations of kind friends, and those who expressed an interest in the prosperity of their village newspaper, and that it should remain as an heirloom in the family of him who had conceived the enterprise, we yielded their wishes, and consented to become its conductor—not without many misgivings, however, of our success in this new sphere of action, which might have deterred us—but the friendly disposition manifested, and generous support extended, determined our course, and never for a moment have we regretted it.

On entering upon the third year of our labors, notwithstanding our expenses have greatly augmented and are daily increasing, still, we shall abstain nothing of our zeal, but bring to our aid every available resource, to sustain the former reputation of the Patriot, and render it every way worthy of the community, and those who have honored us with their patronage.

SUCIDE IN SOUTH BRAINTREE. A young man named Edward Joyce, employed in Coffin's screw factory, South Braintree, committed suicide on Tuesday, by cutting an artery in his arm, and bleeding to death. After committing the act he went up onto the dam, near the factory and laid down to die. No reason is assigned for his rashness.

HORRIBLE CURIOS. There is in the library of the Boston Atheneum a volume containing the dying confession of a notorious burglar and highwayman. The special peculiarity of the book consists in the fact that its cover is made from the skin of the criminal, which was stripped and tanned after his death. His "life" was thus kept in his body after death.

HARD TIMES COFFEE. This article is manufactured by Mr. H. B. Newhall, No. 36 South Market Street, Boston, and by the Certificate of Dr. Hayes, the State Assayer, which is printed on each package, is said to contain nothing deleterious or injurious to health. Having used this Coffee, we highly recommend it to every one. It is not only cheap, but one pound of it will go as far as two pounds of any Coffee we ever used. See advertisement.

GREAT FAIR—Sanitary Commission. The Financial Committee of the New England Women's Branch of the Sanitary Commission desire to call the attention of the public to a Fair for the benefit of that Association, which is proposed to be held in Boston during the ensuing autumn.

It is confidently believed that for an object so near the hearts of all New England women it will be possible to secure such general and efficient effort as to render it even more attractive and successful than the Bunker Hill Fair of days gone by.

As the work of supplying needful articles for the use of our soldiers is now most successfully carried on, especially by the country towns in New England, it is earnestly hoped and desired that the regular labors of friends of the Commission may not be in any way interrupted by efforts to respond to this new call, which is addressed especially to those who may not have lent their aid to the cause, and in the hope that by suggesting a variety of work, not only no needle will lie idle in New England, but that many other talents and accomplishments may thus be called into action to further the great object in view.

AERATED BREAD. We take pleasure in laying before our readers in another column, the other side of the question, in regard to the Aerated Bread purchase by our enterprising merchant, J. K. Abbott; feeling confident that they will be better prepared to judge of the merits of the case.

THE FOURTH. Reader do you realize that this is the 4th of July; the anniversary of the day when the declaration went forth by acclamation, from three million of freemen, that these States were free, and should remain sovereign and independent forever?

Then catch up the glad sound, and pass it round, until it encircles the Union. There is to be no public demonstration, it is true, but plenty of private sources of amusement; visit the Captain's and take a bout at the moving match—he will be glad to see you; and by no means don't fail to call on Carver—he will expect you, and would feel hurt by neglect.

Boston Correspondence.

BOSTON, JULY 2, 1863.

THE TIMES.

That a crisis of the rebellion is approaching appears self-evident. So far as we know this evening, all along the lines, the opposing armies, mighty in number, are in actual conflict—a battle may be progressing now on a large scale to be followed by decisive results. We may meet with temporary reverses, but the chances of success are still hopeful for the cause of humanity and civilization, and we are cowards if we despair and flinch in the day of peril. Many of the Republican press charge the present national administration as weak and vacillating in its measures; and that the whole plan of recruiting our armies has been a vicious one. But this is no time for grumbling. The integrity of the country must be maintained by Republicans and Democrats. If the government has fallen by partisan policy into grave errors in the selection of many men for high military or civil trusts, who have by their acts disappointed public expectation, it is not too late to try a wiser system. In this fearful denouement, the authorities at Washington must be sustained in all efforts to preserve, protect and defend the Federal Constitution, and to execute the Laws of the United States. It is not for the Union is against it. All sorts of rumors have visited us since Sunday.—That Hooker has resigned and Gen. Meade placed in his stead. It appears that General Hooker visited the Heights of Maryland on the 27th ult., ordered their evacuation by our troops and the destruction of property that could not be carried away. When known to Haleck, he countermanded the order and removed Hooker from the command of the army. That the rebels have made a serious invasion into Pennsylvania is certainly true. It appears also authentic that General Stuart's cavalry has made the entire circuit of Washington and returned to Lee in Pennsylvania.

The rebels seem to be ubiquitous on the soil of Maryland and Pennsylvania, remaining just long enough in a place to do all the mischief they can and vamoose to other localities. How long are the smart and very brave people of western Pennsylvania to endure this? The cowardly manner in which the people of that great state has exhibited from the rebel invasion of last month will be an unclean record in the annals of that Commonwealth.

The story that General Butler is to succeed Mr. Stanton as Secretary of War is not believed here.

The accounts of our army movements at Port Hudson and Vicksburg are so conflicting that little credence can be placed in them. We are looking every day for tidings that Vicksburg is in the possession of General Grant. As to Port Hudson, General Banks has great difficulties to overcome. But he will do all that any man can do to place the American banner upon its walls.

Evening. The week closes with better aspects for the Federal cause around Washington, and the Fourth of July will be ushered in and kept with much cheerfulness. Pennsylvania news better.

A GENEROUS DONATION. Dr. J. Baxter Upham, of Boston, has lately given $600 in trust to General Foster's wife, to supply with wine and other luxuries the sick soldiers in the Stanley Hospital, Newbern, (N.C.) at present superintended by eight Sisters of Mercy from New York. He has also placed, at his own expense, a handsome iron railing around the little cemetery for soldiers in Newbern.

THE CROP PROSPECT IN MASSACHUSETTS.

The warm weather in May started all kinds of vegetation finely, and the mildness of June has greatly favored without forcing the crops. Hay generally turns out well and is of excellent quality. Grain never looked more promising. Vegetables are a little backward, but will yield well. The crop of apples and pears will be considerably less than that of last year, when there was a surplus. Cherries are very abundant. The grape vines are overloaded with young fruit, and the yield must be immense, if there is no drawback. Peaches are used up in this State, and is doubtful whether any further attempt to cultivate them will be made.

JEFF DAVIS in his dissuasion speech at Jackson during the winter of 1860-61, remarked that "If war should result from secession, it will not be our fields that will bear witness to its ravages, but those of the North."

AERATED BREAD. We take pleasure in laying before our readers in another column, the other side of the question, in regard to the Aerated Bread purchase by our enterprising merchant, J. K. Abbott; feeling confident that they will be better prepared to judge of the merits of the case.

THE FOURTH. Reader do you realize that this is the 4th of July; the anniversary of the day when the declaration went forth by acclamation, from three million of freemen, that these States were free, and should remain sovereign and independent forever?

LUNCH. There will be a free lunch at the Mariposa Saloon this evening.

LAUNCH. Launched, on June 20, from the Ship-Yard of George Thomas, at the Point, the Schooner Nellie Brown, about two hundred and forty tons, intended for the coasting trade—to be commanded by Captain Foster Brown.

COLORED TROOPS. The Anglo African enumerates the colored troops now in service as follows: Gen. Thomas's recruits 11,000; under Gen. Banks 3000; in Kansas 1000; in South Carolina 3000; in North Carolina 3000; under Gen. Rosecrans 5000; under Gen. Schofield 2000; Massachusetts Regiments 1200; in the District of Columbia 800—total 30,000. There are also 5000 colored seamen in the navy. "And still they come."

For the Patriot.

J. K. Abbott vs. the Aerated Bread Co.

To the Publisher of the Patriot:

My attention has been called to an article in your last week's issue, written by the gentlemanly (?) Manager of the Aerated Bread Company, wherein he endeavors to place me and my business reputation in an unfavorable light before the public; his reasons for doing so are beyond my comprehension. It is an old saying that "a drowning man will grasp at a straw;" this may solve the problem.

I will now state the true facts of the case

as they are, and leave it with a discriminating public to judge, after hearing both sides of the question, who is right and who is wrong about the matter.

In the first place the honorable gentleman states, "that on the 13th of May, Mr. Abbott purchased between two and three hundred loaves of stale and damaged bread of us," let the reader please mark this, and then we would refer them to the last line in the same paragraph, in which the gentleman states, "that bread was good and wholesome when it left our place." It puzzles us, and we think it will the public generally, to know how an article, especially bread, can be stale and damaged, also good and wholesome at the same time; we should like to have the gentleman enlighten us a little on the subject.

He goes on to say, "with the avowed purpose of selling it to a class of trade who buy stale and damaged bread at a discount." Now the afore-mentioned gentleman may have some of that kind of trade at his place of business for sight I know, but in Quincy, I am obliged to confess, we have none of that class.

It is a well known fact, that some of the Cutlers eat rats and mice; now I should just as quick think of laying in a stock of rats and mice, for my customers to select from, as I should of laying in a stock of stale and damaged bread, did I know it to be so at the time of purchasing it.

He says, "we declined all offers for it until he, (Mr. Abbott), persuaded us to dispose of it." Now out of pure politeness we would thank the gentleman for this compliment to our persuasive powers, for the public must know that they must be almost supernatural to persuade a man to part with a stale and damaged batch of bread; but so far from persuading the gentleman to part with his batch of stale bread, we never should have known that there was ever anything of the kind in existence, had he not taken me in a friendly, trading way, into a corner where the stuff was, and directed my attention to it, and distinctly told me that it was baked the day before; notwithstanding he now states it was five days old at the time of sale.

He stated to me that the only reason why he did not put it on his carts, was its ununiformity of shape, and he was afraid it would hurt his city trade; but otherwise it was fresh, good, and wholesome.

I did purchase the bread for two and a half cents per loaf, (this is true,) but it is none to his credit, for he first asked me three and a half cents a loaf for it, but I made the remark that I should rather pay the other half cent, or four cents per loaf, and have it uniform in shape, as it would look better to my customers. He then called a gentleman from another part of the room, and who seemed to be interested in the unfermented stuff; they consulted privately together, and at the expiration of a few moments, came to the conclusion to let me have it for two and a half cents. I said I would take it at that price, making the remark at the same time, that I intended to put it in a wagon and either go myself, or send a man around town with it, and sell it for three cents.

Not suspecting but that the man told the truth, when he stated to us that it was fresh, good, and wholesome, and had no other fault

but its ununiformity, I thought that it would do well for a trial loaf, and that we should sell more at three cents per loaf than at five,

and that it would be a good advertisement for both of us. But the next day business of considerable trade. The population is about six thousand. The surrounding country is very productive and thickly settled.

WESTERN VIRGINIA is now a State, and on the 20th ult., Hon. A. G. Bowman was inaugurated as its first Governor. Business was universally suspended in Wheeling, and the citizens turned out en masse to usher in the new State. Stores and houses were gaily decorated with flags, and the day closed with a brilliant display of fireworks.

Mansfield's Dispensary says that most of the Sarsaparilla of the shops is inert and worthless. Dr. Ayer in his writings on this drug states that not only is it inert as found in the shop, but so also are most of the preparations from it, or bearing its name.

He shows, however, that this fact arises from the use of worthless varieties, or unskillful preparations by incompetent men; that the true Medicinal Sarsaparilla (Sarsa Sulia off.)

of the tropics, when freshly gathered in the bud, is one of the most effectual alternatives

we possess. Combined with other substances of great alterative power, like Iodine,

Stillingia, Duck, &c., it makes Ayer's Comp.

Ext. of Sarsp., which we have reason to believe is one of the most effectual remedies for both of us.

On the 20th ult., John E. son of Mr. John S. and Mrs. Margaret Shea, aged 3 years 3 months and 3 days.

In Hingham, on the 26th ult., Deacon Ned Cushing, 79 years and 9 months.

TO LET. A new Counterfeit of the Fifty-Cent Postal Currency has just appeared. It is regarded as "dangerous," but can be detected by the oval engraving on the back of the note that encloses the words printed there. In the counterfeit the oval enclosure is longer than in the genuine by the width of the border.

COLORED TROOPS. The Anglo African

enumerates the colored troops now in service

as follows: Gen. Thomas's recruits 11,000;

under Gen. Banks 3000; in Kansas 1000;

in South Carolina 3000; in North Carolina

3000; under Gen. Rosecrans 5000;

under Gen. Schofield 2000; Massachusetts

Regiments 1200; in the District of Columbia 800—total 30,000. There are also 5000 colored seamen in the navy. "And still they come."

LAUNCH. Launched, on June 20, from the Ship-Yard of George Thomas, at the Point,

the Schooner Nellie Brown, about two hundred and forty tons, intended for the coasting trade—to be commanded by Captain

Foster Brown.

PACIFIC GUANO!
Agency for the
AMMONIATED PACIFIC GUANO.

WE are receiving a constant supply of this superior Guano, which will be found one of the most powerful and efficacious, capable of carrying the crops through the season, maturing the same, before the first frost, and leaving the soil enriched by the addition of Phosphate of Lime and Ammonical Salts—not impoverishing it as does the Peruvian. It is adapted to all soils, and all the various crops, such as Grain, Corn, Potatoes, Root Crops, Tobacco, &c., &c., as well as seen by the numerous letters and testimonials received the last season. Every Farmer and Gardener should give it a trial. The present and prospective high prices for the products of the industry are enough to stimulate every agriculturist extra exertions in producing more than a usual crop in the coming season. A Pamphlet containing testimonials, &c., will be furnished on application.

The Two Furrows.

The springtime came—but not with mirth—
The banner of our trust,
And with it the best hopes of earth,
Were trailing in the dust.

The Farmer saw the shame from far,
And stopped his plough afied;
Not the blade of peace but the brand of war,
This arm of mine must wield.

When traitors' hands that flag would stain,
Their homes let women keep;
Until its stars burn bright again,
Let others sow and reap.

The Farmer sighed—A lifetime long
The plough has been my trust;

In truth it were an ardent wrong
To leave it now to rust.

With ready strength the Farmer tore
The iron from the wood,
And to the village smit he bore
That plough-share stout and good.

The blacksmith's arms were bare and brown,
And loud the hollows roared;

The Farmer flung his plough-share down—
Now forge me out a sword!

And then a merry, merry chime
The sounding anvil rung;

Good sooth, it was a nobler rhyme
Than ever poet sang.

The blacksmith wrought with skill that day,
The blade was keen and bright,
And now where thickest is the fray
The Farmer leads the fight.

Not as of old that blade he sways
To break the meadow's sleep,

But through the rebel ranks he lays
A furrow broad and deep.

The Farmer's face is burned and brown,
But light on his brow,

Right well he wots what blessings crown
The furrow of the plough.

Better is to day's success—
Thus ran the Farmer's words—

For nations yet unborn shall bless
This furrow of the sword.

Curious Enigma.

'Twas whispered in heaven, and muttered in hell,
And Echo caught softly the sound as it fell;
In the confines of earth 'twas permitted to rest,
And the depths of the ocean, its presence confused;

'Twas seen in the lightning, 'twas heard in the thunder,
'Twill be found in the Sphere, when riven asunder;

'Twas given to man, with his earliest breath;

It assists at his birth, and attends him in death,
Presides o'er his happiness, honor, and health,

Is the prop of his house and the end of his wealth,

It begins every hope, every wish it must bound;

And though unassumed, with Monach is crowned;

No family should be without it.

Miscellanous.

John Clarke and his Fortune.

None of the relatives—some of them already rich—had offered the poorest man among them, (the owner of the one-horse chaise,) any of the bequestment left to him or her;
but they had rather rejoiced at his disappointment.

The truth is, everybody had prophesied that John Clarke, a poor motherless boy, would come to ruin, and they wanted the prophecy to prove a true one. He had, in youth, been wild and wayward, and somewhat profligate in the early years of his manhood; but his old uncle had encouraged him to reform—he held out hopes to which he had hitherto been a stranger; and the love of the sweet young Jenny Blazier completed, as it seemed, his reformation.

Jenny never appeared so lovely as she did on that unfortunate day of the reading of the will, after they had returned to the poor little house that was Jenny's own.

No matter, John, she said cheerfully, you will rise in spite of them. I wouldn't let them think I was in the least discouraged; that would please them too well. We are doing fine now; and you know if they cut the railroad through out little bit of land the money will set us up quite comfortably. Isn't my barn more than twenty-five years, requesting that we'll repair it in a suitable manner.

That was all! Some of the people who were present tittered, and all seemed to enjoy the confusion of the young man. His eyes flashed fire, he trembled excessively; poor
Jenny fairly cried.

To think, she said to herself, "how hard he has tried to be good, and that is all he thought of it.

Wish you joy! said a red-headed youth, with a broad grin, as he came out of the room.

John sprang up to collar the fellow, but a little white hand laid on his arm restrained him.

Let them triumph, John; it won't hurt you, said Jenny, with her sunny smile; pray don't notice them, for my sake.

Served him right, said Susan Spriggs—the niece of the old man just dead, and to whom he had left a good deal of his money. Served him right for marrying that ignorant goose of a Jenny Blazier. I suppose he speculate;
a good deal on the old man's generosity."

Baby was just six months old when the railway company paid into John Clarke's hand a very handsome sum for the privilege of cutting a railway through his little field.

A handsome baby, a beautiful and industrious wife, and a good round sum from the railway company, thought John with honest exultation.

John, said his wife, rising from her work,
look there.

He did, and saw the one-horse chaise dragged by a stalwart laborer.

Master says how the old barn is going to be pulled down, so he sent you the shay, said the laborer.

Thank him for nothing, said John bitterly;
but a glance at his wife removed the evil spirit, and a better one smiled out of his eyes.

John, you can spare a little money to have the old chaise done up, can't you? You ought to, according to the will, said Jenny.

The old trash! muttered John.

You but could at least sell it for what the repairs would cost, said Jenny; and bless me
I'd keep it, too. You've got a good horse, and can have the old chaise made quite stylish for baby and me to ride in.

Well, I think he is contented; if he ain't he ought to be, with that little jewel of a wife, was Joe's reply.

Phew! you're all crazy about that gal, said Spriggs. Why, she ain't to be compared to my Susan. Susan plays on the forty piano till sixty, and manages a house first rate.

Bless you, neighbor Spriggs, I'd rather have that innocent blooming face to smile on me when I wake up of mornings, than all the forty piano gals.

I'd like to know what you mean! exclaimed

Mr. Spriggs, firing up.

Just what I say, replied good old Joe, coldly.

Well, that John Clarke will die on the gallows yet, mark my words, said Spriggs, especially.

That John Clarke, will make one of our best men yet, replied Joe, complacently.

Doubt it, said Spriggs.

Yes, may you do, said Joe; and that's a pretty way to build up a young fellow, isn't it?

when he is trying his best? No, John

Clarke won't be a good man if you can help it.

People that cry mad dog are very willing to stone the animal while he is running, and if he ain't mad, they are sure to drive him so.

Why don't you step up to him and say: John,

I'm glad you are going right now, and I've boots when I went to bed, and has left one of me spurs. Strange it is I didn't notice it. This explanation being satisfactory to Donald, harmony was restored, while the author of the mischief sneaked out of the room to his own nest.

"Born to no Master, of no Sect are we."

GERMANTOWN. The glorious victories of the Fourth of July were appropriately noticed at the Sailors' Sung Harbor by firing a national salute, after which the company there assembled joined, under the flag, in singing patriotic songs, and other exercises, making it a very interesting occasion. Few small villages have sent so large a proportion of their men to the army, and there are no where more industrious laborers for the sick and wounded than can here be found. Their enthusiasm for our cause, particularly the ladies, has now also been well evinced in their hearty celebration of the recent victories.

COL. REVERE. It is with sorrow we announce the death of Col. Paul J. Revere, of the 20th Mass. Regiment. He died on Saturday last, at Westminster (Md.), of wounds received in the recent battles. He was a man of noble qualities and highly esteemed by all who knew him. He married a daughter of the late Wm. P. Lunt, D. D., of this town, who, with two small children, mourns the loss of a kind and devoted husband and father.

Col. Revere, was the grandson and namesake of Col. Paul Revere of Revolutionary memory, and is the second son whom his parents have been called upon to surrender—his elder brother, Dr. Revere, having been killed about a year since.

RETURNED. We learn that Lieut. David T. Chubbuck, of the 19th Mass. Regiment, received a wound while fighting for his country, and has returned to his home in this town to recover. May good success attend him, so that he may soon be able to join his companions in the field.

WOUNDED. We are sorry to learn that another brave soldier from this place, Sergt. John A. Pratt, of the 18th Mass. Regiment, has received a slight wound in the head, from a piece of shell, during the recent battles in Pennsylvania.

FORTUNATE RESCUE. Recently as a party consisting of a lady and two gentlemen were fishing in Quincy Bay, their boat capsized. The wind being off shore, their lives would have been lost had not Colonel S. M. Quincy chanced to be in a skiff near them. His boat being too small to admit another person, he directed the lady, who evinced great self-possession to take hold of the stern, placed a rope for her support—ordered the young men to balance the boat by holding on to the bows at each side, and by great exertions rowed them all safe to land, a distance of near half a mile.

A PILGRIM CRAFT WASHED UP. One of the most interesting relics of the Pilgrims has been recently uncovered by the ever moving ocean, on the eastern shore of Orleans Cape Cod. It is the hull of a small vessel which was wrecked in 1625—of which a particular account is given by Bradford and Morton, under that year. A portion of it was to be seen about eighty years ago, but it has since been entirely covered by the sand and salt meadow, most of the time, twenty feet deep. Amos Otis, Esq., of Yarmouth Port, well known for his researches into the early history of Cape Cod, is having a drawing of this vessel made.

LOWER PRICE FOR COAL. The Philadelphia Press says that coal shippers have stated that the present advance in the price of coal will only be temporary, and that the price, as soon as the present excitement is over, may fall lower than it was before the advance. The increase of price was carried by the action of the coal operatives, who agreed to send regiments to the field and provide for a temporary suspension of operations in the mining regions.

While Gen. Paine lay wounded near the breastworks of Port Hudson, his Assistant Adjutant General offered to any one who would carry him a drink of water, $2000. A brave fellow undertook the task, and succeeded in cooling the parched lips of the hero chieftain, and doubtless saving his life, but death was his own reward. He was riddled with rebel bullets.

REAR ADMIRAL FOOTE. The death of Rear Admiral Foote is cause for profound national sorrow. For forty-one years, during a varied career, his name has honored the rolls of the United States Navy, and stands conspicuous in American history as that of a true and brave Christian man. In him were united in a most eminent degree, upholding bravery and deep piety.

LUNCHE. There will be a free lunch at the Mariposa Saloon this evening.

VICTORY.

The great achievements won in the battles of the past week and onwards resting on the shades of Independent Day, will be glorious annals in our country's history. The stake played by the rebel General Lee was immense—his design, a successful raid into Maryland and Pennsylvania, drawing General Meade's army into battle, conquering it, and then the capture of Baltimore and Washington was manifest. He ventured and lost the game. The rebel army of Virginia is defeated, broken, scattered and demoralized. Then again, the glorious triumphs of General Grant, in the capture of Vicksburg, have swung open the waters of the Mississippi to navigation free as air. These wonderful events have well filled the whole country with rejoicing. Richly has General Meade, who but one short week since was scarcely known, won the highest tribute of praise. One letter reads, that he seemed intuitively to know what was necessary to be done, and to be endowed with superior genius in handling and distributing his forces. But the need of praise goes also to the rank and file. American bravery has been manifested to the fullest extent in the veteran corps of McClellan, Burnside and Hooker, whose complete training of the gallant army of the Potomac, has made it what it is, and indirectly accomplished the greatest triumph of modern times. All honor to every brave citizen soldier who has responded to the call of his country and fought her battles—whether he be a Private or General, we care not. The spirit of patriotism is everywhere blazing forth with magnificence. While I write the banner of our country waves over the land, rejoicing in victory, this time, thorough, complete and lasting. Every person that we meet seems cheerful and happy, appreciating the republican institutions founded by our Fathers dearer than ever. The announcement that Lee's army is completely routed, and of official dispatches of the capture of Vicksburg, may well cause the public to rejoice, the hearts of the people to throb with enthusiasm, and bonfires and illuminations to sparkle from every hill top. As we named in our last, the crisis of this wicked rebellion is drawing near. We desire the blessings of liberty and peace. The South has shown by its obduracy, that this war will end only in conquest, the first step to conciliation in conquest. Let the war be pushed with vigor, and we shall surely conquer a peace—but nothing less than a return of allegiance by every rebelling State to the old Flag, the Constitution and Union, will be accepted.

BUSINESS MATTERS—FINANCE. Trade operations through the week, light. But the good news brightens everybody's countenance on change. Gold dropped to 32-1/2 premium, and is going down rapidly. Let the banks but resume specie payments, which they are amply able to do, and gold would soon seek its legitimate standard of par value—it is neither wanted for remittance or hoarding. Prices which have jumped high by speculations in gold and silver, now that the rebellion is on its last legs, like Vicksburg, must fall.

THE SEVENTEEN-YEAR LOCUSTS are up and singing, all the way from Cleveland to the Ohio river at Pomeroy, in a direct south line, one hundred and seventy-five miles, extending east into Pennsylvania and westward to the Scioto Valley. The entire region within this limit is not visited, but they appear in spots over that whole breadth of territory.

A QUEER OLD STATE. Massachusetts is very eccentric. She is so fanatical and so radical that she has never had a Copperhead Convention, never dictated the terms on which she was willing to uphold the national government, never proposed to resist the confederacy, and never advised the people to be more in earnest to overthrow the Administration than to overthrow Jeff. Davis. She has been content to answer all requisitions upon her for men and money, and to give her energies to the defence of the nation and the support of the federal authority. Why shouldn't she blush in the presence of the Bangor Democrat in particular. The greater the ignorance of the people, the more rampant is secessionism.

Excuse the prolixity of this letter, I may write you again upon other subjects.

Respectfully, M. CUSHING ALLEN.

DEBASING OF GOLD COIN. The New York Post says that quantities of debased gold coin are now in circulation, and the counterfeits are so well made that none but experts can detect them. Many of the banks in New York have received and paid the false issue; brokers take and sell it, and it is sent to the Custom House to pay duties, without criminal knowledge or intent. The process of debasement is to split the coin, take from the centre one third to one half, and replace with an equal weight of platinum. The sides of the coin are then closed, the edge is re-milled; and the whole of the work is so accurately done that not only the weight of the piece remains unchanged, but the size remains the same, or so nearly the same that the difference is not perceptible; and what is most singular, the "ring" is perfectly clear. The milling of the coin most frequently reveals its character. Specimens of the spurious coin are thrown out daily at the Custom House.

EXPLORING UNDER NIAGARA FALLS. Last Saturday, says the Niagara Falls Gazette, an exploring expedition was organized by Mr. Warren, on Goat Island, for the purpose of examining the cavity under the American Falls beyond the Cave of the Winds. Heretofore a huge rock has prevented ingress, but as the ice moved away, this season the rock was moved out of the way, thus leaving the route open. The party proceeded in this hitherto unexplored region a distance of about one hundred feet, when the falling water put a stop to further investigation. There may be a route here from Goat Island to the ferry, but there is no probability that it will ever be travelled by human beings.

SABBATH SCHOOL. The quarterly Sabbath School meeting at the Hancock street Orthodox Church will be held tomorrow evening at 6 o'clock. Addressess by George A. Snow of Boston, Professor Howard, late of Grace College, San Francisco, and others. Friends of Sabbath Schools are invited.

To BE REPEATED. Rev. Mr. Heath will repeat by request his discourse upon "Strange Things," to-morrow afternoon.

N. B.—Families supplied in quantities on reasonable terms, at short notice.

To the Publisher of the Patriot:

How delightful are some of the episodes of life; those brief and unlooked for pleasures which diversify our journey from time to time. It has been our lot to-day to enjoy such in a trip to Nahant. Leaving Boston, at 1 P.M., by the Eastern Railroad, forty minutes brought me to this busy place. After a few minutes walk, I found myself in that charming retreat, "Bird's Nest," High Rock, the home of the Hutchinsons. A cordial welcome waited me. As to the magnificence of the scenery from this lofty outlook, words can give no adequate idea to those who never have enjoyed it. I know of nothing in this country which can equal it, unless it be the view from the Citadel at Quebec or the Casco Bay as seen from Portland Observatory.

But a carriage stood at the door, and we were soon on our way to Nahant, four miles drive. Ten years, I found, had changed the appearance of things here very much.

The large hotel at which I stopped on my last visit has long been a huge pile of ruins. The

Whitney House and the Maolis now take its place. The grounds of the latter we found particularly interesting, containing the Nahant lions, the North Spring, the pool of Maolis, (Siloam spelt backward) the statues and stone chair, with other of Mr. Tudor's amusing and ingenious contrivances, which are well worth a visit. Then to sit on the rocks and watch the waves or the bathers in the surf, dressed in their grotesque costume, or to ramble along the beach and over the immense boulders which skirt the coast, furnish a delightful relaxation to mind and muscle.

The sun hastening to its setting warned us away. Reluctantly we bade adieu to this lovely spot, but with full purpose of a speedy repetition of the visit. When that occurs you shall hear again from

Poetry.

For the Patriot.
Independent Day, July 4th, 1863.

BY F. M. ADLINGTON—WEYMOUTH.

Hark, again the lov'd tokens the jubilee brings,
Will remind us of blessings and duties we owe;
While our liberty-bell to us joyfully rings,
'Tis the threat'ning death knell to fair Liberty's foe.

With the cannon's loud roar and the bell's thrilling chime,
We will welcome the day that gave liberty birth—
The old flag of our fathers still floats o'er a clime,
Ever true to its motto of freedom or death.

All in vain may the traitors to freedom and man,
With foul tyrants conspire our flag to defy;
For that noble old banner shall lead in our van,
Well supported by men who will conquer or die.

Then buzzes for the banner that Washington bore—
For the flag that Lafayette so nobly sustain'd;

For the symbol of liberty, justice and law—
The rich prize by the blood of our brave fathers gained.

Should the cowards, if any exist in our land,
Still refuse for the flag of our country to fight,
Our fair women if needed its guardians will stand,
And will bravely do battle for "God and the right."

Then all hail to the banner religion has bless'd,
That by justice is sanction'd, and honor enshrin'd;

The fair sign of hope to the poor and oppress'd;
The bright promise of safety and peace to mankind.

'Tis fair Liberty's banner, the God given sign,
Both of freedom and justice wherever unfur'd;

'Tis our pillar and cloud like the rainbow divine;

'Tis the promise that slav'ry shall cease thro' the world.

Love.

True Love is but a humble, low-born thing,
And hath its food served up in earthen ware;
It is a thing to walk with hand in hand,
Through the every dayness of this work-day world,

Baring its tender feet to every roughness,
Yet letting not one heart beat go astray

From Beauty's law of plainness and content:

A simple fire-side, thing whose quiet smile
Can warm earth's poorest hovel to a home:

Which, when our autumn cometh, as it must,

And life in the chill wind shivers bars and leafless,

Shall still be blest with Indian Summer youth

In bleak November, and, with thankful heart,

Smile on its ample stores of garnered fruit,

As full of sunshine to our aged eyes

As when it nursed the blossoms of our spring.

All is Vanity.

What are riches? But a bubble,
What is fame? But toil and trouble,
What is genius? 'Tis a spark

That soon grows dark.

What is beauty? But a flower,
What is love? An April shower.

What is friendship? 'Tis the fly
Just born to die.

What are honors? Empty spoil.
What is learning? Labor, toil.

What is youth? An unspun thread;
And how soon shred!

What is learning? Empty breath.
What is age? Herald of death.

What is time? One moment see,

Forerunner of eternity.

Anecdotes.

How strange it is, said a lady, that fashion-able parties should be called routs! Why, rout signifies the defeat of an army; and when soldiers are put to flight, or to the sword, they are said to be routed!

This title has some propriety, too, said an observer of men and things, for at these meetings whole families are frequently routed out of house and home.

A man with a very long nose, meeting a friend who had a very small one, accosted him thus:

"Why Hal! a man might be looking in your face for a month before he could discover the situation of your nose."

"True, Tom!" replied Hal; "while in your face he'd discover nothing else."

It was customary, years ago in Connecticut, to publish from the pulpit the banus of matrimony. On one occasion an old man rose and said:

"I forbid the banns."

On being asked to state his objection, he replied:

"I had reserved Dinah Curtis to myself."

The objection was deemed good.

Ah, said a Sunday-school teacher—ah, Caroline Jones, what do you think you would have been without your good father and pious mother?

I suppose mum, said Caroline, who was much struck with the soft appeal. I suppose, mum, as I should ha' been an orphan.

Please sir, I don't think Mr. Dosem takes his physic reg'lar, said a doctor's boy to his employer.

Why so?

Cause ye, he's getting vell so precious fast!

This Medicine increases the power of Digestion, and excites the ABSORPTIONS into healthy action, by which the WATERY OR CALCAREOUS depositions, and all UNNATURAL ENLARGEMENTS are reduced, as well as pain and inflammation, and is good for MEN, WOMEN, OR CHILDREN.

HELMBOLD'S EXTRACT BUCHU FOR WEAKNESSES

Arising from Excesses, Habits of Dissipation, Early Indiscipline, or Abuse.

ATTENDED WITH THE FOLLOWING SYMPTOMS

Indisposition to Exercise, Loss of Power, Tension, Difficulty of Breathing, Dryness of the Skin, Weak Nerves, Trembling, Headaches, Weakness, Dimness of Vision, Pain in the Back, Universal Lassitude, of Flushing of the Body, Muscular System, Eruption of the Face, Hot Hands, Pallid Countenance.

These symptoms, if allowed to go on, which this medicine invariably removes soon follow

IMPOTENCY, FATUITY, EPILEPTIC FITS,

INsanity and Consumption.

Many are aware of the cause of their suffering, but none will confess. The records of the insane Asylums and the melancholy deaths by Consumption, bear ample witness to the truth of the above.

The following extract, often offered by those who practice the art of medicine, and are known to be of the same skill, as Dr. HELMBOLD, is a Physician in our NEW PARIS AND LONDON TREATMENT.

We have recently devoted much of our time in VISITING THE EUROPEAN HOSPITALS, availing ourselves of the knowledge and researches of the most skilled physicians and Surgeons in Europe and the Continent. Those who place themselves under our care will now have the full benefit of the many NEW AND EFFICACIOUS REMEDIES which are enabled to introduce into our practice, and those public may rest assured of the same skill, assiduity, and care, GRECY and attention being paid to their cases, which has so successfully distinguished us heretofore, as a Physician in our PECULIAR department of professional Practice, for the past twenty-five years.

FRENCH FEMALE PILLS. Ladies who wish for medicines, the efficacy of which has been tested in thousands of cases, and never failed to effect speedy cures, without any bad results will use none but Dr. De Lancey's Female Periodic Pills. The only precaution necessary is, that they are not to be given to Organic Weakness, requires the aid of medicine, to strengthen and invigorate the system, which HELMBOLD'S EXTRACT BUCHU invariably does. A trial will convince the most skeptical.

Females, Females, Females,

Old or young, single, married, or contemplating Marriage—in many affections peculiar to Females the Extract Buchu is unequalled by any other remedy, in Chlorosis or Reversion, Irregularities, Menstruation, Suppression of the monthly Evacuations, Ulcerated or Scurious state of the Uterus, Leucorrhœa, or Whites, Sterility, and for all complaints incident to the sex, whether arising from Indiscretion, Habits of Dissipation, or in the Decline or Change of Life.

No family should be without it.

TO THE LADIES—Who need a confidential medical adviser with regard to any of those interesting complaints to which their delicate organization renders them liable, are particularly invited to consult us.

THE ELECTRO-GALVANIC PROTECTIVE.

For married ladies whose health will not admit, or who have no desire to increase their families, may be obtained as above. It is a perfectly safe preventive to conception, and has been extensively used during the last 20 years. Price $1 per box. They can be mailed to any part of the United States or Canada.

TO THE LADIES—Who need a confidential medical adviser with regard to any of those interesting complaints to which their delicate organization renders them liable, are particularly invited to consult us.

THE SECRETS OF YOUTH UNVEILED.

In all their stages; at little expense; little or nothing to eat, drink, or smoke; and no exposure. It cures frequent desire, and gives strength to Urinate, thereby removing obstructions, preventing and curing Strictures of the Urethra, allying pain and inflammation, so frequent in this class of diseases, and expelling POISONOUS, DISEASED, AND DOWN-OUT MATTER.

Thousands upon Thousands who have been the victim of Quicks, and who have had Heavy Stones, in the Gall-bladder, in a short time, have found them to be destroyed, and that the Poison has, by the use of Powerful Astringents, been dried up in the system, to break out in aggravated form, and perchance after marriage.

USE Helmold's Extract Buchu.

For all Affections and Diseases of THE URINARY ORGANS.

Whether existing in Male or Female, from whatever cause originating, and no matter of how long standing.

GOLDEN SHEAF WHISKY.

PRICE, $2.00. Sent by mail, post paid, for $2.25, or with six beautiful objects, $3.00. Mounted Objects at the rate of $1.50 per dozen.

Never Seen a Flower.

In one of the Industrial schools in the city of New York, were two little girls, who had always been confined to wretched boxes in filthy streets, and had never seen a flower."

Little, weary, restless feel,
Pattering through the dusty street,
Wandering daily up and down
Through the wide and desert town;

All the long, slow-dropping hours
Never once have trod on flowers.
Never daisy in the grass
Smiles to greet you as you pass!

Little fingers blue and cold,
Peeping from your mantle old!
What! never picked a buttercup,
Nor held a dewy rosebud up!

Nor plucked wild flowers 'mid summer air,
To twine amid the curling hair
That hangs with tangled, careless grace,
Around that wild and elfin face!

Little too large, and dead, and wild,
For a happy, careless child,
Of thy lids your tears are wet,
Strange sad sights your gaze have met,

Want, and woe, and pain, and sin,
All to you familiar been;

But ne'er yet in grove or bower,
Dawned on your sight a little flower!

Little heart so wild and shy,
Trembling, beating fast and high,
Thou too, doubtless, hast a part—
Little wild flower that thou art—

In the tender Gard'ner's care
Whose sweet buds the children are;
Who His sweetness garners up
In the child's heart and lily's cup.

Scroops.

Says an astronomer to a bright-eyed girl, when talking of rainbows: "Did you ever see a lunar bow, Miss?" "I have seen a beau by moonlight, if that is what you mean," was the reply.

As time passes, memory silently records, which conscience will impressively ready to you in after life—especially in sickness and age—to your joy or sorrow.

Bulwer says that poverty is only an idea, in nine cases out of ten. Some men with ten thousand dollars a year suffer more for want of means than others with three hundred.

A young woman's beau ideal is pretty certain to be like her beau real.

How do you do, sare? said a Frenchman to an English acquaintance. Rather poorly, thank you, answered the other. Nay, my dear sare, said the Frenchman, don't think me in some cases that were too obtuse to yield to other remedies. I do not know what we can employ, with the exception of success, where a power is required.

Mr. Chase, S. Van Doren of New Brunswick, N. J., had dreadful ulcers on his legs, caused by the shingles of a scrofulous disease, and more and more aggravated for years, in spite of every remedy or treatment that could be applied, until the persevering use of Ayer's SARASAPARILLA, and this, and this, he fell into more moderate and distressing than this, and took several dozen bottles to cure him.

Leucorrhœa, Whistlers, Female Weakness, generally produced by mercurial Suppurations, and are very often cured by the alternative effect of this SARASAPARILLA. Some cases require, however, in aid of the SARASAPARILLA, the skilful application of other remedies.

To a lady, unwilling to give the publication of her name, wrote:

"My daughter and myself have been cured of a very bad disease, standing, by two bottles of your SARASAPARILLA."

Rheumatism, Gout, Liver Complaint, Dyspepsia Heart Disease, Neuralgia, when caused by Serpula in the system, are rapidly cured by this EXT. SARASAPARILLA.

Ella Radford's Flirtation.

BY WILLIE F. GILCHRIST.

Author of Soldier's Return, Stray Buds, etc.

I know I'll catch him, exclaimed Ella Radford. I'll throw my sweetest glances on him, and just see if he don't propose in a month.

And you will marry him? asked Emma Brooks, her companion.

Not a bit of it. It will only be a little, innocent flirtation, you know.

How can you call it innocent? I think you are acting wrong in this matter.

Think as you please Em.; you always was an old fashioned, old maidish sort of girl. I will turn this fine Clarence Glenmair over to you when I am done with him.

For shame, Ella, thus to abuse the confidence of one who has never done you any harm. Have you quite forgotten Harry Briggs?

You will oblige me by not mentioning that inebriate's name again in my presence, replied Ella, a little haughtily.

True, he is a drunkard, but who made him so?

How should I know anything about him. When he first came to see you he was a gentleman, respected by all; but look at him now—a worthless sot. It is whispered that your flirtation with him caused his ruin; and Emma's voice trembled, as she thus brought the matter home to her friend.

People will say ugly things, you know. But let them talk, it does not injure me. I am resolved to have a little flirtation with Clarence.

At this moment the parlor-door was thrown open, and the servant announced Mr. Glenmair.

Good morning, ladies. Ah, Miss Radford, you are looking most charming this morning.

As full of flattery as ever, I perceive, replied Ella, with a most bewitching smile.

I call Miss Brooks to witness the truth of my assertion.

Ella, indeed, looks beautiful this morning, thus appealed to.

Lucky, I overheard the latter part of that conversation. Do you remember these words: "I will turn Clarence Glenmair over to you when I am done with him." I trust you are done with me now.

They were but idle words, Clarence, believe me, murmured Ella.

They did not prove idle words in the case of Harry Briggs. You skillfully led him on until he became your devoted slave—then you cast him off. His disappointment, the mortification that fell upon him drove him to drink, and he has become a worthless drunkard. Such might have been my fate, had I trusted you. I overheard your boasts, and resolved to teach you a lesson, which I sincerely hope will do you good.

The whole conversation—her boastful words, her companion's gentle reproofs—all came up before her, and her cheeks became suffused with shame.

THE QUINCY PATRIOT.

Saturday, July 18th, 1863.

"Born to no Master, of no Sect are we."

FIRE. At about quarter before ten o'clock on Wednesday evening, the stable of Messrs. Frederick & Field, stone merchants, in the rear of their dwelling, between Adams street, and the Turnpike, was discovered to be on fire. At the first notice, the flames had obtained such a mastery, that all thoughts of saving the building and contents were abandoned. The loss of property was serious—five horses, two oxen, about seven tons of hay, grain, wagon, harnesses, etc.—but a single horse and yoke of oxen were saved. The rest was a total loss, as no part—building or its contents, was covered by a single cent of insurance. Other property, at times, in the neighborhood, was in imminent danger, but a light air with a humid atmosphere, enabled the firemen to confine it to the spot where it broke out.

The cause of the accident is unknown. Two suspicious looking boys—strangers—who were loitering round the fire were taken up and committed to the Lock-up for the night. In the morning, as nothing appeared against them to justify their detention, they were suffered to depart. In their account of themselves, they said they were on a pleasure excursion, and had lost their way—that Cambridgeport was their native place, which they would endeavor to find as soon as possible. They were about twelve years old.

The peculiar state of the weather, while the fire was raging, made it appear like an immense conflagration—lighting up the entire horizon in that direction—slarming the fears of our citizens at the south part of the town, that the rioters in Boston were again at their work, and had set the city on fire.

SUDDEN DEATH. It is our painful duty to announce the sudden and melancholy departure of Mr. John Savil of this town, who dropped dead at his residence on Thursday evening last. It appears that he has been troubled with the heart disease for some years, and on the evening previous to his death, over exerted himself in going to a fire, which was in his neighborhood. On the following day he felt a severe pain in his breast, but went to his blacksmith's shop and worked as usual. At night he returned to his home as customary, and washed himself preparatory for tea, and this we may say was the last of his earthly labors.

The deceased was fifty-one years of age, a man of uncommon industry, and was highly respected by all who knew him. His loss will be deeply felt in this community. He leaves an affectionate wife and a promising son and daughter, to mourn his untimely departure.

QUINCY HORSE RAILROAD. We learn from the gentlemanly Superintendent, Mr. Cook, that there were between three and four thousand passengers carried over the road on the fourth and fifth inst. Also, one Sunday morning recently, the first car from the city brought seventy-two through passengers to this place. These facts appear almost incredible, and we should be inclined to doubt the statements had we not received them from so reliable a source.

The good success which attends this road must be highly gratifying to its stockholders, and we believe, it is equally as well enjoyed by our citizens. At the opening of the road there were many hints thrown out, as to what might be expected in the future, judging in no small degree from what had happened to other roads, that apparently had started with less opposition. But one stone after another has been pushed one side by its enterprising managers, and it now stands forth in all its glory.

There is a prospect now of uniting the Dorchester and Quincy Railroads in one, for a term of years, and to be conducted by the Quincy Corporation; but, as yet, we are unable to learn that it has been consummated.

PROMOTION. We are pleased to notice the promotion of our townsmen, Edward Russell, late Assistant-Surgeon in the 26th Mass. Regiment, to the rank of Surgeon in the 4th Louisiana Native Guards.

UNFORTUNATE. A valuable horse belonging to Galen Bowditch & Co., expressmen of this place, was taken quite ill on Saturday morning last, and died in a few hours. Several other horses were attacked in a similar manner from some cause unknown, but we are happy to say have recovered.

PORT HUDSON. The following dispatch has been received by Gen. Halleck from Gen. Banks: "The Mississippi river is now opened. I have the honor to inform you that the garrison of Port Hudson surrendered this afternoon, July 8. We shall take formal possession at 7 o'clock in the morning."

THE RIOTS. The late riots in Boston and New York have been quelled. The draft is to be resumed in New York as soon as order is restored. Gen. Dix has been ordered there.

From a Quincy Boy:
COMPANY H, 11TH MASS. REG'T.

Camp before Gettysburg, July 3d, 1863.
BROTHER FREDERICK:—As I have a little time, I take this opportunity to write to you the particulars of our long march—some two hundred miles.

We left camp near Falmouth, on the 11th of June, and marched until ten at night. The next day we went twenty-eight miles to Beverly Ford; staid there until next night, then marched all night, and reached Catlett's Station; stopped there two days then marched farewell to college, and still other walls are rising to accommodate the increasing number of pilgrims to this ancient shrine. The frost of two hundred and twenty-five winters have not, with our beloved Mother, quenched her zeal in the cause of good letters, nor chilled her affection towards the humblest of her children. More than ten thousand have sent forth into the world, not a half of whom are now living. Forty-four have recently laid their lives on the altar of their country, and others now are falling on the gory plain, and pining away in hospital wards. Their names were spoken with gratitude and praise at our recent gathering, and scores, nay hundreds, are ready to follow in the same noble path of self-devotion. The last stanza of a hymn, circulated at Commencement dinner, reads thus:

"Look back no more! our time has come my Brothers." In Fate's high roll our names are written too; We fill the mournful gaps left bare by others. The ranks where Fear has never broken thro'—Look, ancient walls, upon our stern election! Keep, echoes dear, remembrance of our breath! And gentle eyes and hearts of pure affection! Light us, resolved to Victory or Death."

We had to hurry the next morning to catch the Regiment, which we did at Middleton. As we came through the town, the inhabitants turned out and treated us to water, milk, bread, cakes and pies. There were a lot of pretty girls, and they sung songs to cheer us on our way.

The troops are all lying in line of battle; the pickets are skirmishing a little. We shall have warm work here soon. There was a little fight here yesterday, the result I do not know.

Sunday July 5th.

We have had hot work, truly. About 2 o'clock the rebels came out and attacked us. We had it, side by side, until about 5 o'clock in the afternoon, when we drove them back and held the field all night. Our Regiment suffered severely. It lost one Major, two Captains, four Lieutenants and 144 privates. Our Company lost fourteen men out of twenty—one half was killed, none missing.

General Sickles was wounded and has had his leg amputated.

To-day all is quiet, the rebels have fell back. We had a glorious Fourth.

This is all at this time.

Yours, truly,

JOHN Q. BENT.

THE DRAFT. The Providence Post says that the drafted men in the Third and Fourth Wards of that city, reported at the rendezvous, on Tuesday. Of 353 men ordered to report only 114 were before the Enrollment Board, for want of time. Of these 114 drafted men, but one was enlisted; 76 were exempted for various causes; 32 furnished substitutes, and 5 paid the $300 commutation. Of the exempted, 44 were physical inability.

The Boston Traveller understands that Dr. H. I. Bowditch, the examining surgeon of the Fourth District on Tuesday examined about eighty persons, of which four passed muster, three paid the $300, and seventy were exempted.

In the Third District on Tuesday, ten drafted men paid the $300, three presented acceptable substitutes, and seventy-four were exempted in consequence of physical disability, absence, &c.

A CHANGE. In consequence of the difficulty which will be experienced in keeping the drafted men in camp, Gen. Devens urges upon Government that the rendezvous be established on one of the islands of Boston Harbor, instead of Springfield. No preparations have yet been made at the latter place for feeding and quartering the men.

SKEDADDLED. Thousands of men, in the cities and manufacturing towns throughout the free States, have fled from their homes to avoid the draft. Some have gone to Europe, some to Canada, and others are scattered over the land. Great difficulty will be had in gathering the drafted men. Indeed, if 1,400,000 volunteers are not able to suppress a rebellion, it may be questionable whether any number of men forced into the army will be likely to accomplish the job. We can hardly believe that drafted men will make good soldiers. But the Government has resolved to try the experiment, which are ready to send off before another week draws to a close.

GRACE SALVE. This valuable compound for the cure of burns, scalds, sores, etc., is becoming more and more popular every day. It is but a few years since this Salve was first placed before the public, although it has been used for centuries, always with much favor. We will in a few weeks give our readers an extended history of this valuable article so that they may be better acquainted with that which should interest everybody.

DECISION. It is stated that by a decision of the Provost Marshal General of the United States the District Provost Marshals are required to publish the names of those who are exempted, with the cause of such exemption, except where, in the opinion of the Marshal, such cause is not proper to publish.

MICHIGAN TAR. The manufacture of tar from the pines of Michigan was begun last fall by a party of Norwegians, who have settled at Grand Traverse, and propose to enter extensively into the business. Another party have since then entered into the same business at Sable River.

PEDESTRIAN. Rev. Mr. Weaver, of Lawrence, and Rev. Mr. Skinner, of Gloucester, propose walking to the White Mountains, starting on Monday next. Says the Gloucester Telegraph.

Commencement at Cambridge.

Gracefully nodded the ancient elms their welcome as we entered once more the old college grounds, a dozen years ago our home. Glad we were, indeed, once more to welcome friend and classmate in these hallowed shades. But how changed are many of the surroundings! The Horse-car, neat and spacious, brings us hither, instead of the old, long, lumbering Cambridge omnibus. More than one magnificent edifice, too, have arisen within these classic precincts, since we bade farewell to college, and still other walls are rising to accommodate the increasing number of pilgrims to this ancient shrine. The frost of two hundred and twenty-five winters have not, with our beloved Mother, quenched her zeal in the cause of good letters, nor chilled her affection towards the humblest of her children.

The Providence Journal thinks that dealers in old iron will naturally be attracted to Vicksburg, as there are 11,500 exploded shells lying round there just now.

Emigration from Europe to Kansas this season is largely on the increase. The steamer United Kingdom arrived at Quebec June 27th with five hundred and forty two passengers, mostly Scotch. There were a few Irish and 80 Norwegians.

In Providence, several colored men were among those drafted.

The passenger cars on the Albany and Susquehanna Railroad, now building, are each to have an especial apartment for light baggage, a feature which will, no doubt, prove highly popular with travellers.

There were lately concentrated at one point on the Pennsylvania railroad not less than twelve miles of locomotives, passenger and freight cars.

Gold was at a premium of 41 1/2 per cent. in London from November, 1812, to March, 1813, five months, strictly counted—and the suspension of specie payments lasted from 1793 till 1819—just a quarter of a century. So don't make any faces at us Johnny.

The Comanche is built on the Monitor principle, with many improvements. She is to be 200 feet long, 46 feet beam, 11 feet 10 inches deep, and will carry a heavy armament.

SHIPMENT OF AN IRON-CLAD TO CALIFORNIA. A new and very considerable feat in naval construction has recently been accomplished at Jersey City, viz: the building of a complete iron-clad war steamer on the Ericsson principle, and the subsequent separation of the vessel and shipping her pieces to California. The name of the new iron-clad is the "Comanche," and she is destined for the Mare Island Navy Yard, where she will again be set up, her guns mounted, her papers filled, and the vessel duly sent into service, like any other ship. The Comanche is built on the Monitor principle, with many improvements. She is to be 200 feet long, 46 feet beam, 11 feet 10 inches deep, and will carry a heavy armament.

THE GOOD SHEPHERD. We would call the attention of our citizens to the notice in another column, of the Ladies' Aid Association. Their wants at the present time are many, and all are invited to lend a little aid immediately; particularly those who have a few leisure moments. There are many articles that need completion, which we hope to hear are ready to send off before another week draws to a close.

RACES CELEBRATED SALVE.

SURE RELIEF FOR THE SUFFERER.

This Salve is a vegetable preparation, invented in the 17th century, by Dr. Wm. Grace, surgeon in King James's army. Through its agency he cured thousands of most serious sores and wounds that baffled the skill of the most eminent physicians of his day, and was regarded by all who knew him as a public benefactor.

Grace's Celebrated Salve cures Burns.

Grace's Celebrated Salve cures Scalds.

Grace's Celebrated Salve cures Flesh Wounds.

Grace's Celebrated Salve cures Corns.

Grace's Celebrated Salve cures Feces.

Grace's Celebrated Salve cures Frozen Limbs.

Grace's Celebrated Salve cures Wens.

Grace's Celebrated Salve cures Callous.

Grace's Celebrated Salve cures Chilblains.

Grace's Celebrated Salve cures Brest.

Grace's Celebrated Salve cures Sores.

Grace's Celebrated Salve cures Lips.

Grace's Celebrated Salve cures Erysipelas Sores.

Grace's Celebrated Salve cures Abscesses.

Grace's Celebrated Salve cures Ulcers.

Grace's Celebrated Salve cures Chapped Hands.

Grace's Celebrated Salve cures Ringworms.

And from Sores and Wounds of the most serious nature down to a common Pimple. It eradicates Pimples from the Face, and removes Skin Cancer.

The above price is before the public can claim a discount. The Salve in prompt and energetic action for the speedy cure of external diseases, as those who have tried its virtues testify.

Soldiers, Sailors, and Fishermen, will find this their best friend.

It has none of the irritating, heating properties of other remedies, but cools, cleanses, and heals the most serious Sores and Wounds. Every family, and especially those having children, should keep a box on hand in case of accident, for it will save them much trouble, suffering, and money. All it wants is a fair trial to cure old and inveterate Sores.

MANUFACTURED BY

WILLIAM GRACE,
Amesbury, Mass. Price 25 cents, 50 cents, and $1 per box. A great saving made by taking the large size.

Each box has the above cut and the facsimile of the proprietor's signature attached to it, which is duly copy-righted.

Poetry.

Spring, Autumn and Eternity.
He hath made everything beautiful in his time.—ECCLESIASTICUS, 8: 11.

There are two things I dearly love,
In nature's circling year,
Which lift my spirit far above
The weight of earthly care;
They bring before my eager view
The brightness of a home,
Where all their loveliness is true,
Not changes ever come.

The early times of Spring's first hours,
Bring freshness to the heart;
They rouse the wearied spirit's powers.
And sweeter life impart;
Her dancing breezes gently woo
The blossoms of the rose,
All wet with sparkling, morning dew,
Their petals to enclose.

The weary sufferer of pain,
The bowed with care or grief,
Hail her returning once again,
With hopes of sweet relief;
Spring hours cannot fail to bring
Calm and consoling thought,
Her many voices ever sing
Joy to mortals brought.

But O, Autumn ! shall I dare
To paint thy gorgeous hues;
The softness of thy morning air;
Thine evening's peary dews;
The solemn grandeur of thy night,
Whose starry crown is set
With gems more radiantly bright,
Than earthly coronet?

The glory of thy sunset hour,
When all is calm and still,
Brings full conviction of the Power
That heaven and earth doth fill;
Oh ! who can gaze upon thy skies,
As twilight shades them o'er,
And not from earthly dreams arise,
Their Maker to adore ?

The wreath of fading summer flowers
Is yet upon thy brow,
But all the mirth of summer hours
Is changed to sadness now,
And ye upon thy dying head,
A solemn beauty lies,
More glorious than the riches spread
'Neath summer's glowing skies.

Ever, O Autumn ! shall thou be
To us, an emblem meet,
Of spirits sinking peacefully
To slumber calm and sweet;
Though thy delights not long may last,
Yet ours shall still increase;
They reign so soon forever past,
But ours shall never cease.

Ah ! not like thee shall pass away
The Christian's hope and joy;
We look for an eternal day,
And bliss without alloy—
For glories hide from mortal sight,
Revealed in realms above—
For faultless crowns of heavenly light,
And perfectness of love.

To Parents.

Parents ! if your tender offspring
You would lead in ways of truth,
Shielding them from the temptations
Which surround the paths of youth—
Count as vain your time-worn maxims;
And, to make your teachings sure,
Guide them not alone by precept,
But example, just and pure;
For, to shelter from the tempests
Sin's dark clouds would cast round each
Tender flower of your protection,
You must practice what you preach.

Anecdotes.

A ten-year-old, who, though ungovernable, calls his father governor, asked his eldest sister:
Is the gov'r up stairs, Maria ?
If you mean father—yes.

Well, then, tell him if he wants to speak to me about staying out late of a night, he had better come down and do so now, as I have an appointment at ten o'clock to take the two Miss Sparkles : Be lively, there's a good girl !

A witty clergyman had been lecturing one evening in a country village on the subject of temperance, and as usual, after the lecture, the pledge was passed round for signatures.

Pass it along that way, said the lecturer, pointing toward a gang of bloated red nosed losers near the door. Pass it along—perhaps some of those gentlemen would like to join our cause.

We don't bite at a bare hook, gruffly muttered one of the runnies.

Well, replied the ready clergyman, I believe there is a kind of fish called suckers, that do not bite.

The following naive lover's promise was offered as an irresistible temptation to a filially-given inamorato: I like you, sighed the girl to her suitor, but I can't leave home. I am a widow's only darling; no husband can equal my parent in kindness.

She is kind, pleaded the worder—but be my wife—we will live together, and see if I don't beat your mother !

I say, neighbor Hodge, what are you fencing up that pasture for? Forty acres of it would starve a cow !

Right, replied Hodge, and I'm fencing it up to keep the cows out.

THE peculiar taint of infection which we call SCORFOLK lurks in the constitutions of multitudes of men. It either produces or is produced by an enfeebled, vitiated state of the blood, wherein that fluid becomes incompetent to sustain the vital force in their vigorous action, and leaves the system to fall into disorder and decay. The scrofulous contamination is variously caused by mercurial ointments, low living, disordered digestion from unhealthy food, impure air, filth and filthy habits, the depressing vices, and, above all, by venereal infection. Whatever be its origin, it is hereditary in the constitution, descending from parents to children unto the third and fourth generation; indeed, it seems to be the end of Him who says, "I will visit the iniquities of the fathers upon their children." The disease which originates take various names, according to the organs it attacks. In the lungs, Scrofula, or consumption; in the liver, consumption; in the glands, swellings which appear and become ulcerous sores; in the stomach and bowels, derangements which produce indigestion, dyspepsia, and liver complaints; on the skin, eruptive and cutaneous fevers. These all having the same origin, require the same remedy, viz, purification and invigoration of the blood. Purify the blood, and these dangerous distempers leave you. With feeble, foul, or corrupted blood, you cannot have health; with that "life of the flesh" healthy, you cannot have scrofulous disease.

Ayer's Sarsaparilla

is compounded from the most effectual antiseptics that medical science has discovered for this afflicting distemper, and for the cure of the disorders it entails. That it is far superior to any other remedy yet devised, is known by all who have given it a trial. That it does combine virtues truly extraordinary in their effect upon this class of complaints, is indisputably shown by the multitude of pale known and remarkable cures it has made of the following diseases: King's Evil or Glandular Swellings, Tumors, Erupcions, Pimpls, Blotches and Sores, Erysipelas, Rose or St. Anthony's Fire, Salt Rheum, Scald Head, Coughs from tuberculous deposits in the lungs, White Swellings, Debility, Drowsy, Neuralgia, Dyspepsia or Indigestion, Siphylis, and Siphilitic Infections, Mercurial Diseases, Female Weaknesses, and, indeed, the whole series of complaints that arise from impurity of the blood. Minute reports of individual cases may be found in AYER'S AMERICAN ALMANAC, which is furnished to the druggists for gratuitous distribution, wherein may be learned the directions for its use, and some of the remarkable cures which it has made when all other remedies had failed to afford relief. Those cases are purposely taken from all sections of the country, in order that every reader may have an opportunity to speak to him of his benefits from personal experience. Sarsaparilla depresses the vital energies, and thus leaves its victims far more subject to disease and its fatal results than are healthy constitutions. Hence it tends to shorten, and does greatly shorten, the average duration of human life. The vast importance of these considerations has led us to spend years in perfecting a remedy which is adequate to its cure. This we now offer to the public under the name of AYER'S SARSAPARILLA, although it composed of ingredients, some of which exceed the best Sarsaparilla in altered power. By this you may protect yourself from suffering and danger of these disorders. Purge out the foul corruptions that rot and fester in the blood; purge out the causes of disease, and vigorous health will follow. By its peculiar virtues this remedy stimulates the vital functions, and thus expels the distempers which lurk within the system or burst out on any part of it.

Now few people have been deceived by many compounds of Sarsaparilla that promised much and did nothing; but they will neither be deceived nor disappointed in this. Its virtues have been proven by abundant trial, and there remains no question of its surpassing excellence for the cure of the afflicting diseases it is intended to reach. Although under the same name, it is a very different medicine from any other which has been before the people, and is far more effectual than any other which has ever been available to them.

AYER'S

CHERRY PECTORAL,

The World's Great Remedy for Coughs, Colds, Incipient Consumption, and for the relief of Consumptive patients in advanced stages of the disease.

This has been so long used and so universally known, that we need do no more than assure the public that its quality is kept up to the best it ever has been, and that it may be relied on to do all it has ever done.

For the Patriot.

It Floats in Triumph.

BY F. M. ADLINGTON—WEYMOUTH.

Aloft it floats in triumph grand,
The flag our Fathers gave us;
And around it patriot millions stand,
To meet whoe'er may brave us.

The Southron vipers flash their teeth,
With Copperheads united,
Ere long our horses hoot beneath
Their rage shall be requited.

Let Louis lift a tyrant hand,
To touch our sacred banner,
And all that breathes on Freedom's land
Will spring to guard its honor.

Should England try her strength once more,
Our Country to disserve,
She'll open fresh a scarce heal'd sore,
To close no more forever.

No more upon the ocean wave,
Her pow'r would be recorded;

Britannia there would find a grave
Where once she proudly lorded.

The triumph voice of Liberty,
Would speak in tones of thunder;

The stripes and stars shall guard the sea
And ev'ry fester sunder.

Who'er on Freedom's sacred sod
Assails her holy Banner,

Contends against a righteous God—

Gaist Justice, Truth and Honor.

Miscellaneous.

Injustice.

Boys, said Uncle Isaac, coming back to the dining-room, where his nephews stood laying plans for going out fishing that day, I want the leaves taken off from the strawberry vines to-day. It's high time that the sunshine got to them. Now, boys, set to work with a will; and you shan't be the worse off when night comes; and next month you shall have as many bowls of berries and cream as you can put away.

Augustus and Robert Warren were cousins. The fathers of the boys resided in Boston. Uncle Isaac lived in one of the beautiful towns which we find strong like jewels on all the railroad routes, for miles about the city. The two boys were very fond of getting away from the long vistas of red brick houses, to the fresh crystal air, the joyous sunshine, and the green hills of the country, as every body is whose heart is not hard and whose vision is not seared to all true beauty.

Uncle Isaac Warren was a hearty, good-natured, kindly man, fond of his nephews, for he had no children of his own, and they were sure of a warm welcome and a "real good time" when they visited the pleasant gray cottage on the hill.

The boys were very unlike, however, in person and character. Augustus had light brown curls and blue eyes, which laughed underneath them, and Robert had dark hair and dark brown eyes to match it. Augustus was a merry, indolent, fun-loving boy. Robert was reserved, studious.

The boys received their Uncle's proposition with eagerness, and set to work among the beds with spirit. It was pleasant work with the sweet spring sunshine, the new golden wine of the year, flowing in bright currents all over the earth. The smell of the fresh springing grass had life and health in it, and the boys tore away the dark matting of last year's leaves and grasses from the beds, and found beneath it the tender sprouts of the strawberry plants, among which a little later would hang the great glowing berries.

And Robert Warren rose up, and the cloud had vanished from his face, and when he joined his Uncle and his cousin once more, the former said:

Why do you mind it so much, Robert Warren?

You did your work not merely for the pay, but because it was a pleasure to serve your Uncle—and you did it faithfully, diligently, well; and in that you ought to find your reward, and not to be vexing and fretting yourself because Augustus has got that which didn't belong to him. And if he was selfish enough to pocket the money and keep it, why, that is his look out, not yours. Just find peace and gladness in the thought that you've passed the morning doing your duty, and your own heart commands you, and that's more than Augustus can say, although he has the money and the credit which rightfully belonged to you.

Why my boy, how happy you look!

I feel so, sir, answered Robert.

Dear children, all of us, the old and the young, have in this world to bear our cross of injustice. It is a hard and cruel thing, but it has sweet and hidden uses. And happy are we if we learn to take this cross quietly and bear it bravely, knowing that if our hearts approve us, the neglect or condemnation of others cannot do us harm. We must expect to be blamed and wronged sometimes, to see others claim and receive our rights; and it is natural and proper that we should find indignation at these things, for God has implanted in all human souls a sense of justice deep as life itself.

But we can cultivate a spirit which will neutralize much of the sting and pain which a trespass on our rights so naturally inflicts; and we shall escape much suffering by resolving to do our duty, certain that God will approve of it, and thus our souls need not always be torn with petty, narrow, selfish feelings, with heart-burnings and aches, but can grow calm and sweet and strong. So be sure that you carry in your hearts the sweet consciousness of never inflicting injustice upon others, and when it falls upon you, may God help you in a right spirit to take and bear it.

So Augustus came back once more to his work, but in a very few minutes he proposed to Robert to have an interlude, during which they could go down to the pond and see if any fishes had risen to the surface.

Oh, no, said Robert, in his rapid, decided tone, let's keep to work here until we've got through. I want to finish the beds before dinner.

Yes, it is, answered Augustus, and then he lifted himself with a sort of weary air, and looked about and descended on the fence close at hand a beautiful golden robin.

Sh—sh, Robert, he whispered, I'm going to try to catch her; and he started off with swift, light steps, and he had approached within a few feet of the bird, when it flashed its golden wings and was gone.

So Augustus came back once more to his work, but in a very few minutes he proposed to Robert to have an interlude, during which they could go down to the pond and see if any fishes had risen to the surface.

Oh, no, said Robert, in his rapid, decided tone, let's keep to work here until we've got through. I want to finish the beds before dinner.

Augustus did not demur any farther than to suggest five minutes wouldn't make much difference any way, which argument, however, did not seem to impress Robert. The former was in a little while engrossed by his Uncle's hired man, who came down the road in the old wagon. Augustus stopped him.

A newly married couple riding in a carriage were overturned, whereupon a bystander said it was a shocking sight. "Yes," said Robert, "to see those just wedded 'fall out' so soon."

When one will not, two cannot quarrel.

When beggars cease to importune you, it is time to begin to think of purchasing new apparel. Some respect is due to the opinion of others.

What's the use of sticking at it so close? inquired Augustus, with a mingling of contempt and argument in his voice.

Because, when I work I want to work, and when I play I want to play. Father says you can't do two things well at once.

Well, then I'll do one—I'm going to play, said Augustus—and off he started.

In an hour he returned, in high spirits, and before he set to work, he gave Robert a glowing account of the ride he had had. Not long after this Augustus had a chase with the dog, and helped some boys to search for a stray cow; and when noon came, although the beds were finished, he had done less than a quarter of the work.

Well, boys, you've been smart. I didn't expect to see this, said Uncle Isaac, as he came along just after the boys had thrown themselves down under the tree. Uncle Isaac put his hand in his pocket; how much must I pay you for this day's work? he asked with a merry twinkle in his eyes.

Just what you think it's worth, the boys answered simultaneously.

Uncle Isaac drew from his pocket a half dollar and a quarter. That's all the change

I happen to have about me, he said. I don't know which deserves the larger pay, but I reckon it's about equal; so I'll just throw the coin into the grass yonder, and he who finds the piece wins it.

That's right; stick to it!

No, but honestly, somebody did steal it!

That's the talk; stick to it!

No, but confound it, there did somebody steal it.

That's it; stick to it!

D—! won't you believe anything? I say somebody did really, actually steal it.

That's it; stick to it; nobody will ever think you carried it into the house. Big thing on your neighbor, eh?

And that's all the satisfaction the fellow got.

Moral: look out who you go to for advice.

Colonel Paul Revere.

The death of Colonel Revere is at once a heavy affliction to his family and his friends, and a public calamity. Few men have enjoyed a larger share of the regard of those who have known them, and it is safe to say that of those who have gone to the war from Boston, no one was more valuable than he. His friends know too well the loss they have sustained in losing him to a public tribute to the many qualities that won for him their respect, their admiration, and their love.

Major Revere languished in prison of Massachusetts, and employed himself with energy and success in raising and disciplining that regiment. He marched with it to the field in the month of September of the same year. Drill and light picket duty occupied the following weeks, and Major Revere devoted much of his leisure time to acquainting himself with the topography of the country about his camp, and to laborious and patient observation of the position and works of the hostile forces on the further side of the Potowmack. Nature had bestowed upon him in a peculiar degree the faculty which is known as an "eye for country," and his tastes had led him frequently, in earlier years, to hunting grounds which border our northern lakes, and there he had made much progress in woodcraft. In his new position, he was always eager to extend his knowledge and turn it to account, and always studying to bring that all should know the military history of such a man, and to contribute to that end this sketch is written.

In the summer of 1861, he accepted the position of Major in the Twentieth Corps, of Massachusetts Volunteers, and employed himself with energy and success in raising and disciplining that regiment. He marched with it to the field in the month of September of the same year. Drill and light picket duty occupied the following weeks, and Major Revere devoted much of his leisure time to acquainting himself with the topography of the country about his camp, and to laborious and patient observation of the position and works of the hostile forces on the further side of the Potowmack. Nature had bestowed upon him in a peculiar degree the faculty which is known as an "eye for country," and his tastes had led him frequently, in earlier years, to hunting grounds which border our northern lakes, and there he had made much progress in woodcraft. In his new position, he was always eager to extend his knowledge and turn it to account, and always studying to bring that all should know the military history of such a man, and to contribute to that end this sketch is written.

His recovery from this wound was at first rapid; but afterwards he was attacked by rheumatic pains, which caused him cruel sufferings, and for a long time kept him from the field. As soon as he was fit to go back, and as many thought, before he was fit, he reported for duty again. His old chief, Gen. Sumner, who ever showed especial regard for him, was dead, and there was no place for him on the staff of the new Commander of the Corps. Under these circumstances, he was appointed to the command of his old regiment, and by the side of his companions in so many fights, on the 2d of July, 1863, he received the wound of which he died in two days after, when the country for which he had given his life was rejoicing over her dear-bought victory.

His life was honorable, his death was glorious; but he leaves us in deep sorrow for his loss. His tall and manly form is laid to rest in Mount Auburn, but the memory of his virtues remains.

As long as those who have known him shall be on earth, there will be a place in their hearts for the true friend, the gallant and conscient

Poetry.

For the Patriot.
The Curse.

BY WILLIE F. GILCHRIST.

Pale and wan a stranger came,
To the lofty castle gate,
Strove to enter in vain,
Silent sat in anxious wait;
Came the lord in satin dressed,
Spurned the stranger's humble plea,
What cared he for the oppressed,
Or the sight of misery?

Slowly rose the stranger then,
Raised his hand to Heaven above,
Called a curse on Lord De Reine,
Curse on all he e'er should love;
Walked he sadly down the dell,
Faint from hunger and with thirst,
While his heart with grief did swell,
Seemed its feters soon would burst.

Years had fled in endless change
Since the stranger walked the dell,
On the fair Isla a change,
As though fettered by a spell;
For the stranger's curse had come
On the castle, on the child,
Joy fled ever from that home,
Happiness no longer smiled.

She the only hope and pride
Of the haughty De Reine's mind,
Slowly lingered, sadly died,
Palsied, crippled, and struck blind;
Her form in the grave was laid,
And the haughty Lord De Reine
Walked the hall, for grief had crazed—
Reason fled from out his brain.

Brooklyn, May, 1863.

Ornaments for a Bride.

Around her head no jewels bind,
Symbols of pomp and pride;
Fresh flowers, through the hair entwined,
Befit so young a bride.

No diadem shall rear its weight
Above the child-like brow;
The future may bring robes of state,
But dress her simply now.

Load her with roses, whose sweet breath,
Like memories fond and pure,
Bequeath their fragrance, after death
Still cherish to endure.

Heart's-ease shall typify her lot;

Her love by pinks be told;

And she shall have forgot me-not,

With its true heart of gold.

Give her no pearls—for pearls are tears"—

To hang about her neck;

No gems betokening woes or fears,

Her youthful form to deck:

No opal with its changeful hue,

This is "misfortune's stone";

No sapphire, by whose depths of blue

"Repentance" is foreshown.

Our bride's flowers shall be dressed,

Which bodes no grief or sin;

As best besem a tranquil breast,

And loyal heart within.

And we will wish her joy's best wealth—

A life with blessings fraught;

But chief of all, the spirit's health,

To use them as she ought.

The Rain! Oh, the Rain!

We heard a dozen men complain,

When Thursday it began to rain;

Just as before when it was dry,

They mourned a drought with many a sigh,

And seemed most strangely to forget,

The Lord made water rather wet;

If all men's prayers were heard together,

The world would have the queerest weather:

"My mill stands still—Oh, Lord, give rain!"

"My hay is down—Oh, Lord, refrain!"

"My corn is parched!"—Ah, Susan's bonnet,

"Don't let a drop of water on it!"

"Oh, not to day! I am washing out!"

"Roll up, ye clouds! I go for trout!"

"The hen's come off—the brood is drowsed!"

"Ah, let it pour! my boat's aground!"

Auricotes.

Ps., observed a young urchin of tender years to his "fond parent," does the Lord know everything?

Yes, my son, replied the hopeful sire, but why do you ask that question?

Because our preacher when he prays is so long telling him everything, I thought he wasn't posted.

Will you give me them pennies now? said a bit ne'er-hobby to a little one, after giving him a severe thrashing.

No, I won't.

Then I'll give you another pounding.

Pound away; me and Dr. Franklin agrees.

Dr. Franklin says: Take care of the peace, and the pounds will take care of themselves.

Mister, how do you sell sugar to-day?

Only twenty cents a pound, sir.

Can't give it. I'll drink my coffee without sugar, and kiss my wife for sweetening.

Good day, sir. When you get tired of that kind of sweetening, please call again.

I will. He called the next day.

A widow once said to her daughter:

When you are of my age, it will be time enough to dream of a husband.

Yes, mamma, replied the thoughtless girl, for the second time.

The mother fainted.

THE QUINCY PATRIOT.

Saturday, August 1st, 1863.

Born to no Master, of no Sect are we."

THE CONSCRIPTS. Some twenty or more young men, who were drafted from this town, have been to Taunton the present week to get examined. From the verdict given by the examining physician, Quincy boys are more healthy than those in the neighboring towns, where about two-thirds get exempted. The following are the names of those that went to be examined, as far as we have been able to ascertain:

Those exempted—Jas. W. Rideout, W. Wm. Penniman, Jos. W. Lombard, John J. Ewell, Winslow Burrell, Asa W. Felts, — Reed, George Beard, Adoniram Cain, Frederick Hardwick, Henry S. Abbott, Michael Leahy, Michael Cook,

Those that passed—Isaiah White, James E. Turrell, H. P. Wilbur, Quincy Turrell, J. Wesley Pratt, Z. H. Sidelinger, Michael O'Brien, Thomas W. Lincoln, Parson H. Prior, J. Alba Davis.

A PLEASANT SURPRISE. George W. Wright, of the 12th Mass. Regiment, after an absence of more than two years, returned to this his native town, on Wednesday last.

He came entirely by surprise, and was received with much joy and pleasure by his parents and friends. He went as a private in Company K, Col. Webster's Regiment, and has from time to time been promoted, till now he holds the office of Orderly Sergeant. Although he has been in many a battle and suffered the privations so common to a soldier's life, he has escaped all accidents and wounds of a serious nature, and enjoyed the best of health.

He is sent North with some dozen others of his Regiment to take charge of two hundred conscripts, now on Long Island. They are to join his Regiment, which numbers less than one hundred—and his Company has but eight men fit for duty—making a loss of more than nine-tenths, since they started so buoyant with their gallant Colonel, two years since.

THE RIP RAPS. There are no prisoners of any kind now confined at the Rip Raps. About one hundred and twenty-five laborers, however mostly negroes, are engaged upon the work. In all, fifty-two casemates are completed, and the traverse-irons are already laid for mounting the guns, which are to be 10-inch columbiads. The fort is to have three tiers of guns, and will be very formidable. The island is a mile in circumference, and it contains ten acres. It is nearly the shape of a chain link. The blocks of granite used in the construction of the walls are sent from our Quincy ledges. The island is artificial and has sunk three times.

NEW YORK VIA FALL RIVER. To such of our readers as have business in the Empire State, or travel for pleasure, we recommend this route as being the most pleasant particularly at this season of the year. The energy and promptness of President Holmes, and other officers employed on the route, are worthy of all praise. In reference to the steamers, all who have knowledge will agree that they are not to be surpassed in strength, safety and elegance, by any boats that ever plied between the two cities. The commanders of each of the boats on this line are experienced and well understand their calling. In this particular, we can mention Capt. Brown, of the Metropolis, who is not only a sailor in the good homely phrase, but a gentleman in every acceptance of the term. There, too, is Capt. Brayton, of the Empire, who knows every rope in the ship and aims not to be exceeded. He ranks high as a commander and is warmly complimented by all who takes passage with him.

ANOTHER REVENUE DECISION. One of the most interesting questions that have yet arisen in reference to the Income Tax has just been decided. The gist of the decision is that different branches of business are independent of each other, and that a loss, by fire or otherwise, sustained in one does not entitle the party to a deduction in the other. Thus, if A B C had an income of five thousand dollars, of which three thousand was from business and two thousand from the rent of houses, if the latter should be destroyed by fire, causing to him a loss of five thousand dollars over and above all insurance, he would still be liable to taxation on the three thousand dollars received from business. It is also settled that a person meeting with a heavy loss by fire cannot apply the income from the rest of his estate towards making up his loss, and deduct from the income of a subsequent year.

EXEMPTIONS ON FALSE TESTIMONY. The Worcester Spy says: "We understand that some of the drafted men who have secured exemption papers through the influence of testimony given under oath, by themselves and others, are likely to have their testimony reconsidered, on the ground that the testimony was false. In one case the testimony showed that the man was over thirty-five years old, while it is ascertained that his parents were married hardly thirty-seven years ago, and that he is their third child. In some other cases it appears not to be true, as the testimony has said, that the individuals to whom exemption papers were given were the only means of support for their parents or others. In any case where such testimony is found to be false, the exemption papers become void; and, what is more serious, those who gave the testimony are liable to prosecution for perjury. We are told that there will be a thorough investigation of all such cases. Those who leave their families in straitened circumstances that they shall not suffer during their absence. An assurance to this effect would enable hundreds of men to go much more cheerfully than they will otherwise do."

Boston Correspondence.

FOREIGN.

The latest comments of the English Press on American affairs are somewhat curious and significant. John Bull is no friend of the Union cause here; but the news of the battle of Gettysburg has produced intense excitement in England, and every other topic there seems thrown in the shade. General Meade is well spoken of; still they have doubts of our success, and probably would rejoice in our defeat. Each of the hostile parties here they consider as in a position in which complete defeat may be attended with very great calamity, and that the next mail may bring them news of a crushing Federal disaster.

Wonder if they have heard from Vicksburg, Port Hudson, or John Morgan's band? The truth is, that England is the foe to American liberty. The British Government has lately been informed that the United States will not permit the fitting out of vessels of war in their ports to prey like pirates upon our commerce, and that if it allowed to proceed we shall not hesitate to go into British ports and capture such vessels. We have reason to believe that soon all the principal ports from Virginia to Texas will be garrisoned with Union troops, and our whole navy will be at liberty for operations against a foreign foe.

ARMY NEWS.

Every thing is progressing well for the Union cause in the Southwest. The Mississippi is now open throughout its length for free navigation. The Mobilities expect an unwelcome visit soon from General Grant—he will probably visit their city at the back door. Matters at Charleston, (S. C.) do not look so well as was expected last week. Our repulse at Fort Wagner, with the loss of fifteen hundred men killed, wounded and taken prisoners, is a temporary misfortune, but Charleston must be captured, and with it will follow the taking of Savannah and Mobile. There is no prospect of an immediate battle between Generals Meade and Lee; but it must come before many weeks, and like all battles of the Potomac it will be sanguinary.

LOCALS.

The warm and sultry weather of the week has caused a large stampede of Bostonians into the country; business continues healthy but very light. Speculation is rather on the wane.

CONSCRIPTION.

As there appears to be conflicting opinions concerning Exemption from Draft, I subjoin the views of Judge Cadwalader of Philadelphia, on this matter, as follows:

"The enactment is that any person drafted and notified may furnish an acceptable substitute, or pay such sum, not exceeding three hundred dollars, as the Secretary may determine, for the procreation of such substitute, which sum shall be fixed at a uniform rate by a general order made at the time of ordering a Draft for any State or Territory." This rate may vary in different States or Territories, with local differences in the bounty money that will obtain a substitute. The compensation money may be fixed by the Secretary of War, at an amount sufficiently great to enable him to procure with it a recruit. When paid, it does not, like the penalties under the former system, pass into the Treasury, but becomes a fund at the disposal of the War Department; not for its general expenses, but for the specifically defined expenses of procuring a substitute for the exempt. The money is neither a penalty for non attendance, nor an arbitrary equivalent for the military service originally due, but such an absolute equivalent for a military substitute as will afford the sure means of obtaining one in place of the exempt."

ANOTHER REVENUE DECISION. One of the most interesting questions that have yet arisen in reference to the Income Tax has just been decided. The gist of the decision is that different branches of business are independent of each other, and that a loss, by fire or otherwise, sustained in one does not entitle the party to a deduction in the other. From a Quincy Boy

ARMY OF THE SOUTH,
PORT HUDSON, (La.) MAY, 1863.

DEAR W. I will now inform you of a little of our proceedings since we left Baton Rouge on the 12th of May. We left at 5 o'clock, A. M., and marched twenty-three miles, where we bivouacked that night; next day marched three miles farther on toward Port Hudson, and toward evening marched back to where we started from, and bivouacked there until the 21st, when General Auger came from Baton Rouge, and we had orders to get on our way by G. A. M. After two hours marching we halted—and the left wing of our Regiment deployed as skirmishers, under command of Major Whittlemore; we marched about half a mile when Company G took the left of the road and Company K the right; our Company, (F) took the road as a reserve. We marched a half mile, when we first saw the enemy's pickets; we drove them in before us for a half mile further, till we got to a certain bend in the road, where there was an opening for over a half a mile; at the end of this opening we could see some three hundred cavalry, and a little farther there was a line of infantry; we marched on exchanging shots with the pickets until we got into the opening, and then they opened on us with grape and cannister from their Artillery, which they had concealed; but no sooner did they fire than we dropped in the middle of the road, with our noses in the dust, and the shots went over us. Our Artillery was then ordered to the front, and the 18th New York came up with two of their pieces, and while turning their first piece round they broke the pole, and were ordered to the rear—all this time we were under the enemy's fire without any protection for half an hour or more. When the Boys came up again, they felt pretty shy of the enemy's heavy firing, and their officers had some difficulty in getting some of them to their posts—so our Company had to go and help man the big guns; after a while we got broke in and done remarkably well. After three hours heavy cannonading the enemy retreated and we followed up and took their position; they did not fire any for an hour, and then the ball opened again with both Artillery and Infantry, which lasted the rest of the day and until late in the evening, when they had to retreat with a heavy loss. Our Cavalry followed them up for several miles and took lots of prisoners. We laid down that night with the expectation of being roused up in a short time—but it was clear daylight next morning before I knew any thing; so that ball passed off with very little loss on our side. We lay at Port Hudson Plains for three days waiting for General Banks to come from another direction; on the 23d, we had word of his being within six miles of us, and our Cavalry met him, and then we had Port Hudson surrounded.

On Sunday afternoon, May 21st, the first gun was fired at Port Hudson—it was from the rear; they then kept firing for three days, getting range of the enemy's guns—they kept up a heavy fire while we were only preparing for them. On Wednesday, the 27th, the ball opened with a general bombardment of Artillery; there was one hundred and twenty-five shots per minute thrown, from G. A. M., till 6 P. M., which ceased without making any impression on the enemy's works.

The next morning we were ordered off three miles to the right and deployed as sharp shooters; we succeeded in getting within three hundred yards of the enemy's works, driving them out of their rifle pits, inside their main work, and kept them there all day; we concealed ourselves the best way we could behind trees and bushes, and kept the enemy pretty cool through the day, but to no effect. Our troops kept moving nearer and erecting batteries; some of our troops got quite close to their works but could not get over them. We have them surrounded so that they cannot get another mouthful of food or a single man more than they have. We were in front of their works three weeks under their fire, but they had the advantage of us, as they were behind their embankments, while we were in the bushes. To-morrow we expect to have a general bombardment and storm-pikes may be free from tolls.

A SALVE FOR EVERY SORE. When we consider the various diseases to which the skin is subject, it must be an object of importance to have at hand a sure and certain cure for most of them. For recent flesh-wounds, obstinate ulcers, troublesome felon, sore breast, ringworm and scald head, and chafings of the tender skin of infants, as well for wens and callous, "Grace's" Universal Salve is a certain and rapid remedy. Every father who goes into the woods should carry a box in his pocket, and every mother of a family should have a 25 cent box in the cupboard. See advertisement in another column.

A HISTORIC CIRCUMSTANCE. Cuthbert Bullitt, Esq., Collector of the port of New Orleans, raised from the front of his residence on the 4th ult., the identical flag which was left flying in the breeze during the illumination of the city in honor of the secession of Louisiana in 1861. This flag was the last that was seen of the Stars and Stripes in public, from that time until Admiral Farragut's arrival in April 1862; and this particular specimen has not been raised during the whole period since the first occasion referred to.

We are apt to be free with our jokes upon Doctors and their drugs, until sick and in need of their aid, then all alike how to the necessity of recourse to their hard-earned and often ill-reputed skill. The prevailing belief that physicians frown upon whatever deviates from their peculiar system and usages, arises from the fact that their better information leads them sooner to detect and discard the medical delusions and impositions that are thrust upon the community. That they are ready and prompt to adopt any really valuable invention is seen by the treatment Dr. J. C. Ayer's Chemical Remedies have received at their hands. They appreciate the value of these medicines because they know their composition, and where the man who ever heard a respectable physician either disapproves them or discourages their use? No profession or pursuit has done more for the human family than the medical profession. None is followed by nobler men or for nobler ends; nor is there one which better deserves the best thanks of mankind. Canton (N. Y.) Democratic.

Poetry.

Our Volunteer.

We gather round the twilight hearth,
Beneath the evening's pallid flame;
And softening every sound of mirth,
We murmur the beloved name.

We try to still the voice of care,
And cheerily say, "One year to-day
The dulcet drum and bugle blare
Allured our darling far away."

And stifling back the crowding tear,
We murmur, while our prayers ascend:
"Our Father's saved the boy a year—
He'll surely save him to the end."

His dog smooths sad, drooping ears
Along my hand, in mute regret;
His wistful eyes half read my fears—
"Old boy, you miss your master yet!"

The ringing voice, the eye of fire,
The little young form, the step of pride,
The once made all your heart's desire,
Old pet, they're sundered from you wide.

Your gay bark in the hunt is hushed—
A dearer meaning now you take,
As everything his hand has touched
Is cherished sacred for his sake.

Ah, does he think of home to-night,
And how we sit and talk of him—
Repeat his words with fond delight,
With voices low and eyelids dim?

We wonder when, with faces white,
Must be the next terrific fray;
And if the march began last night,
And where our army is to-day?

We listen to a dear young voice
Sing words of love to music wed;
So mournful, we may not rejoice—
He loved that song in summers fled.

It says: "O, take me home to die!"
What tender pains its rhythm yield;
Not thus, not thus, O, Lord! we cry,
Send back our boy from war's red field:

O, leave us not, lest we repine,
If this the "glory" Thou shalt mete;
To die for truth makes death divine,
To die for country, it is sweet!

We love Thee 'neath the heavy rod;
We trust Thee in the nation's might;
Our only help and hope is God,
That Thou at last will crown the right.

The paradise of spring-time hours
He loved. In all her azure space,
Mid all the summer pomp of flowers,
We'll yearn in vain to see his face.

In wasting march, in bloody fight,
All in love, yet half in fear,
We pray from morning until night,
That God will save Our Volunteer.

Signs of Prosperity.

Where spades grow bright, and idle swords grow dull;
Where jails are empty, and where bars are full;
Where church paths are with frequent feet out-worn,
Law courts are weedy, silent and forlorn;
Where doctors foot it, and where farmers ride;
Where age abounds, and youth is multiplied;
Where these signs are, they clearly indicate
A happy people, and well governed state.

Sympathy.

Fellow workers, toiling brother,
Come into the fields with me;
See! the sheaves support each other,
So with us it ought to be.
Lean upon me in your trouble,
And support me with your joy;
Friendship can in lifetime double,
Hated will two lives destroy.
Oh! remember, the Eternal
Lays us in one barn together,
When with his right hand supernal
Sheaves of life he stoops to gather.

Anecdotes.

An amusing thing occurred in the 24th Ohio. A few days since a soldier, passing to the lower part of the encampment saw two others from his company making a rude coffin. He inquired who it was for.

John Bunce, said the others.

Why, replied he, John Bunce is not dead yet. It is too bad to make a man's coffin when you don't know if he is going to die or not.

Don't you trouble yourself, replied the others; Dr. Cox told us to make his coffin, and I guess he knows what he give him.

An Irishman, in a great fright and haste, rushed into Abernethy's office, and exclaimed:

Be dad, the boy Tim has swallowed a rat!
Then, be dad, said the Doctor, tell the boy Tim to swallow a cat!

My turtle dove, I adore you! said a gay young fellow to his lady love.

Very well, said she, but I'm tired of this sort of billing and cooing. If you love me so much, why don't you take me to church and make me your ring-dove?

I think, said an old toper, commenting upon the habits of a young man who was fast making a beast of himself, when a man reaches a certain pint in drinkin' his ort to stop!

Well, I think, said old Beeswax, dryly, he ort to stop before he reaches a pint.

Dimness of Vision, Pain in the Back,

Universal Laziness of Flushing of the Body,

The Muscular System, Eruption of the Face,

Hot Hands, Pallid Contenance.

IMPOTENCY, FATUITY, EPILEPTIC FITS,

In one of which the patient may expire. Who can say that they are not frequently followed by those direful diseases?"

Insanity and Consumption.

Many are aware of the cause of their suffering, but none will confess. The records of the Insane Asylums and the melancholy deaths by Consumption, bear ample witness to the truth of the assertion. The constitution, once affected with Organic Weakness, requires the aid of medicine to strengthen and invigorate the system, which HELMBOLD'S EXTRACT BUCHU invariably does. A trial will convince the most skeptical.

The peculiar tint of infection which we call Scrofula lurks in the constitutions of multitudes of men. It either produces or is produced by an enfeebled, vitiated state of the blood, wherein that fluid becomes incompetent to sustain the vital forces in their vigorous action, and leaves the system to fall into disorder and decay. The scrofulous contamination is variously caused by mercurial disease, low living, disordered digestion from unhealthy food, impure air, filth and filthy habits, the depressing vices, and, above all, by the venereal infection. Whatever be its origin, it is hereditary in the constitution, descending from parents to children unto the third and fourth generation; indeed, it seems to be the rod of Him who says, "I will visit the iniquities of the fathers upon their children." The diseases which it originates take various names, according to the organs it attacks. In the lungs, Scrofula produces tubercles, and finally Consumption; in the glands, swellings which suppurate and become ulcerous sores; in the stomach and bowels, derangements which produce indigestion, dyspepsia, and liver complaints; on the skin, eruptive and cutaneous affections. These all having the same origin, require the same remedy, viz., purification and invigoration of the blood. Purify the blood, and these dangerous distempers leave you. With feble, foul, or corrupted blood, you cannot have health; with that "life of the flesh" healthy, you cannot have scrofulous disease.

is compounded from the most effectual antidotes that medical science has discovered for this afflicting distemper, and for the cure of the disorders it entails. That it is far superior to any other remedy yet devised, is known by all who have given it a trial. That it does combine virtues truly extraordinary in their effect upon this class of complaints, is indisputably proven by the great multitude of publicly known and remarkable cures it has made of the following diseases: King's Evil or Glandular Swellings, Tumors, Eruptions, Pimples, Blotches and Sores, Erysipelas, Rose or St. Anthony's Fire, Salt Rheum, Scalp Head, Coughs from tuberculous deposits in the lungs, White Swellings, Debility, Dropsey, Neuralgia, Dyspepsia or Indigestion, Syphilis and Syphilitic Infections, Mercurial Diseases, Female Weaknesses, and, indeed, the whole series of complaints that arise from impurity of the blood. Minute reports of individual cases may be found in AYER'S AMERICAN ALMANAC, which is furnished to the druggists for gratuitous distribution, wherein may be learned the directions for its use, and some of the remarkable cures which it has made when all other remedies have failed.

This was originally taken from all sources of the country, in order that every reader may have access to some one who can speak to him of its benefits from personal experience. Scrofula depresses the vital energies, and thus leaves its victims far more subject to disease and its fatal results than are healthy constitutions. Hence it tends to shorten, and does greatly shorten, the average duration of human life. The vast importance of these considerations has led us to spend years in perfecting a remedy which is now well known throughout the world to the public under the name of AYER'S SARASAPARILLA, although it is composed of ingredients, some of which exceed the best of Sarsaparilla in alternative power. By its aid you may protect yourself from the suffering and danger of these disorders. Purge out the foul corruptions that rot and fester in the body; purge out the cause of disease, and vigorous health will follow. By its purgative virtues this greatly stimulates the vital functions, and thus expels the distempers which lurk within the system or burst out on any part of it.

THE FIRST MARRIAGE. And Adam said: This is now bone of my bone and flesh of my flesh; she shall be called woman, because she was taken out of man. Therefore shall a man leave father and mother, and shall cleave unto his wife, and they shall be one, and the husband is that one!

CHOICE OF WORDS. When you doubt between two words, choose the plainest, the commonest, the most idiomatic. Eschew fine words as you would rouge; love simple ones as you would native roses on your cheeks.

"That we may all have what we like, simply by liking what we have!"

Discontent

"Let this plain truth those ingrate strike, Who still though blessed, new blessings crave,"

"That we may all have what we like,

Simply by liking what we have?"

Scrofus.

LAW OF HUSBANDRY. A Massachusetts Judge has decided that a husband may open his wife's letters, on the ground, so often and so tersely stated by Theophilus Parsons, of Cambridge, "that the husband and the wife are one, and the husband is that one."

IN CONSEQUENCE OF THIS ANXIOUS STATE of mind, he passed a sleepless night, and in the morning (Sunday) made the plea of indisposition an excuse for omitting his regular attendance at the meeting-house. At his polite yet particular request, Mr. Slocum accompanied the other members of the family to participate in the holy services of the day. As soon as they were gone, and himself alone in the house, the Brigadier proceeded to the execution of a plan concocted during the weary hours of the previous night. Before following him further, nevertheless, it is necessary that we should give our readers such a description of his fine mansion, as is indispensable to the completion of our tale. The house was one of those large, heavy-roofed buildings then common, with kitchen attached, out-houses, &c. The front door was sheltered by a heavy portico, supported by massive columns, resting on an extended doorstone, which, with the low door sill formed the only entrance to the spacious entry or hall, on the right of which was the "keeping-room," and beyond it the broad, wide stairs, whose low risings and gentle slope made the ascent to the upper rooms invitingly easy. On the left of the entry, and opposite to the keeping or sitting room, was another, opening into the capacious "bedroom," or parlor, splendidly furnished with richly carved solid furniture of those days; costly, heavy-framed, full-length mirror, an elegant Turkey carpet, bridle rug, resplendent with the tints of the eastern hemisphere, beautifully painted fire-screens, cumbrous, yet highly polished and ornate, &c., &c. In short it was to use the expressions of the female servant, or "help," as she was styled, "the grandest room in them parts," and was almost the sole care and pride of this good lady, who would not suffer it to be opened even, except on extraordinary occasions, such as a visit from some person of an adjacent parish (with whom their regularly installed pastor sometimes exchanged), or when she wished to exhibit its beauties to the admiring gaze of those residing at a distance, and even then, such visitors were not permitted to enter its privileged precincts, unless it was a "speck of dirt" on their feet.

There never was a great action which had not, nearly or remotely, a great thought for its ancestor.

A lady suggests that a small flag be nailed upon the door-post of every household in our land from which has gone forth one or more of its members to support and keep pure the honor of that flag.

Brasidas, the famous Lacedemonian general, caught a mouse: it bit him, and by that means, made its escape. O, Jupiter, said he, what creature so contemptible but may have its liberty, if it will only contend for it?

If a pair of oxen stand up against each other in walking, it is a sign they are not well matched. When lovers do so, it is a sign they want to be.

HARVARD.

THE QUINCY PATRIOT.

Saturday, August 8th, 1863.

Born to no Master, of no Sect are we."

THE SIXTH was pretty generally made a holiday here. The pleasant weather drew many from retirement, who had resolved to pass the day in a quiet way at home. Pleasure parties were off in every direction. The Beach attracted not a few—Old Nantasket never wore a more lively appearance; Quincy was very honorably represented there. The Beach for miles was lined with carriages, whose occupants had left their distant homes, to enjoy this enchanting scene—where sea-nymphs hold their banquets, and Old Ocean sings his dirge.

Our Catholic friends, however, in obedience to the request of the President, that all loyal subjects should observe it, as a day of National Thanksgiving for the manifest successes of our army in the field, gathered their families and their Sabbath Schools for an excursion to the beautiful Grove in Abington.

Quite a large and respectable party assembled at the Station with smiling faces and a prospect of a delightful day. At about a quarter past nine, the cry of all aboard was sounded, and the train moved merrily on.

Had the President honored the party with his presence on this joyous occasion, he could not have desired a more suitable manner in the observance of his National mandate—especially at this season of the year, when turkeys and plum puddings are by no means palatable.

The time was spent in dancing, swinging and sailing, and such other amusements as the men of the Old Country know best how to enjoy. The only thing to mar the enjoyment of the occasion, was the intrusion of quite a number of rowdies from Boston, who made their appearance on the ground by the 2 1-2 clock train. Up to this time every thing had passed off pleasantly; and the forbearance of the Committee passed many of their indignities by, during the afternoon. On the return home, when called upon by Conductor Fuller for their tickets, or fare, which they refused, they were put off the cars soon after leaving the Grove, but being a long train got on again, and were again put off at South Braintree. To carry out their evil disposed intentions, they commenced stoning the cars, breaking windows, seats, &c.

X. The Committee now took the matter in hand and prevented their getting on the train again. The rowdies then availed themselves of conveyance to Boston by the seven o'clock cars from South Braintree—little surmising a pill prepared by Conductor Fuller to place him in charge of another agent at Quincy Station and await their arrival in order to give them a formal introduction to Deputy Sheriff French. Here four of their number were arrested, taken to Dorchester for trial, on account of the absence of Justice Adams, examined—and fined eleven dollars each.

TOWN MEETING. The Town Meeting on Monday next promises to be a very interesting one. The Draft has fallen upon a number of our citizens who are unable to pay the fine, and if interrupted in their business, and left to the meagre pay of a soldier,—for the support of their families—their situation would claim the sympathies of the community. This is the object of the meeting.

THE PRESIDENT'S VISIT TO NEW ENGLAND. Mr. Lincoln contemplates making a short visit to the New England States during the present month if his official duties will permit. He is sadly in need of a little relaxation. He will avoid all of the fashionable places and proceed quietly to the White Mountains, where he will meet Mrs. Lincoln and her eldest son. The President will decline all receptions and ovations, but will go as a quiet citizen on a health-seeking tour. Mrs. Lincoln is now, and has been for some time, in Philadelphia, and the President therefore keeps Bachelor's Hall at the Soldiers' Home.

GREAT SALE. The large, rich and elegant stock of Goods, kept in stores 72 and 74 Tremont street, by Messrs. Cushman & Brooks, is to be sold for a short time at greatly reduced prices, as the firm intends moving about the first of next month. Those who visit the city, if with only a few dollars to spend, should call at this extensive establishment, and they will be surprised at the rare bargains offered by this well known firm.

SEE advertisement in another column.

CROPS AT THE WEST. The Milwaukee (Wisconsin) News says that from every county in the State most enthusiastic accounts of the growing crops are received. The promise is that the product of the year in the aggregate will be the greatest ever known in the State. The earth literally teems with agricultural wealth. The yield of grain will be immense, and a large increase in the amount of fruit is anticipated.

Augusta, Maine, is one of the largest (not most populous) cities in the world. According to the Kennebec Journal it contains sixty square miles. In some of the wards there is one vast burial ground.

Boston Correspondence.

Boston, Aug. 6, 1863.
LOCALS.

The weather has been sweltering and oppressive for many days through the week; the thermometer over ninety degrees in the shade. Business is affected; the best loans and discounts being obtained at five per cent.

The members of the Stone Temple Sunday School, and their friends held their annual Picnic at that place last week on Friday.

The day was all that could be desired; not a cloud to obscure its brightness, and not warm enough to be uncomfortable.

The proprietors of the Grove spare no pains to make every thing pleasant for their guests, and have acquired a well-deserved popularity.

The many attractions of the place were appreciated by our young friends who entered into the enjoyment of them with a perfect rush of enthusiasm; each one seemed determined to enjoy themselves "every time" and all the time.

Some were seen riding in a two-man-power-side-wheel-steamboat! others were rowing—others sailing; some were swinging, and some were bowling; and the former pupils of Mr. Rus B. Walker, and some of their friends, still practising their lessons in down right earnest.

Then at dinner, you should have seen the choice things which came from the many baskets and boxes, showing that we expected a day in the Grove would give us appreciative appetite.

When every body and his brother had been fully satisfied at the table, the pastimes were resumed, if possible with a greater zest than before.

It was curious to note the effect coming down in the sandstone had upon different persons. "What a sensation," exclaimed one. "It is nothing when you get used to it," said another. "It seems as if it would take my breath away," said a nervous one. A school boy thought it "right bully," while another came down with a prolonged O!

The end comes to the happiest day; and six o'clock came too soon for many of our young friends; and soon after came the return train; and without an accident to mar the perfect pleasure of the day, we all arrived home in safety—"glad we went," and hoping when next a Picnic goes abroad, "we may be there to see."

WESTERN METROPOLIS. This bark, formerly a large passenger steamer upon Lake Erie, is of 1,350 tons burthen, and can carry about 65,000 bushels of grain, or twice as much as any other vessel on the lake trade. Her length is 280 feet; breadth of beam 40 feet, and depth of hold 14 feet. She carries about 5,000 yards of canvas. She sailed recently on her first trip from Chicago to Buffalo, carrying 72,000 bushels of oats, and 1,000 barrels of pork—the largest cargo ever moved on the lakes.

Allow us to suggest, through your columns, to the managers of the Horse Rail Road, the expediency of running the cars on Sunday half-hourly, instead of hourly; this would accommodate large numbers of churchgoers, and save the necessity of doubling the teams on the hours, as they are now obliged to do, to carry

THEIR PATRONS.

For the Patriot
Men and Money.

To the Publisher of the Patriot:

When our Government requires aid from men to maintain its authority, is it right for the towns to restrict their obedience to the Federal, by offering to pay over money in any way or shape to prevent it from receiving the necessary support? As all are equally subject to the draft, is it not right for each Conscript to either put his own shoulder to the wheel, or help by his own sacrifice to pay another to do for him? Then, if his family are in need, after having made that sacrifice upon the altar of our common Country, we would readily acquiesce in having a vote from the town to help all, either drafted men's families or the families of Volunteers, who have gone forward to support and protect a government which gives to all a right to support and protect themselves.

Let us look before we leap, and consider, that if all Conscripts or their families are to be aided by the town, all Volunteers or their families should share the same privilege. A.

DIFFICULTIES ATTENDING THE DRAFT.—The freaks of the draft seem to have no end, for in the Island of Patience, Rhode Island, there are but three men, two of whom are called into the service of the country and the other is not eligible. On the Island of Prudence there are about a dozen, three of whom were taken, all from one house, including a farmer and two of his workmen.

Several one-armed men and one with a wooden leg were among the "miseries," and any quantity who are in the service and have been for a long time. The cripples are, perhaps, for the "invalid corps."

RECRUTS IN OLD REGIMENTS. We have been shown a letter from Gen. Schouler, Adjutant General of this State, in which reference to those who last summer and autumn enlisted in old regiments, he says:—

"An order was issued by the War Department to the effect that men who enlisted in the old regiments should be mustered out when the regiments were."

This will give an answer to many of the friends of those who thus enlisted who have entertained doubts upon the question.—Essex Statesman.

Summary of Intelligence.

ORIGINAL AND SELECTED.

To the Publisher of the Patriot:

There are very few people in Quincy that you tell any thing about Abington Grove, because many of them have been there and know what an enjoyable place it is.

The members of the Stone Temple Sunday School, and their friends held their annual Picnic at that place last week on Friday.

The day was all that could be desired; not a cloud to obscure its brightness, and not warm enough to be uncomfortable.

The proprietors of the Grove spare no pains to make every thing pleasant for their guests, and have acquired a well-deserved popularity.

The many attractions of the place were appreciated by our young friends who entered into the enjoyment of them with a perfect rush of enthusiasm; each one seemed determined to enjoy themselves "every time" and all the time.

Several paymasters have arrived at the head-quarters of the Army of the Potomac, and officers and troops attached to Gen. Mead's headquarters are receiving pay to 1st of July.

The grape crop of Ohio is said to promise more finely the present season than ever before.

The Farmington (Me.) Chronicle says: Take care of the dried apples. There will be no apples to dry next fall. The crop will be very near a total failure.

Of the 54 men from Nantucket and the Vineyard who have presented themselves to the Board of Enrollment, 31 have received exemption papers, two have paid their $300 and one has passed.

The list of names of prisoners paroled at Vicksburg filled a box about three feet long and two feet in width and breadth.

The Denver (Colorado) News of the 12th ult., says: "the largest freight train ever seen crossing the plain passed Cottonwood, a few days ago. It numbered five hundred wagons, freighted with cotton from Utah for the States.

The return in the Medical Director's office at Washington, show that 135,000 soldiers have been discharged from the army on Surgeons' certificates.

Only 5 out of 60 conscripts of Malden, Mass., have been accepted.

A catalogue of the coins belonging to Yale College, recently published, shows that the collection contains three thousand specimens belonging to all periods from 700 B. C. to the present year, and almost all the countries where coins are used.

Several German girls have gone to service in the harvest fields of Northern Illinois, where they receive $1 per day wages.

The national armory in Springfield, Mass., made, in the month of June, 25,000 rifled muskets.

Magnesia has been discovered on the west shore of Lake Memphremagog, Vermont.

A Boston man has invented a new pocket that he calls "thief proof."

No orders have been received to resume the draft in New York, all reports to the contrary notwithstanding.

There are over 561,000 pupils in the Sabbath schools of the State of New York.

Five thousand dollars have been appropriated by the town, for the benefit of the drafted men at Farmington, Conn.

Thomas Simms, the fugitive slave, has been drafted in Boston. He means to serve.

Watermelons bring $10 apiece in Richmondtown; pears, 25 to 50 cents; blackberries, $10 per bushel.

An anvil block, weighing 100 tons, was cast at Sheffield recently. This is by far the largest casting ever made in England.

Those who have proclaimed for a year past that "crinoline" is going out of fashion are mistaken. An English journal informs us that during the year 1862, 4,800,000 pounds weight of steel springs were devoted to this manufacture in France, and one half of that quantity in England.

The Commissioner of Pensions has estimated that if the war continues a year longer, and pensions are granted in the same proportion as during the past year, that the payment of these pensions will draw an annual sum of $7,000,000 from the treasury.

More factories are being erected and will soon go into operation at various points in Wisconsin. The wool interest of that State destined to be a great and important one in the future. The immense prairies produce, spontaneously, nourishment for thousands of flocks of sheep.

The citizens of Vicksburg claim to have learned how to dodge shells, and say that those fired from the mortars had become favorites with the people. Shots from Parrott guns were not so popular.

The largest mass of rolled iron exhibited in the London Exhibition of 1851, weighed one ton and a half, and this was considered extraordinary. In the exhibition of 1862, the heaviest specimen weighed no less than thirteen tons.

White man and black man had a talk in Baltimore. White told black, "This is your war, you ought to fight." Black retorted, "Nigger has nuffin' to do wid dis war. Two dogs fight over a bone. Did you ever see the bone fight?"

Scituate, R. I., pays every drafted man who goes into the service $8 per month.

COST OF CRUSHING THE REBELLION. Some of the papers are worrying themselves about the cost of the newly-called hundred thousand volunteers. Their services would be cheap at one hundred thousand millions of dollars if they can succeed in crushing rebellion and restoring peace to the country.

To talk about the expense of defending the government, is as mercenary and craven as the man who implored the footpad to take his life but spare his money. —Louisville Journal.

THE COMMERCE OF THE WORLD. The commerce of the world requires 3,600,000 of able-bodied men to be constantly traversing the sea; of this number, probably 7,500 die every year. The amount of property annually moved on the water is from fifteen hundred to two thousand millions of dollars; and the amount lost by the casualties of the sea averages twenty-five millions of dollars.

Raising Money to Aid Conscripts.

Gov. Coburn of Maine asks the opinion of the justices of the Supreme State Court upon the legal questions involved in the following interrogations:—

1. Has a city or a town any legal right to pledge its credit to raise money for the purpose of paying the commutations of such of its citizens as may be drafted into the service of the United States under the law aforesaid?

2. Has a city or town any legal right to raise money by taxation to provide commutations for such of its citizens as may thus be drafted?

The judges thus addressed have given an opinion adverse to the legality of such a proceeding.

The court conclude their opinion as follows:

Were a town to raise money to be distributed to favored individuals, the tax assessed for such a purpose could not for a moment be upheld. Still less can it be when the obvious and inevitable tendency of it would be to defeat the object for which the act of Congress before referred to was passed. That was an act to raise soldiers, not to raise money. Its preliminary and special purpose was to suppress insurrection by means of an armed force, to be raised in pursuance of its provisions. If one town may assess taxes to pay the commutation of those who may be drafted, so may all, and the government would be left without a soldier for its protection, and the nation surrendered into the power of those who are warring for its overthrow. By such a course the wealth and taxable property of the community would be diverted from the defense of the government, and the resources of the State would be turned to its destruction, by depriving it of the means necessary to its preservation.

We therefore answer each of the interrogations in the negative.

WEEKS &

Poetry.

Lines on Woman:
To be read alternately, or as they are written,
as it may suit the taste or sentiments of the readers.

The bliss of him no tongue can tell
Who in a woman doth confide;
Who with a woman scorns to dwell,
Unnumbered evils will betide.

They fill each leisurely day
With joy and innocent delight;
With cheerful gloom and misery
Are none possessed while in their sight.

They make the daily path of life
A pleasant journey strewed with flowers;
A dreary scene of painful strife
They quickly change with matchless powers.

Domestic joys will fast decay
Where female influence is unknown;
Wher'er a woman holds her sway
A man is in perfection shown.

She's never failing to display
Truth in its native loveliness;
A heart inclined to treachery
A woman never did possess.

That man true dignity will find
Who tries the matrimonial state;
Who pours contempt on womankind
Will mourn his folly when too late.

Dirge for a Soldier.

Closes his eyes; his work is done!
What to him is friend or foeman,
Rise of moon or set of sun,
Hand of man or kiss of woman?

Lay him low, lay him low,
In the clover or the snow!
What cares he? he cannot know:
Lay him low!

As man may, he fought his fight,
Proved his truth by his endeavor;
Let him sleep, in solemn night,
Sleep forever and forever.

Lay him low, lay him low,
In the clover or the snow!

What cares he? he cannot know:
Lay him low!

Fold him in his country's stars,
Roll the drum and fire the volley!
What to him are all our wars,
What but death mocking folly?

Lay him low, lay him low,
In the clover or the snow!

What cares he? he cannot know:
Lay him low!

Leave him to God's watching eye,
Trust him to the hand that made him.
Mortal love weeps idly by;

God alone has power to aid him.
Lay him low, lay him low,
In the clover or the snow!

What cares he? he cannot know:
Lay him low!

Home is where there's One to Love Us.

BY CHARLES SWAIN.

Home is not merely four square walls,
Though with pictures hung and gilded;

Home is where affection calls,

Filled with shrines the heart hath builded!

Home!—go watch the faithful dove

Sailing 'neath the heaven above us—

Home is where there's one to love!

Home is where there's one to love us.

None to welcome—none to meet us?

Home is sweet—and only sweet!

Where there's one we love to meet us.

Anecdotes.

Why, you rascal, said Radcliffe, the great physician, to a paver who dunned him, do you pretend to be paid for such a piece of work? Why, you have spoiled my pavement, and then covered it over with earth to hide your bad work.

Doctor, said the paver, mine is not the only bad work the earth hides.

You are a wit, said Radcliffe. You must be poor; come in, and you shall be paid.

A lady who had boasted highly at a dinner party of the good manners of her little darling, addressed him thus:

Charlie, my dear, won't you have some beans?

No, was the ill-mannered reply of the petulant cherub.

No! exclaimed the astonished mother. No what?

No beans, said the child.

As two elephants belonging to the menagerie were passing through Detroit recently, a little boy, who then caught sight of them for the first time, ran in to his mother in a high state of excitement, exclaiming:

Oh! Ma, Ma! there's two great big pigs going by, bigger than horses, with tails before and behind.

An illiterate farmer, wishing to enter some animals at an agricultural exhibition, wrote to the secretary, as follows:

Also enter me for the best jackass. I am sure of taking the premium.

A man carrying a cradle was asked by a pretty miss, rather archly, if last was not one of the fruits of matrimony?

Oh, no, said he, this is only a fruit basket.

Ayer's
ARSAPARILLA

THE WORLD'S GREAT REMEDY

CROCULUM AND SCROFULOSIS DISEASES.

From Envoy Extra, a well-known merchant of Oxford, Maine.

I have sold large quantities of your SARSAPARILLA, and am full satisfaction to those who took it. As fast as our people try it, they agree there has been no medicine like it before in our community.

Erupsions, Pimples, Blotches, Pustules, Jaundise, Sores, and all Diseases of the Skin.

From Rev. R. Stretton, Bristol, England.

I only do my duty to the public in advertising the great value of your SARSAPARILLA. My daughter, aged ten, had an afflicting humor in her ears, nose, and hair for years, which we were unable to remove, until we used your SARSAPARILLA. She has well now, many months.

Mrs. Jane E. Rice, a well-known and much-esteemed lady of Dennisville, Cape May Co., N. J.

"My daughter has had for several years with a most vexing humor, which was very troublesome, nothing afforded any relief until we tried your SARSAPARILLA, which soon completely cured her."

From Charles P. Gage, Esq., a manufacturer of snuff and papers in Nashua, N. H.

"I had for several years a very troublesome humor in my face, which greatly annoyed me, and distinguished me from all others. I tried almost everything a man could offer, but nothing relieved me, until I took your SARSAPARILLA. It immediately made my face white, and you may be right in saying that it is the best thing in the world for the skin. I am now well and sound as anybody's, and I am without any symptoms of the disease that I know of. I enjoy perfect health, and without a doubt owe it to your SARSAPARILLA."

Syphilis—General Debility—Purify the Blood.

From Dr. R. Gold, Savin, Houston St., N. Y.

Dr. Ayer—I seldom fail to receive "Erupsions and Scrofulosis" by the post, and have just now cured an attack of Mastoid Erupsion with it. No alternative we possess equals your SARSAPARILLA you have supplied to the profession, as also to the people."

From J. F. Johnston, Esq., a leading physician, Boston, Mass.—"Your SARSAPARILLA has done more for young persons on my right arm during which time I tried all the celebrated physicians I could reach, and took hundreds of dollars' worth of medicines. The ulcers were so bad that the coat became torn, and the disease over the arm must be amputated. I began taking your SARSAPARILLA. Took two bottles, and some of your PILLS. Together they have cured me. I am now as well and sound as anybody's. Being in a public place, my case is known to all, and excites the wonder of all."

Henry H. Morris, M. P. P., of Newcastle, C. W., a leading member of the Canadian Parliament.

"I have used your SARSAPARILLA in my family, for general debility, and for purifying the blood, with very beneficial results, and feel confidence in commanding it to the afflicted."

St. Anthony's Fire, Rose, Salt Rheum, Sarsaparilla, Sarsaparilla, Rose Eyes.

From Harry Sibley, Esq., the editor of the "Tannerian Democrat," Pennsylvania.

"Our only child, about three years of age, was attacked by pimples on his forehead. They rapidly spread until they formed a longitudinal ulcer, which actually blinded his eyes for some days. A skillful physician applied nitrate of silver and other remedies, without any apparent effect. For fifteen days we guarded him lest with them he would be amputated. I began taking your SARSAPARILLA. Took two bottles, and some of your PILLS. Together they have cured me. The child's eyesashes, which had come out, grew again, and he is now as healthy and fair as any other. The whole neighborhood predicted that the child must die."

Syphilis and Mercurial Disease.

From Dr. Hiram Post, of St. Louis, Missouri.

"I find your SARSAPARILLA an excellent remedy for the secondary symptoms of Syphilis, and for syphilitic disease than any other we possess. The profession are indebted to you for some of the best medicines we have."

From A. J. Fisher, M. D., an eminent physician of Lowell, Mass., who is a prominent member of the Legislature of Massachusetts.

"Dr. Ayer—My dear Sir: I have found your SARSAPARILLA an excellent remedy for Syphilis, both of the primary and secondary stages, and especially in some cases that were too obstinate to yield to other remedies. I do not know what we can employ with more certainty of success, where a powerfully active and energetic agent is wanted."

Mr. Chas. S. Van Lenn, of New Brunswick, N. J., had dreadful ulcers on his legs, caused by the abuse of mercury, or mercurial disease, which grew more and more aggravated for years, in spite of every treatment that could be applied, until the persevering use of Ayer's SARSAPARILLA relieved him. Few cases can be found more inveterate and obstinate than this, and it took several doses daily to cure him."

Lecorchorosis, White Female Weakness, are generally produced by internal Serofulous Ulceration, and are often cured by the singular effects of your SARSAPARILLA. Some cases require, however, in aid of the SARSAPARILLA, the skillful application of local remedies.

From the skillful and widely-esteemed Dr.

John Merrill, of Cincinnati.

"I have found your SARSAPARILLA an excellent alternative in diseases of females. Many cases of irregularity, Lecorchorosis, Internal Ulceration, and similar diseases, which were incurable by other means, have yielded to it, and there are few that do not, when it is properly aided by local treatment."

A lady, unwillingly, gave the publication of her name, writes:

"My daughter was long ago cured of a very debilitating Lecorchorosis of long standing, by two bottles of your SARSAPARILLA."

Rheumatism, Gout, Rheumatic Complaint, Dyspepsia, Heart Disease, Neuralgia, when caused by Serofulosis in the system, are rapidly cured by this Ext. SARSAPARILLA."

AYER'S

CATHARTIC PILLS

possess so many advantages over the other purgatives in the market, and their superior virtues are so universally known, that we need not do more than to assure the public their quality is maintained equal to the best it ever has been, and that they may be depended on to do all that they have ever done."

Lines Addressed to Mr. Geo. F. Story.

Farewell! there is a heartfelt prayer

Breathed in our parting words, farewell;

Their words are powerless to declare

All that our friendly hearts would tell.

The wish that Fortune may be kind,

And cast her treasures in your way,

That you may health and pleasure find—

In that farewell we fondly pray.

And while reluctantly we part,

We hope to be remembered yet;

And hold a place within the heart

Of him we never can forget.

That cheering voice and pleasant smile,

Impressed upon our memory still,

Will help our sorrow to beguile,

And all their kind intent fulfil.

From parents, sisters, brother, friends,

And happy home you take your way,

But wheresoe'er your journey tends,

May Virtue's guardian be your stay—

And bring you to the arms again

Of those who sorrowing from you part;

And may his prayer be not in vain,

Who holds you treasured in his heart.

My Daughter Minnie.

A few years ago—well, it is not less than forty—my little home flock was led in the manner of years by my daughter Minnie—a pretty name, I always thought. Minnie was a good child, and being the first-born, was half maternal in her management of the later comers, even down to little "Pigeon," the latest and tiniest of them all. The picture of Minnie is just as fresh in my memory as though the forty years which have simmered and evaporated since had been weeks instead.

But it is a father's eye that looks over those years at Minnie, and the beauty may be half fancy—a sort of affectionate illusion. Those we love are transparent, you know; we who love them look through into the heart, and then imagine it is surface light of which we are thinking.

This much I know—Minnie was the best,

most affectionate, and wildest of daughters—

one of those spirited but industrious little creatures upon whose enterprise and tact the greatest and strongest of us will involuntarily be drawn.

Minnie shall I wait five or six breadths in this skirt? her mother would tell.

Looking up with just a little knitting of the forehead, after a moment's thought, Minnie would answer:

I think five will do mother; and five it was.

I can hear, even now, the voice of Minnie's mother; she has been gone twenty years,

dear heart! calling down from the top of the stairs.

Minnie! Say—Minnie!

What, Mother?

What shall we have for dinner to-day?

You are tired, mother; let us have a little ham and some eggs, with some peas from the garden, and bread.

That settled the bill of fare.

And so it was through the livelong day; for in all the domestic policy, Minnie, though only prime minister, possessed the regal power.

At this time—this forty years ago—I was,

of course, in the prime of life, and full of the cares and responsibilities which cluster and cling to one's manhood. I was largely

TOWN MEETING. A meeting of the voters of this town, was held on Monday last, at which Wm. B. Duggan, Esq., was chosen Moderator, and the following votes were passed:

Voted—That in addition to the amount of aid to be re-imburied by the State, aid shall be rendered by the town to the families or dependents of each person who has been drafted, who shall serve himself or by substitute, as a part of the quota of this town under the present draft, to the amount of three dollars per week for the term of one year, and that the same aid shall be rendered for the further term of one year to all such persons as shall continue in the service during that time.

Voted—That the Town Treasurer be authorized to borrow, under the direction of the Selectmen, such sums of money as may be required to furnish aid to the families or dependents of those persons who have been drafted, who serve themselves or by substitute.

Voted—To dissolve.

FIRE. On Sunday night last, about twelve o'clock, the barn of William Pray, on the Turnpike, above Liberty street, was discovered to be on fire—which was consumed, with a quantity of wood, farming utensils, etc. No insurance. As it stood on the opposite side of the road from the house—distant from any dwelling—and as no light was ever allowed about the premises, the supposition is that it was intentionally fired.

A SERIOUS AFFRAY. A company of boon companions met at a house of one of the party, in the West District, on Wednesday last, for a social time—and after exchanging congratulations, pledged in frequent libations, their reason lost its balance under the influence of bad liquor, and the friendly gathering broke up in a row. Hard words were exchanged—blows followed—and then a general stampede was made for the street, where stones were thrown, one of which struck Mr. Michael Dunn, a laborer in the stone quarries, on the side of the head, inflicting a serious wound. It was thought at first, that it would cost him his life, but we learn since, that he is likely to recover.

HONOR TO THE BRAVE. We were much pleased in receiving a visit on Thursday, from two of the heroes of our army of the South—General Banks's Division—Sergeant William Parker, 3d, and private Charles H. Graham, of Company I, 38th Massachusetts Regiment.

These young veterans since they entered the service, have shared largely in the hardships and dangers of the campaign—having been constantly in active duty. They returned on a furlough—both being wounded in the late attack on Port Hudson—Mr. Parker by a rifle ball in the left shoulder and Mr. Graham by a severe fracture of the right arm. They are now slowly recovering, although it is feared Mr. G. may lose the use of his arm. In other respects they bear evidences of good health, and look remarkably well. Sergeant Parker informed us, that notwithstanding the debilitating effects of the climate at this season of the year upon Northern constitutions, aggravated by the trials and exposures incident to a soldier's life, he had never had a sick day; and if Providence favors his perfect restoration to health, he shall be willing to try his chances again on the old battle field. They leave here on Monday for the hospital at New Haven, Connecticut.

FREEDOM OF NEPONSET BRIDGE. We state upon good authority that this desirable event will be likely to occur on or about the 15th of September, proximo. It being understood that the sum of fifteen thousand dollars from tolls and liberal voluntary subscription has been realized. The apportioning this fund between the towns where the Neponset Bridge and the Weymouth and Braintree Turnpike lie, is left by statute with the County Commissioners, for the County of Bristol, who have given public notice that they will proceed to that duty on the 8th of September next. Quincy must be entitled to a large portion of this fund—the income of which is to be appropriated for the repairs and support of the bridge to the Draw on the line of Dorchester. In a very short time every avenue to your pleasant town will be free forever from any contribution by tolls. More especially is it a matter of congratulation from the fact, that but few towns in the Commonwealth, for fifty years past, have paid more tolls on three of her avenues than Quincy.

MORTALITY IN NEW YORK. The New York Post states that for the week ending on Tuesday there were nearly one thousand deaths in that city, being about two-thirds the average mortality of London, which city has three times the population of New York. Of the entire number, about five hundred were either caused or accelerated by the effects of the heat. Five hundred and eleven children died during the week, of whom four hundred and seventy-five were of foreign parentage.

PREPARING FOR STATE DEFENCE. Governor Andrew, of Massachusetts, has issued an order directing the organization of active militia for state defence. The force will consist of one hundred and thirty companies of infantry, twelve companies of cavalry and six batteries of artillery.

Boston Correspondence.

Boston, Aug. 13, 1863.

NEWS OF THE WEEK.

The outlines may be compressed as follows: The siege is progressing at Charleston, South Carolina, and the fall of that ill-fated city is inevitable. Our troops suffer severely by the intense heat there, producing much sickness. In the great Southwest the rebellion is dormant for the present. Indeed, says the Washington Star of Monday, "as for former period of the war our military affairs have been so prosperous as at the present time." A general feeling of despondency prevails throughout the Seceding States, looking at their cause as hopeless. There seems to be trouble between General Meade and the General in Command at Washington. It appears that General Meade wrote to General Halleck asking permission to attack the army of Lee. The letter was shown to the President, who remarked, "if the army was not sufficiently strong to warrant an attack on the enemy at Williamsburg, how can it be strong enough now. While I have no disposition to interfere with the operations of the army or the plans of the Commanding General, I must say that such a movement will be contrary to my wishes and against my judgment." This allusion to Williamsburg, where Lee unmercifully slipped from General Meade's fingers, greatly disturbed the equanimity of the successor of General Hooker, and led to his hasty resignation. But next week we may have another version of the story.

THE PRESIDENT AND GOVERNOR SEYMOUR.

Somewhat of a spicy correspondence has been going on the present week between these high officials, respecting the draft in New York. The Governor it seems wishes the draft suspended until the Conscription list in many of the districts of New York State are revised and the Supreme Court heard from on the Constitutionality of the Conscription Law. The President in reply does not object to abide a decision of the United States Supreme Court—indeed, he wishes it, but cannot consent to lose the time while it is obtained. The draft must immediately be enforced. We hope for the sake of maintaining the unity and free principles of our country that the general government will be maintained in every effort to suppress the rebellion. Our high opinion of Gov. Seymour warrants us in the belief that he will continue to be found true and faithful in every measure warranted by the Constitution to punish treason, whip the rebels, and remove the traitors.

This must be done, and the North if united, are the boys to do it.

THE RE-UNION.

There are hopeful signs that a majority of the people of North Carolina, Louisiana, Tennessee, and other rebellious States are desirous of returning to their legitimate spheres in the Union, to be placed on the same footing as before their secession. As our Constitution has not been altered since the civil war, the re-union must be based on the principles of the Federal Constitution; an instrument good and broad enough to settle our difficulties with the South—spread the olive branch of peace over the whole nation, and the Star Spangled Banner wave in triumph in all of the thirty-five States.

OTHER MATTERS.

The present heated state of the weather will be long remembered for great length, exerting quite bad influence on health, business and comfort. The weather gungers of the Smithsonian Institute at Washington, prophecy that the hot weather will continue much longer. We hope the predictions of those savants will prove untrue. Every body that can go, is running out of the city to avoid the oppressive atmosphere here.

DROWNED. Willie Flaherty, aged eight years, was drowned on Monday last in Roger's Pond, at the west part of the town. He with several other children went to bathe but accidentally got beyond his depth. His body was recovered.

OLD COLONY AND NEWPORT RAILROAD CO. A meeting of the stockholders of the Old Colony and Newport Railroad Company was held in Boston on the 5th inst., when the following named gentlemen were chosen directors: Alexander Holmes, of Kingston, Geo. A. Kettell, Charlestown, Benj. Finch, Newport, Francis B. Hayes, Boston, Minor Turrell, Weymouth, Uriel Crocker, Boston, Richard Borden, Fall River.

Mr. Holmes, in a statement relative to his connexion with the Old Colony Railroad, and of the prospects under the extension, said the road would be open to Newport in September, when the stockholders would have possession of property valued at four million of dollars which he believed would yield eight percent.

On motion of Mr. Finch, of Newport, the name of the united corporations was fixed as the "Old Colony and Newport Railroad Company."

PREPARING FOR STATE DEFENCE. Governor Andrew, of Massachusetts, has issued an order directing the organization of active militia for state defence. The force will consist of one hundred and thirty companies of infantry, twelve companies of cavalry and six batteries of artillery.

For the Patriot.

Maine Correspondence.

PARIS, MAINE, AUGUST 10, 1863.

To the Publisher of the Patriot:

I have been an interested spectator in a number of political gatherings since my stay in Maine. They have represented the extremes of both parties in this campaign, which now fairly opened. The first was a Convention at Bangor, which put in nomination Hon. Samuel Cony, of Augusta, for Governor in 1864. It was the largest assemblage of delegates ever held in this State. The platform the Convention adopted is broad and simple: "No frivolous or disorganizing opposition to the Government; the hearty support of its civil and military policy in the war now waging for the life of the Republic, without qualification or reservation."

A Convention of the Democracy was held at Portland last week, which nominated Hon. Bion Bradbury for Governor. The Convention was presided over by an old Quaker, who has been a "life-long-whig." He "cast about him," and could not find a safer refuge than the Democratic party—in which he is to devote his political energies—until he moves again. God save the Union.

The draft hit very equally among all classes in Litchfield, Conn. There were two Irishmen, two colored men, two merchants, two lawyers and one minister elected.

It is stated that a number of Treasury notes, altered from low to high denominations, are in circulation. Among these, two altered to fifties are the best calculated to deceive. A close inspection will enable nearly any one to detect the base character of any bill suspected.

Jeff. Davis has issued a proclamation appointing August 21st as a day of humiliation and prayer.

It is thought that a thousand men might be enlisted per day in New York if liberal bounties were offered.

Dismelters from the battle ground at Gettysburg have been forbidden during the month of August and September. The region round about the place is one vast burial ground.

They tell of flour in Vicksburg at $1500 and $2000 per barrel just before that little 4th of July affair.

A lady has been drafted in Lewiston, Maine. The enrolling officer, in visiting a boarding house, asked for a list of names of the boarders. One of them was Frances Parker, signed Frank Parker. Frank was accordingly enrolled, and is now drafted.

The number of deaths from sun-stroke, as officially reported for the last week in the city of New York was 154.

The late rains have improved the corn prospects in Southern and Southeastern Ohio. Some portions of Ohio are represented as being a perfect wilderness of corn.

Ashtabula is the banner town of the State so far in respect to the draft. Out of a quota of thirty-one she sent nineteen able bodied men, nearly two-thirds. Charlemont will offer her in the other direction. Out of twenty who were drafted, seventeen have been examined and not one accepted.

The Middleborough Gazette says that one of the singular incidents of the conscription in that vicinity, was the drawing of the two blind brothers, John and Joseph Hutton, of East Wareham.

It takes some beef to feed an army—35,000 bullocks were devoured by the Army of the Potomac during the interval of their march towards Fredericksburg under Burnside, and their return under Hooker.

A man died in Montreal last week from the effect of a bite of a small insect on the eyebrow. It is supposed that the insect came from putrid flesh.

Four children died suddenly in Fall River on Monday night of a disease said to resemble the cholera.

The payment for May and June sent to the different armories amount to $25,530,000.

A Confederate dollar bill is now worth in Dixie just nine and three-quarters cents. Out of the Confederacy it is perfectly worthless.

The Savannah Republican says that one day last week $100 was paid by an individual in that city for a twenty dollar gold piece.

A passenger of one of the Philadelphia city railroad cars sued the company for one cent, which the conductor had detained in default of making change. The plaintiff gained a verdict and the company paid the costs.

Summary of Intelligence.

ORIGINAL AND SELECTED.

The Abington Standard learns that at the recent town meeting in Hanover, it was voted that the town loan $300 to each drafted and excepted man. It was also voted to mortgage the town farm, town house, and school houses, to raise the money.

Newport, like Saratoga, appears likely to have a prosperous summer. A greater number of cottages have been rented this season than ever before—one real estate agent having rented one hundred and ten.

The New York Times estimates the sum which the government will receive as compensation money from drafted persons, at fifty millions of dollars.

The stock of the Old Colony and Fall River Railroad was sold in Boston this week at $141 per share, and that of the South Shore at $13.

The Chicago Journal of the 21st says that over three thousand cavalry horses have been purchased for the government and shipped from that city within the past ninety days.

A steamer load of conscripts and substitutes was sent from Long Island in Boston harbor, on Sunday—195 to be added to the 19th Mass. regiment, and about 190 to the 12th, 13th and 15th regiments respectively.

One thousand conscripts in Lancaster county, (Pa.) have paid $300 each for exemption.

The Maryland Heights are being fortified again, and heavy guns are being mounted on an elevation of 1000 feet above the river.

The month of July just passed will be a memorable one in the history of the war. In it twenty-eight contests occurred in various parts of the extensive area of the rebellion, in which the Union troops were uniformly successful. They captured more than 300 guns and 80,000 prisoners.

The election in Kentucky last week resulted in a Union majority of over 20,000. Loyal state officers and members of Congress are chosen.

Two more ships have been destroyed by the Alabama, and the crews landed at Rio Janeiro.

A pocket-book containing some $200, lost on board a train on the Old Colony road on Monday of last week, has, through the integrity of some of the employees of the line, aided by an advertisement in the Fall River News, been restored to its lawful owner, a person residing in Hudson, N. Y.

What You Think Now.
BY OLE CUFF.

Hah, ha ! you think de darkies run,
But do the gen'ral tell you so?
Hear what he say de darkies done—
No better soldier met de see.
When Hudson roar be thunder out,
On darkies unprotected head,
Den—den he prove be courage stout,
And dare die lie—de noble dead.
Dere where de white man bade em go,
Day fought like hero by his side;
Nor quail'd before dat desperate foe,
But in de ranks won died.

Will white man spurn de darkie now,
And call him nigger—coward—slave;
Hah, ha ! no matter, time will show,
What darkie am—de true and brave.
De bone and sinew of de land,
Redeem'd from slavery's with'ning blight,
De loyal and indus'trous hand,
Safeguards of liberty and right.

When Justice lifts de balance true,
And men dere prejudice forsake,
Den darkies merit come to view,
Den eby yoke but Jesus's break.

Oh hallelujah—come the day,
When Christ he peoples all will save;
When man can to his brother say,
He dwells no tyrant, lives no slave.

The Farmer.

Of all pursuits by man invented,
The farmer's the best contented;

His calling's good—his profits high,
And on his labor all rely.

Mechanics all by him are fed,
Of him the merchants seek their bread;

Our clothes from him must first arise

To deck the poor—to dress the wise—

We then by voice may justly state

The farmer's rank among the great.

All hail ! Ye farmers, young and old,

Push on your plow with courage bold;

Your wealth arises from your clod;

Your independence from your God.

If, then the plow supports the nation,

And men of rank in every station,

Let kings to farmers make a bow,

And every man procure a plow.

Lay him Down Gently.

Lay him down gently, this home is his last—
What to him are the sorrows and joys that have past !

He'll not wake to the bugle though it echo its breath,

For he now is enrolled in the army of Death.

Lay him down gently, as he sleeps on his bier,
Far away from his home and the friends he loved dear,

Far away from the land where those he loved well,

No kind heart to mourn him, his virtues to tell.

Lay him down gently, though no broken sighs
Bewail the sad fate of the stranger who dies ;

For his spirit had flown when no kind heart was near

To moist the parched lips with a sorrowful tear

Lay him down gently—though pulseless this hour,

The loss of his country have oft felt his power;
But the fatal shot came, and lie lay on the sod—

Gave his life to his country, his soul to his God.

Lay him down gently, and mark where he sleeps,

In the dark sombre shade where the green willow weeps ;

For he'll soon again slumber in undisturbed rest

Among the hearts whom he loved, and who loved him the best.

Auricots.

A fellow was one day boasting of his pedigree, when a wag who was present remarked, very sententiously, Ah ! I have no doubt, That reminds me of a remark made by Lord Bacon, that they who derive their worth from their ancestors resemble potatoes, the most valuable part of which is under ground.

Mamma, said an inquisitive little lady of some six summers, what makes the sea so hot in a storm ? Hot, my dear, what makes you think it is so hot ? Why, mamma, I have just been reading about the boiling waves.

A coxcomb, speaking of the transmigration of souls, said, In the time of Moses, I have no doubt I was the golden calf. Why, mamma, I have just replied a lady—time has robbed you of nothing but the gilding.

That cat has got cold, said a friend to Jerry, pointing to a domestic favorite.

Yes, Jerry replied, the poor thing is subject to catarrhs.

A little boy of four years was saying his prayers not long since when his little brother, about three years old, came slyly behind and pulled his hair. Without moving his head he paused and said : Please, Lord, excuse me a minute while I kick Freddy.

Give us a ride, will you, Mister, exclaimed a sharp looking eight year old, to all ill-looking man with a lean woe-begone looking horse, the other day. No, growled the man with the cadaverous beast, don't you see that my horse looks tired.

Can't see the tired, old fellow, replied the urchin, but he looks awful hungry.

Miscellaneous.

The Fisherman's Daughter.

In a small stone cottage, which stood upon a rocky swell of land overlooking the sea, set Jacob Dresser, and Polly, his wife. The expanse of water to be seen from the cot was Massachusetts Bay; and the eminence upon which said cot was located was not far from the thriving town of Lynn.

Jacob Dresser was sixty years of age, and the business of his active life had been fishing; but for the past five years he had been able to do nothing in the way of labor, his lower limb having been paralyzed by an injury to the spine, caused by a fall from the foretop of his schooner. Polly was near the same age, and of late years she had suffered so much from rheumatism that she could do but very little towards providing for the wants of herself or husband.

Somebody was in the back room at work. There had been a rattling of dishes, and a chinking of knives and spoons; but as Solomon Gurdy thus spoke, the noise ceased.

Mind you, pursued Solomon, with his thick, hard hands folded upon his knees—I am honest and above board in this. You know just what I mean, and your course is plain before you. Things cannot go on any longer as they've been going on. I must have an answer.

And what then? asked Jacob, hoarsely.

At the end of that time I must have pay for this place. You are owing me for more than two years; and as you can't pay it, I must let some one into the cot who will pay.

And I—

Oh, cried Solomon, with a laugh, you need not worry. You'll have a home. The Town is bound to take care of you.

And we must close our poor days in the almshouse! groaned Jacob.

Other people have done the same, said Solomon.

Jacob Dresser bowed his head upon his hands, and his aged frame trembled. His wife was weeping.

Gurdy arose and took his hat.

You have a week to think of the matter, Jacob. If, at the end of that time, Mary Dresser will promise to become my wife, this cot is yours, and you shall be well cared for. But if she will not consent to give me her hand, you must take your chance with the rest of the Town's poor. I don't mean this for threat. I don't even mean to be hard upon you. I simply show you how you may avoid leaving your old home.

Thus speaking, Solomon Gurdy turned and left the cot—and in a few moments more Mary entered from the little porch. She was pale, and her lips were quivering.

Father! mother! she cried, I have heard of your ill-treatment of the old man. They say he was knocked down by a squall, and his body stark and dead, were washed ashore upon the Swansett Beach. The fourth was a girl. At the age of four and twenty he commanded a fine ship, and sailed from Boston to the Mediterranean. Three voyages he made to the land of wine and fruit, and then he took a ship from Salem and sailed to the East Indies. In the Indian Ocean his ship was struck by a typhoon, and only fragments of the wreck were found to tell her sad fate.

After Mark came Thomas and William. They were lost in the Bay. Their boat was knocked down by a squall, and their

BOSTON Correspondence.

Boston, Aug. 20, 1863.

The finale of the rebellion is very likely to take place within six months, if the administration pursues a wise and judicious course. The recent successes of the Federal arms have been wonderful, exciting the astonishment of European powers. The tone of their press, if we except France, is greatly changed. The recognition of the Southern Confederacy is no longer talked of, but in their view a speedy suppression of the rebellion, and the complete triumph of the Union cause are sure events. These advices from Europe create a good feeling here, producing a favorable influence on all kinds of business enterprise. Our wharves are made lively and active by large coastwise and foreign arrivals. The trade from the British Provinces is large, coming in and departing from our harbor by fleets. Many vessels are loading for New Zealand, California, and other ports, having no fear of Captain Symmes before their eyes. With continued abundance of money, trade in all its ramifications is vigorous, and Boston was never more prosperous in a financial view than at present.

DEGREE CONFERRED. The honorary degree of LL.D. has been conferred upon William M. Cornell, M. D., of Philadelphia, by the Western University of Pennsylvania. Our subscribers will remember that Dr. C. formerly resided in this town.

PROBATE COURT. Will be held in this town on Tuesday next, at the Selectmen's Room, where all those having business, will find the Judge ready to give his advice.

AN ELIGIBLE SITUATION FOR SALE.—The property which has been advertised in our columns a few weeks past, under the administrator's notice of Charles Hardwick, (the estate of the late Hannah Porter, on West street,) is pleasantly situated, and offers rare inducements as a country residence. The sale will take place on Tuesday next.

NARROW ESCAPE. As Mr. William Rice, of Boston was repairing the telegraph wire on the north side of the Stone Temple, the pole broke off, and fell upon him injuring him severely. About three years since a brother of his was killed in a similar manner.

FALL IN PRICES. Advices from New Orleans state that by the re-opening of the Mississippi all kinds of provisions had fallen in that city below the rate in New York. Flour that two weeks ago was thirteen and fourteen dollars per barrel, is now sold for six dollars, and other articles in like proportion.

ARTIFICIAL LIMBS. It is stated by manufacturers of artificial limbs, that they make about eight left legs for soldiers to two right legs, and about the same proportion of right arms to left ones, showing about four times as many lose left legs as right, and four right arms to one left. This seems very singular, but an agent for the sale of artificial limbs affirms it to be the actual fact.

THE CONFISCATION ACT. It is intimated that one of the first acts of the next Congress will be the amending of the present Confiscation law, so as to deprive armed rebels of their property perpetually. The present law only confiscates property during the life of the disloyal person, after which the property goes again to his or her heirs.

MONUMENT TO LOVEJOY. A great memorial stone has been placed upon the grave of the Rev. E. P. Lovejoy, in the Alto Cemetery. It consists of a Quincy granite plinth, two by two and a half feet square, and one foot in thickness, surmounted by a scroll of Italian marble, very tastefully cut.

COTTON SUPPLY. At a late meeting of the cotton supply association, held in Manchester, England, the chairman stated that 1,072,000 bales were received from India in 1862; and that 1,200,000 bales were expected from the same source; which with 600,000 bales from other countries, would be about sufficient to give only three days work per week to the English operatives. The machinery in several factories has been altered to suit Surat cotton; but American cotton is so superior, that three pounds of it can be spun in the same time as one pound of Surat.

REINFORCEMENT OF THE ARMY. A thousand conscripts a day already join the Army of the Potomac. Soon the number will be greater. They go forward in excellent spirits. Substitutes are offering themselves at very cheap rates, both in Philadelphia and Washington, as well as at other points where drafting is going on. Prices range from one hundred to two hundred dollars, and cases are reported where persons voluntarily and freely offer themselves as substitutes for their drafted friends.

COAL-BEDS. Heath's mine in Virginia, is represented to contain a coal bed fifty feet in thickness; a coal bed near Wilkesbarre, Pennsylvania, is said to be twenty-five feet thick; a coal bed at Mauch Chunk is a coal bed forty to fifty feet deep, and in the basin of the Schuylkill are fifty alternate seams of coal, twenty-five of which are more than three feet in thickness. In Nova Scotia is a coal formation fourteen hundred feet deep, and containing seventy-five alternate layers of coal.

LLOYD'S COUNTY MAP. We have received from the publisher, Benj. B. Russell, No. 515 Washington Street, Boston, H. H. Lloyd & Co.'s splendid colored county map of the United States. It claims to be the largest, cheapest and best map ever offered to the public. For sale in this town by J. Franklin Burrell.

BOSTON Correspondence.

Boston, Aug. 20, 1863.

The finale of the rebellion is very likely to take place within six months, if the administration pursues a wise and judicious course. The recent successes of the Federal arms have been wonderful, exciting the astonishment of European powers. The tone of their press, if we except France, is greatly changed. The recognition of the Southern Confederacy is no longer talked of, but in their view a speedy suppression of the rebellion, and the complete triumph of the Union cause are sure events. These advices from Europe create a good feeling here, producing a favorable influence on all kinds of business enterprise. Our wharves are made lively and active by large coastwise and foreign arrivals. The trade from the British Provinces is large, coming in and departing from our harbor by fleets. Many vessels are loading for New Zealand, California, and other ports, having no fear of Captain Symmes before their eyes. With continued abundance of money, trade in all its ramifications is vigorous, and Boston was never more prosperous in a financial view than at present.

NEW YORK. The valuation of city property in New York, as assessed for taxes for the present year, amounts to $594,154,543. The total amount required to be raised by tax will be $11,788,453.95, making the rate of tax a fraction less than two per cent.

DORCHESTER STATISTICS. The following are the statistics of the town of Dorchester for the present year: Number of polls, 3337; children, 1976; valuation of real estate, $7,809,400; of personal estate, $4,311,100; making a total of 12,120,500. The State tax is $27,672; county tax, $8,552 24; town tax, $60,500; overplus, $1,972 91; amounting altogether to $107,698 25. The rate of taxation per thousand dollars is $8.50. The number of houses in town is 1774; horses, 1008; cows, 579; oxen, 21; swine, 619; sheep, 1.

LYNN VALUATION AND TAXES. The valuation of property in Lynn the present year amounts to $298,475 in real estate, and $3,155,422 personal; total, $9,153,897, showing an increase of $228,203, after the loss on United States securities not taxable by cities and towns. The tax for city, county and State amounts to $117,621.42, the rate of taxation being for the State, and the rate of taxation is twelve dollars on a thousand. The number of polls is 3768. Twenty-four persons pay a tax of upwards of $500 each, and five of $1000 and upwards.

CHELSEA. The appropriations for the current year amount to $90,000, including $20,000 for interest on city debt and $12,000 for reduction of debt. The valuation of real estate for taxation is $6,750,000; personal property $89,100; total, $7,739,100. Number of polls 2627. Rate of taxation $14 on 1000.

BLOODEAD RUNNING ON A LARGE SCALE. It is said that during the present month the value of the war material and general merchandise that has run safely into Wilmington had laid down their arms, they should be received back in the Union with their original rights and sovereignty unimpaired. Happily with the great mass of the people in the loyal States, there is but one sentiment, that the war should be prosecuted with vigor until the rebellion is put down. The Constitution as it is. War until the Union is restored as it was, is the true motto.

WOUNDED SOLDIERS IN PHILADELPHIA. There are ten thousand two hundred and forty-two sick and wounded soldiers in the Government hospitals at Philadelphia. Thirty-five deaths occurred during last week, and during the same period two hundred and ninety-nine were returned to duty.

DEMOCRATIC CONVENTION. A meeting of the National Committee is called to take place in the St. Nicholas Hotel, New York, on the 9th of September next, for the purpose of fixing the time and place of holding the next National Democratic Convention for the nomination of a candidate for President of the United States.

A FLOATING ISLAND. A remarkable sight was to have been seen on our lake yesterday. A mass of trees and shrubs—over half an acre in extent—floated out of the marsh in the north-west part of the lake, and, impelled by a strong wind, floated down the lake. It had a most beautiful appearance, composed as it was of various kinds of trees and plants, green to the water's edge. There were several tamaracs, sixteen to eighteen feet high; and many large and flourishing alders, besides other shrubs. They are all firmly rooted in the soil.

RETALIATION. The rebel determination to execute officers of negro regiments, murder the wounded privates and make slaves of the prisoners, has been met with a proclamation by the President, ordering retaliation for executions and sentences to hard labor on public works of rebel prisoners, for every man sold into slavery. The barbarous chiefs of the rebellion will probably extricate themselves from this unpleasant dilemma by giving up their attempt to intimidate our soldiers.

LAVING OF A CORNER STONE. The corner stone of the new Catholic church in Dorchester, near Milton Lower Mills, will be laid with appropriate ceremonies on Sunday afternoon, August 23, at three o'clock.

MOSQUITOS. A lady writes to the New York, saying, that the annoyance of mosquitos may be effectually prevented by a very simple process. Close the room and burn a teaspoonful of brown sugar on some live coals, or even shavings, and the insects become paralyzed at once.

A MAN MADE OF COAL. The Boston Transcript says that one of the largest pieces of coal ever brought to Boston is in the image and form of a man—one of the aborigines of the country. It is of full size, as large as life, and complete from head to toe. It is the work of a common miner, who wrought it from a single block of coal, which was taken out of a vein nine feet thick in one of the coal mines in Pennsylvania.

THE VALUATION OF BOSTON. The amount of real and personal estate and polls in Boston, for 1862 and 1863, is estimated by the assessors, as follows:

1862, Amount of real estate,	$163,512,400
Amount of personal estate,	112,441,4900
Real and personal estate,	275,957,000
No. of polls,	34,033
Rate of tax per $1000 was	$10.50
1863, Amount of real estate,	$169,659,300
Amount of personal estate,	132,867,700
Real and personal estate,	302,527,000
No. of polls,	33,490
Rate of tax per $1000 was	$11.50

NEW YORK AND THE DRAFT. The recent action of the New York City Council relative to the "three million ordinance" contemplates the following results: The Mayor, Comptroller, the Aldermen and Councilmen are made a Committee to decide if any drafted man is in indigent circumstances, or a member of the fire department, and to give him the proper certificate. In case of a drafted fireman who declines to enter the service of the United States, the Comptroller shall pay for his exemption the sum of three hundred dollars. A substitute brought by an indigent person, or a fireman, or any man who shall volunteer as a substitute for a drafted person, and shall be accepted and enlisted into the service, will be entitled to a similar sum, provided that no other payment shall have been made to the person drafted or his substitute.

Poetry.

For the Patriot
My Country!

BY F. M. ADLINGTON—WEYMOUTH.

My Country! from my early youth
I have been taught to love thy name,
And have learned thy sterling worth,
And gloried in thy noble fame.
Their names, who on the battle ground
On in the Senate served thee true,
By mem'ry to my heart strings bound,
Preserve the record ever new.

And now, when at thy Trumpet's call,
For sons to serve in the field,
While Northern traitors from their fall,
Who should have been thy stay and shield;

The' age and feebleness be mine,
At home I scarce can patient bide;
My little strength I would were thine,
To aid thee in the battle tide.

To follow where thy banner leads,
To roll the car of victory on,
And help to do as noble deeds,
As others in thy cause have done.

The willing heart indeed would go,
The quick'nd kindling blood will warm,
But vainly gainst the vanquishing foe
Unconscious lifts the feeble arm.

My sons—may heav'n my children save—
Are with thee battling 'gainst the foe;
One lies within a soldier's grave,
And fate may lay my others low.

But rather than traitors yield,
This glorious land of Liberty,
My all that's mine will hide the field,
And with our Country live or die.

A Nation's tears bedews the grave
Of those who scorn'd her rights to sell,
Who, struggling manfully to save,
Like Warren and like Lyon, fell.

A glorious future must await
Those who survive this fearful strife;
Men who restored the peril'd state,
From threat'ned death to healthy life.

Their Country's gratitude and praise,
Their own self-consciousness of right,
A Nation's blessing all their days,
The patriot soldier shall require.

God pardon those misguided ones,
Who basely chose a Traitor's fame;
Their blood, through ages while it runs,
Will bear the Arnold mark of shame.

Time will not make the record fade,
Nor wash away the foul disgrace;
Scorn's finger ever will upbraid
The guilty Traitor's hapless race.

Oh, who their off-spring would consign
To such a hope destroying state;
To have no country, know no shrine—
Doom'd lepers mark'd for scorn or hate.

Are you a parent? ponder well—
Not let your children curse the day,
Their father leagued with traitors fell,
To shew their birthrights all away.

And left them orphans on that shore,
That mothers all of patriot race,
To them a parent now no more,
Memorials of her sad disgrace.

"Thy Will Be Done."

All the prayers that test my faith,
This is the hardest one,
To gaze on that dear face in death,
And say, "Thy will be done."

In the wild struggle Nature fails,
And sinks affrighted down;
A mortal grief o'er our faith prevails—
The cross obscures the crown.

So fast upon the pale sweet clay,
Came down my blinding tears;
They veiled awhile her shining way
To the celestial spheres.

O thou who hast, with hand unseen,
Removed the loved to Thee,
Come, now, with helping grace between
The little child and me!

Anecdotes.

Aunt, inquired a medical prodigy of fifteen, fresh from lecture on surgery. What do you suppose is the most difficult operation in surgery? I don't know, Charley,—what? Taking the jaw off a woman, answered the hopeful youth.

Say Pomp, you nigger, where you get dat new hat?

Why, at the shop of course. What is de price of such an article as dat? I don't know nigger, I don't know—de shopkeeper wasn't dare!

How far is it from Cowes to Ryde? demanded a gentleman of a poor, tired pedestrian. I don't know how far it is to ride, answer'd the poor man, but it is a long way to walk.

An old bachelor of our acquaintance says he doesn't wonder that married men over thirty-five years of age are placed in the second-class conscripts under the new conscription law. They have suffered enough for their country.

How dreadful that cigar smells! exclaimed Cushing to companion; why it's an awful smelling thing.

Oh, no; it's not the cigar that smells, was the reply.

What is it then? inquired Cushing. Why, it's your nose that smells of course—that's what noses are made for.

SARASAPARILLA

THE WORLD'S GREAT REMEDY

FOR

SCROFULA AND SCROFULOUS DISEASES.

From Emery Fales, a well-known merchant of Oxford, Maine.

We have sold large quantities of your SARASAPARILLA.

It has been found to be of great service, and has given the desired effect and full satisfaction to those who took it.

As best as our people try it, they agree there has been no more effective remedy.

Erupcions, Pimples, Blotches, Pestules.

Ulcers, Sores, and all Diseases of the Skin.

From Rev. Bobt. Stratton, Bristol, England.

I only do my duty to you and the public, when I add my testimony to that you publish of the medicinal properties of your SARASAPARILLA.

I have had ten, and an affliction humor in her ears, eyes, and hair for years, which we were unable to cure, until we tried your SARASAPARILLA. She has been well ever since.

From Mrs. Jane E. Rice, a well-known and much-esteemed lady of Dennisville, Cape May Co., N. J.

My daughter Jane entered for a year past with a severe affection of the heart, which was a terrible affliction.

I tried almost everything a man could do for relief.

When we tried your SARASAPARILLA, which soon completely cured her.

From Charles Gage, Esq., of the widely-known firm of Gage & Farnum, Manufacturers of comestible papers in Nashua, N. H.

I had for several years a very troublesome affliction, face, which gradually increased until it distinguished me from all others, and became intolerable affliction. I tried almost everything a man could do for relief and medicine, but without any relief whatever.

When we tried your SARASAPARILLA, it immediately made my face worse, as you told me it might for a time; but in a few weeks the new skin began to form under the blotches, and continued until now, and I am well again. I am without any symptoms of the disease that I know of. I enjoy perfect health, and without a doubt owe it to your SARASAPARILLA.

Erysipelas—General Debility—Purify the Blood.

From Dr. Bobt. Stratton, Boston, St., N. Y.

Dr. Ayer: I seldom fail to remove Erysipelas and Scrofulous Sores by the persevering use of your SARASAPARILLA, and I have now just cured an attack of Erysipelas, which was of a very severe character, and equals the SARASAPARILLA you have supplied to the profession as well as to the people.

From J. F. Johnson, Esq., Wadsworth, Ohio.

For two years I had the yellow Erysipelas on my right arm, during which time I tried every other remedy known to man, and took hundreds of dollars worth of medicines. The ulcers were so bad that the cords became visible, and the doctors declared that my arm would be amputated. I began taking your SARASAPARILLA, and in two weeks removed some of our FLESHES.

I am now well and sound as anybody. Being in a public place, and known to everybody in this country, and excites no alarm.

From Hon. Henry Morris, M. P. P. of Neverscote, C. W., a leading member of the Canadian Parliament.

I have used your SARASAPARILLA in my family, for general debility, and for purifying the blood, with very good success, and feel confidence in commanding it to the afflicted.

St. Anthony's Fire, Rose, Salt, Rheum,

Scaud Head, Sore Eyes.

From Harry Seckler, Esq., the able editor of the "Lancashire Democrat," Pennsylvania.

Our child, about three years of age, was attacked by pinworms, and the worms rapidly spread until they formed a loathsome and virulent sore, which covered his face, and actually blinded him. He was taken to the physician, and an emetic of senna and other remedies were administered.

For fifteen days we guarded his hands, lest with them he should tear open the festering and corrupt wound which covered his whole face. Having tried every other way we say, your SARASAPARILLA, and applying the modiste of poultice lotion, as you direct. The sore began to heal, and when we had applied the second, the child's eye was white and clear again, and he is now as healthy and fair as any other. The whole neighborhood predicted that the child must die.

Syphillis and Mercurial Disease.

From Dr. Horace Stoltz, of St. Louis, Missouri.

I find your SARASAPARILLA the most effectual remedy for the secondary symptoms of Syphillis, and for syphilitic disease than any other we possess.

The profession are indebted to you for some of the best remedies.

From J. French, M. D., an eminent physician of Lawrence, Mass., who is a prominent member of the Legislature of Massachusetts.

Dr. Ayer—My dear Sir: I have found your SARASAPARILLA an excellent remedy for Syphillis, and for syphilitic disease than any other we possess.

In some cases that were too obstinate to yield to other remedies. I do not know what we can employ with more certainty of success, where a powerfully remedial agent is required.

Mr. Chas. S. The Line, of New Brunswick, N. J.,

had dreadful ulcers on his legs, caused by the abuse of mercury, or mercurial disease, which grew more and more aggravated for years, in spite of every remedy or treatment that could be applied, until the persevering use of Ayer's SARASAPARILLA relieved him. Few cases have I found more inveterate and distressing than this, and it took several dozen bottles to cure him.

Lecithorrhachis, White Female Weakness, are generally produced by internal Scrofulous Ulceration, and are very often cured by the alternative effect of the SARASAPARILLA. Some cases require, however, the use of the SARASAPARILLA, the skillful application of local remedies.

From the well-known and widely-celebrated Dr. Jacob Merrill, of Cincinnati.

"I have found your SARASAPARILLA an excellent alternative to the uses of females. Many cases of inveterate Lecithorrhachis, after various medical and local remedies, arising from the scrofulous diathesis, have yielded to it, and there are few that do not, when it is properly applied by local treatment."

A lady, unwilling to allow the publication of her name, writes:

"My daughter and myself have been cured of a very debilitating disease of long standing, by two bottles of your SARASAPARILLA."

Rheumatism, Gout, Liver Complaint, Dyspepsia Heart Disease, Neuralgia, when caused by Scrofula in the system, are rapidly cured by this EX. SARASAPARILLA."

AYER'S

possess so many advantages over the other purgatives in the market, and their superior virtues are so universally known, that we need not do more to assure the public that their quality is maintained equal to the best it ever has been, and that they may be depended on to do all that they have ever done."

GEO. W. PRESCOTT, PRINTER.

I'm a Flirt—I'm a Flirt.

Air—"I'm Afloat, I'm Afloat."

I'm a flirt, I'm a flirt, by no promise I'm tied,

The ball-room's my home, and the Polka's my pride.

I trip lightly by in the soul-binding dance,

I win with my smile, and I wound with my glance.

I heed not the prudes, let them say what they will,

A flirt I am now, and a flirt I'll be still;

I ne'er will resign the proud sway that I hold

O'er talent and riches, the great and the bold.

I'm a flirt, I'm a flirt, I have suitors in shoals,

Who're dying to have me, the poor, sighing souls;

How they fret if I frown, how they smile if by chance

They can just squeeze my hand 'twixt their own in a dance.

There were half-worn dresses, which the little owners were fast, outgoing, where tucks must be let down, and seams made narrow; jackets and pants with threadbare elbows and knees and great rents, where the driving little urchins had come in contact with unfriendly nails; under garments, destitute of buttons and loops; socks, in all variety of shapes and sizes; and no housekeeper will wonder that a review of all these served no wise to calm Mrs. Greenwood's disturbed spirit.

Don't, Aunt Amy—don't! I cannot bear to hear you talk so. Mrs. Greenwood's voice quivered with emotion. Oh! I have been so wicked!

Why have I not thought of my blessings instead of my trials? I do have every thing, don't I, Auntie? God forgive me that I ever forgot it.

I know how hard it sometimes is to realize the blessings; but we must live every day, and take our enjoyment as we go along, or we shall never find it. We are getting on finely with the mending, Hester.

Why, yes, Aunt Amy, how the pile is vanishing. I believe when I finish this basket, I shall be quite even once. I don't mean to let so many accumulate again, if I can possibly avoid it. Do hear those dear children, what a good time they are having. I was preparing to give them a real scolding, but I believe I shall not. I must try and take a little more interest in their pleasure. Why, Charles, what has sent you home at this time of day?

Put up your work, little wife: I have come to take you and the children out to ride. I noticed how weary and pale you were looking at dinner.

But Charles, how can I go? The children must have their clothes to wear to school Monday, and your coat must be repaired this afternoon,

I should have my fine carriage for making my calls;

I should give, too, my breakfast, my ruts, and my bals;

But no cavaliers at my feet then would fall

To hand me my gloves or to put on my shawl.

Then away with the thought of a dull wedded life,

What you are saying.

It was Aunt Amy's kind voice that spoke these words, as she drew her chair beside her niece, and took up a piece of work from the overflowing basket.

Well, don't I have to work dreadful hard,

Auntie? You will admit I have hardly been idle one moment since you came to visit me. Mrs. Greenwood spoke in a half apologetic tone.

Yes, dear, you do have to keep very busy, I know; but didn't I hear Charles telling you this morning you surely ought not to work so hard, and urging you to help him?

He knew very well I would not, or he'd never have offered so kindly. I wonder when we should get our house paid for, if I kept a girl, or threw every thing by when it came to mending. Oh, Charles knows very well I shall keep on in the same old way, so he feels perfectly safe in telling me not to work so hard. But he may see the time when he will be sorry, I shall wear out by the time we are ready to live, and when he sees his poor little motherless children and unkept home he will wish he had been a little more tender of me, I guess. But, no, he won't either; I suppose he will do just as every other man does—have the vacant place filled in a few short months, and all my labor and toil will go to benefit somebody else.

The work fell from Aunt Amy's hand, and she fixed her tearful eyes upon the troubled face of her niece.

Printers are said to be intellectual smelters, who receive the dross for their labor, while the world gets the metal; and editors the locomotives of society, which cannot go ahead without them.

Repine not if you see others better fed than yourself. Perhaps they are fattened for destruction, while you are dieted for health.

It is found that women make the very best clerks for the electric telegraph. Very rarely indeed are they at fault. The only difficulty is to prevent each young lady at either end of the line from having the last word.

Who is he? said a passer-by to a policeman, who was endeavoring to raise an intoxicated individual who had fallen into the gutter.

Can't say, sir, replied the policeman; he can't give an account of himself. Of course not, said the other; how can you expect an account from a man who has lost his balance?

THE QUINCY PATRIOT.

Saturday, August 29th, 1863.

"Born to no Master, of no Sect are we."

FUNERAL OF PRIVATE JOSEPHS. Impressive and solemn funeral services were performed at the Universalist Church, in this town, on Sunday afternoon last, over the remains of URIEL JOSEPHS, a member of Company A, Forty-Second Massachusetts Regiment, who died the 7th of July, at New Orleans. The occasion called together a large concourse of people, and long before the exercises commenced, the house was filled with a deeply impressed and sympathizing multitude.

A very touching and appropriate discourse was delivered by the Rev. Mr. Heath, pastor of the Church. At the conclusion of the rites of the sanctuary, the remains were removed from the Church, and a procession formed, headed by the Weymouth Brass Band—followed by Company A, of which the deceased was a member; next came the bier, draped with flags, and a long train of carriages, bearing the mourners; these were succeeded by the Instructors and Scholars of the Sunday School, who in silent grief, bowed to the dispensation, which had closed the earthly labors of their devoted friend and beloved teacher. A large collection of friends and acquaintances here joined, which swelled the procession to an extent seldom witnessed in this place for years.

The remains were carried to the New Cemetery, and consigned to their final resting place, where military honors were performed by a detachment of his Company. In the death of Mr. Josephs, we are all mourners; the community in the loss of an exemplary member; the young, in an ever-watchful guardian, counsellor and friend—and the country in a loyal and dutiful subject. Peace to his ashes.

THE CIRCUS. From the period of the acknowledgement of the Circus, as a legitimate branch of the "Show business," there has been undoubtedly no one person so successful in the Circus line as Dan Rice. A man of education, and of a scientific turn of mind, but whose tastes ran in the channel of excitement connected with the ring; he has reached the highest stage in his profession, and has won for himself a name of which he may well be proud—that of the "Prince of Showmen."

We notice that he is announced for this place on the fifth of September, with his model exhibition, consisting of a great variety of attractions; prominent among which, is the Wonderful, Blind, Talking Horse, Excelsior, Jester, who is a paragon of beauty in the animal creation, as well as of intellect.

Dan deserves well of the patriotic people of the North, for he has sacrificed the greater portion of an entire fortune, simply for principle. He is an ardent advocate of the Union, and when the rebellion broke out, was in the so-called Southern Confederacy. True to the interests of that country which he loved, to the Constitution which had been framed for his country's guidance, and to the flag which he considered the best that ever floated, he saw nearly the whole of his wealth disappear before Southern confederation, and only escaped North by running the blockade at Memphis, with one steamboat load of property. So remember Dan's patriotism; his desire and ability to please—also, the date of his arrival—and give him a full canvas.

KILLED BY A CHAINED BEAR. At New Hudson, recently, Mrs. Sutton went to feed a chained bear that was supposed to be tame, when the animal sprang upon her, killed, and partially ate her body. The creature had to be shot before the remains could be procured.

THE CROPS. From the correspondence received by the Agricultural Department at Washington, it is ascertained that the wheat crop of the country will be an average one, notwithstanding a partial failure in some sections of the country from the prolonged drought. The corn crop promises well, and will probably yield more than an average. The crops generally promise well, and there is every prospect that we shall have enough and to spare of the products of the earth.

THE PRESIDENT'S SALARY. The Washington correspondence of the New York Tribune says that President Lincoln has not drawn his salary for the past year from the Treasury. When reminded by friends that by putting the same upon interest he would receive an income of at least twelve hundred dollars, he replied that he thought the United States needed the money quite as much as any person, and he would let it remain.

GENEROSITY. Among the conscripts sent down Wednesday was David H. Champion of Hingham, a colored man. A friend of his, also colored, had been drafted, and Champion volunteered to go in his stead, without pay from him.

Little Harry.

Death leaves a shining mark, and it ever seems to select for its victims the loving and the lovely; and most fully was that feeling experienced, when, on Wednesday last, the sombre hearse bore to his grave the bright and beautiful boy whose death had saddened so many hearts. Quietly and patiently he bore his illness, and as his eyes closed, forever upon all earthly scenes, who can doubt that one so gentle and so good, joined that choir of angels who ever chant their hymns of praise. But little Harry has passed away from his home on earth, and many tears have been shed for him by those who knew him and loved him well. Our sympathies are given to his friends here, but how can consolation be borne to his father's heart, when, amid the clash of arms, the sad tidings shall come to him of the death of his little son. God help in his affliction, for his head will be bowed down in sorrow.

FROM CHARLESTON. The latest news from Charleston is to Tuesday last, by the Steamship Argo, which has arrived at New York. Fort Sumter was almost entirely destroyed, but had not surrendered. It was believed that only men enough remained in the fort to keep the flag flying. It is said that Gen. Gilmore's advanced fortifications are within a stone's throw of the rebel fort Wagner. The position is thus that Fort Wagner can be taken at any moment. Our battery on the marsh between Morris and James Island had commenced shelling Charleston, which was five miles distant.

CONNECTICUT. Small as Connecticut is, she can boast of having nearly three thousand industrial establishments, and a capital to the amount of forty-six millions of dollars invested in manufacturing business, giving employment to sixty thousand hands. If we add together all the industrial products of North Carolina, South Carolina, Georgia, Florida, Alabama, Texas, and Mississippi, then Connecticut is twenty million dollars in advance of them all.

THE DRAFT. The following decisions of the War Department, in relation to the Draft, are published:

1. When drafted men fail to report, the district is not responsible for their desertion any more than for the desertion of members of its quota in the field. The district must, therefore, be credited for them.

2. The paying three hundred dollars for procuration of substitutes under the law, throws upon the government the responsibility of providing such substitutes, and relieves the district therefrom. It is paid for "procurement of substitutes."

3. The district must present men liable to military service, suitable and acceptable, not exempt. It cannot present for military service to the government men who are exempt therefrom by law. It must make up for them.

It will be seen that the second section annuls the decision of Provost Martial General Fay, that the payment of three hundred dollars exempted a man only from one draft and not for three years.

THE PATRIOT'S DUTY. There remains, said Judge Bramlette, the governor elect of Kentucky, in a recent speech, but one course for all true, loyal and patriotic men to pursue, and this is simply to do all in their power to strengthen the government in its effort to crush rebellion. After that is done you can set about rectifying all the mistakes of the administration.

SOUTHERN WHEAT. The amount of wheat raised in Alabama, Arkansas, Florida, Georgia, Louisiana, Mississippi, North and South Carolina, Tennessee, Texas and Virginia, in 1860, was 31,326,574 bushels. In 1861, it was 35,000,000. In 1862 it was 40,000,000; and in 1863 it is estimated that it will be 50,000,000 of bushels. The amount of corn raised in the same States, was, in 1860, 280,000,000 bushels. 1861 it was 300,000,000. In 1862, it was 340,000,000; and in 1863, it will be 380,000,000 bushels or upward.

MATRIMONIAL. In one of the Northeastern towns in Windham County, Connecticut, is a village called "Christian Hollow," consisting of about twenty families, all farmers. Nine men in that village have had two wives, as follows: One man four, two men three, and six men two each. The man who has been married four times is yet living, and has a wife who bids fair to run an equal race with her husband.

CONSCRIPTION ACT. The administration has determined to suspend all operations under the Conscription Act in Nebraska and Dakota. There will be no draft in those Territories. The order will be immediately forwarded. The release has been granted in view of the exposed condition of the frontier to Indian depredations, the already large proportion of troops furnished by Nebraska, and the sparse population.

BURNS AND SCALDS. The ancient Scalds never, perhaps, thought of Burns. Dr. Grace has literalized Scandinavian literature, and now produces a Salve which cures burns and scalds. It also cures flesh wounds, boils, felons, warts, banishes freckles, dissipates tan, and is the mother's favorite remedy. Get a box of it. Only 25 cts. See advertisement in another column.

GENERALITY. Among the conscripts sent down Wednesday was David H. Champion of Hingham, a colored man. A friend of his, also colored, had been drafted, and Champion volunteered to go in his stead, without pay from him.

ORIGINAL AND SELECTED.

The American Print Works, at Fall River, which have been stopped for several months, have just started again.

Peaches are getting very plenty in New York. The Camden and Auburn Railroad brought in one day last week 4500 bushels.

Shoes are selling at Huntsville, Alabama, at $35 per pair, and calico at $3 per yard.

The Sergeant-at-arms of the United States Senate has been drafted in Washington.

A man who claims exemption from the draft because his mother needs his filial care, has kept her coffin in the house for two years to remind the old lady of his tender regard.

The actual pay of the rebel soldier, on account of the depreciation of confederate currency, is but one dollar per month.

An official announcement has been put forth by the Spanish Government to the effect that it has taken no diplomatic step in reference to the recognition of the South, but will await the course of events.

Nineteen steamers are now plying with freight between St. Louis and New Orleans.

Some of the rebel papers have raised their subscription price to thirty-six dollars per year. This sum, they say, is cheaper than they can afford them.

It is said that 20,000 pounds of cotton daily find their way to New Orleans, being a part of the crop not burned by the rebels, as advised by Jeff. Davis & Co.

The pearl-fishery of Ceylon has this season opened nine millions of oysters, and found therein half a million dollars' worth of pearls, which indicates a good time in that line of business.

The New York Herald says that the genuine copperhead platform is, "The Union as it was under Buchanan, the Constitution as it is under Jeff. Davis."

A raft containing 1,000,000 feet of lumber was lately towed across Lake Michigan and consigned to some of the largest lumber yards in Chicago.

The pay of a substitute, allowing the substitute fee to be three hundred dollars, amounts to at least one thousand three hundred and sixty-seven dollars, or one dollar and forty-six cents per day. If the war closes in less than three years his pay will be proportionally higher.

The health of the troops at Port Hudson is very bad—over fifty per cent. of some regiments being sick with ague and fever.

Orders have been received by the government agent from citizens of Nashville, Tenn., and Vicksburg, Miss., for the government five-twenty bonds.

It is understood that Gen. Hooker is to have active command at some point in the South.

Advices from Labrador state that the fisheries on that coast, both for cod and salmon, have been unusually successful. There are, however, but few American vessels on the ground.

Seven hundred deserters have within the last two days been sent from Washington to join their respective regiments.

There are now ten thousand rebel prisoners at Point Lookout (Md.). They have camps by themselves, with wall tents, and the same rations as our soldiers. A considerable portion of them express the opinion that the rebellion is a failure.

Immense guns for the New York harbor fortifications are constantly arriving from Pittsburg. The forts will not lack armament, whatever may be other delays or difficulties.

The Great Eastern made her last trip from New York to Liverpool in the remarkably short time of nine days.

Two British forgers of Yankee greenbacks have been sentenced, one to fifteen months hard labor, and the other to four years penal servitude.

Resolutions

Passed at a special meeting of the Adams Literary Association, held August 22, 1863:

Whereas, URIEL JOSEPHS, a Member of this Association, was taken from us by death, in the service of his country, in the hospital at New Orleans, July 1, 1863.

Therefore, Resolved, That in his death this Association has lost a loved friend and valuable member; faithful in his duties to it and to society. Temperate, pure in heart and language; winning the esteem and friendship of all with whom he came in contact.

Resolved, That while we deeply mourn his loss, we rejoice, that his life was given as an offering on the altar of his country. Knowing that, though it was not given in the strife of battle, or by the deadly bullet, he was ready and willing at all times to brave all dangers in the performance of his duty.

Resolved, That we share with his relatives and friends in their loss, and tender to them our warmest sympathies in their bereavement, commanding them to God, assured, that in his immeasurable goodness and mercy, he will mete unto them comfort and consolation; pouring healing balm into their wounded hearts.

Resolved, That a copy of these Resolutions be printed in the Quincy Patriot, and a copy be furnished his parents.

Poetry.

To the Aged.

The aged and the faithful
They are passing to their home,
Life's waning twilight darkens fast,
Its glorious day hath flown.
Still peacefully and meekly,
They linger here to show,
The angel footprints shining yet
Upon our path of woe;
To sing of grace and sins forgiven
Even at the very gate of heaven.

Like green and mantle ivy
O'er an ancient rain flung,
Is the holy faith so beautiful
That keeps the spirit young.

That bright fresh moss is wreathing
O'er graves old and chill,
And the fair flowers look up lovingly
In the church yard on the hill;
But better than those blessed things
The radiant hope religion brings.

The arm chair by the fireside
I seem to see it now,
And the gray locks smoothed so carefully
Across the placid brow;

The calm blue eye, the busy hands,

The ever cheerful smile,
The oft told tales of other times

The long hours to beguile;

I wish I were a child as then
To list those stories o'er again.

Young voices ring out gaily,
Young steps are light and free;

But the trembling footsteps of old age
Seem dearer far to me;

I never heard the voice that falters
Or look on a care-worn face,

But I think how near the pilgrim draws
To his blest resting place,

And think how glorious heaven must be
To those who lived so righteously.

Deal kindly with the aged,
The faithful and the true,

As they through years of helplessness
Have kindly cared for you.

Bear gently all their failings,
For clear and bright as thine

Was once the mind whose light is dimm'd,

The scathed and time-worn shrine.

Think what may yet be due to them
And deal with them, thus reverently.

Yankee Girls.

I'm angry when a freeman sings
Of foreign maidens, who shallow arts
Are spent in winning lords and kings,
Instead of hearts.

Let England land her beauties rare,
With love-lit eyes and "sunny curls,"
To me they seem not half so fair
As Yankee girls.

Theo! England's beauties, I allow,
Are fair, and wear a noble mien,
I'm not their slave—I would not bow
Even to their Queen!

But there's a fair and lovely land,
Deck'd with no pearl or costly gem—
The daughters of my native land—
I bow to them!

When our brave fathers fought to gain
Freedom, the price of many lives,
Their efforts would have been in vain
Without their wives.

'Twas theirs' to bind the "bleeding wound,"
And with fresh courage nerve the free—
The daughters of such mothers are
The girls for me!

Anecdotes.

Two ragged little urchins, whose parents paid more attention to the bottle than to the training of their children, were in the habit of seriously annoying their neighbors, who lived close by, with their noise while at play in front of their house. One day the lady of the house came to the door and told them to be quiet or go home immediately.

Said one of the children to the other:
"Just hear, she's ordering we, when us don't belong to her."

A newly married young lady, from the city, who, in assuming her new relations, became the mistress of a farm, took a walk into the barn one afternoon just at milking time; and after viewing the animals, said to her maid:

"By the way, Betty, which is the cow that gives the buttermilk, and which the skim-milk?"

What is the meaning of this beefsteak on the butcher's book, Ann? said a lady to her cook; we have not had one lately.

No ma'am; but you see, ma'am, James can't bare mutton, so I had to get a bit of beef for him.

Doctor, kin you tell me what's the matter with my child's nose? She keeps a pickin' of it.

Yes, marm; its probably an irritation of the gastric mucous membrane communicating a sympathetic titillation to the epithelium of the bresilis.

There, now, that's just what I told Becky; She 'lowed 'twas worms.

A gentleman inquired of a carpenter's boy. My lad, when will this job your master has now on hand be completed?

I can't tell, sir, said the honest boy, artlessly; it's a day job, and I will depend upon how soon the old man has another order.

Jimmy, what is the meaning of a shepherd? A man who watches sheep.

Then a man who watches cows must be a coward, of course, said Samuel, with a broad grin.

HELMBOLD'S

GENUINE PREPARATION,

"HIGHLY CONCENTRATED"

COMPOUND

Fluid Extract Buchu,

A Positive and Specific Remedy

For Diseases of the Bladder, Kidneys, Gravel and Dropsical Swellings.

This Medicine increases the power of Digestion, and excretes the ABSORBENTS into healthy action, by which the WATERY OR CALCAREOUS depositions, and all UNNATURAL ENLARGEMENTS are reduced, as well as pain and inflammation, and is good for MEN, WOMEN, OR CHILDREN.

HELMBOLD'S EXTRACT BUCHU

FOR WEAKNESSES

Arising from Excesses, Habits of Dissipation, Early Indiscretion, or Abuse.

ATTENDED WITH THE FOLLOWING SYMPTOMS

Indisposition to Exercise, Loss of Power,

Difficulty of Breathing, Dryness of the Skin,

Weak Nerves, Trembling,

Horrors of Disease, Wakefulness,

Dimness of Vision, Pain in the Back,

Universal Lassitude of the Body,

Eruption of the Face, Pallid Countenance.

These symptoms, if allowed to go on, which this medicine invariably removes so follow

IMPOTENCY, FATUITY, EPILEPTIC FITS,

In one of which the patient may expire. Who can say that they are not frequently followed by those "direful diseases."

INSANITY and CONSUMPTION.

Many are aware of the cause of their suffering, but none will confess. The records of the insane Asylums and the melancholy deaths by Consumption, bear ample witness to the truth of the assertion, that consumption is often the offspring of Organic Weakness, requires the aid of medicine to strengthen and invigorate the system, which HELMBOLD'S EXTRACT BUCHU invariably does. A trial will convince the most skeptical.

FEMALES, FEMALES, FEMALES,

Old or young, single, married, or contemplating Marriage—in many afflictions peculiar to Females the Extract Buchu is unequalled by any other remedy, as in Chlorosis or Retention, Irregularity, Painfulness, or Suppression of the monthly Period. Extract Buchu, however, is not to be recommended to Females, as it is to men, according to the knowledge and researches of the most skilled Physicians and Surgeons in Europe and the Continent. Those who place themselves under our care will now have the full benefit of the many NEW AND EFFICACIOUS REMEDIES which we are enabled to introduce into our practice, and the public may rest assured of the same zeal, assiduity, SACRECY and attention being paid to their cases, which has so successfully distinguished us heretofore as a Physician in our PECULIAR DEPARTMENT of professional Practice, for the past twenty-five years.

FRENCH FEMALE PILLS. Ladies who wish for medicines, the efficacy of which has been tested in thousands of cases, and never failed to effect speedy cures without any bad results will use none but Dr. Laney's Female Periodic Pills. The only precaution necessary to be observed is, ladies should not take them if they have reason to believe they are in certain situations (the particulars of which will be found on the wrapper accompanying each box,) though always safe and healthy, so gentle, yet so active are they.

Price $1 per box. They can be mailed to any part of the United States or Canada.

TO THE LADIES. We cordially advise you to consult your physician with regard to any of those interesting complaints to which their delicate organization renders them liable, are particularly invited to consult us.

THE ELECTRO-GALVANIC PROTECTIVE.

For married ladies whose health will not admit, or who have no desire to increase their families may be obtained as above. It is a perfectly safe preventive to conception, and has been extensively used during the last 20 years. Price reduced to $10.

THE SECRETS OF YOUTH UNVEILED.

A Treatise on the Cause of Premature Decay—a solemn warning. Just published, a book showing the insidious progress and prevalence among schools, (both male and female), of this fatal habit, pointing out the fatality that invariably attends its victims, and developing the whole progress of the disease, from the beginning to the end.

It will be sent by Mail on receipt of two [3] cent stamp.

ATTENDANCE daily from 8 in the morning till 9 at night, and on Sundays from 2 till 5 p.m.

Medicines with full directions sent to any part of the United States or Canada, by patients communicating their symptoms by letter. Business correspondence strictly confidential.

The Law of Love.

2 KINGS IV. 3.

Pour forth the oil—pour boldly forth;

It will not fail,

Those failing vessels to provide

Which it may largely fill.

Make channels for the streams of love,

Where they may broadly run;

And love has overflowing streams,

To fill them every one.

But if at any time we cease

Such channels to provide,

The very founts of love for us

Will soon be parched and dried.

For we must share, if we would keep

That blessing from above;

Cessing to give we cease to have :—

Such is the law of love.

The Cudged Husband

As Thomas was cudged one day by his wife,

He took to his heels, and fled for his life;

Tom's three dearest friends came by in the squabble,

And saved him at once from the shrew and the rabbler;

Then ventured to give him some sober advice—

But Tom is a person of honor so nice,

Too wise to take counsel, too proud to take warning,

That he sent to all three a challenge next morning.

Three duels he fought, thrice ventured his life;

Went home, and was cudged again by his wife.

SCRAPPS.

BOILED TURKEY. Fill the body with oysters, and let a boil by steam without any water.

When sufficiently done, take it up;

strain the gravy that will be found in the pan; thicken it with a little flour and butter, add the liquor of the oysters intended for sauce,

also stewed, and warm the oysters up in it;

whiten it with a little boiled cream, and pour

it over the turkey.

SHREWSBURY CAKE. One pound of flour,

one pound sugar, one-half pound butter, three eggs, two tablespoonfuls of powdered cinnamon, mix it all together into a paste with the eggs, then roll it out thin, cut with a tulip, and bake in a quick oven.

A man being asked as he lay sunning himself on the grass, what was the height of his ambition, replied:—"To marry a rich widow with a bad cough."

"Where is the east?" inquired a tutor one day, of a very little pup. "Where the morning comes from," was the prompt and pleasant answer.

The best thing to be done when evil comes upon us, is not lamentation, but action; not to sit and suffer, but to rise and seek the remedy.

A priest was called upon to pray over the barren fields of his parishioners. He passed from one enclosure, until he came to a most unpromising case. He surveyed the sterile soil, and the dead trees.

"Ah!" said he, "brethren are in despair."

Follow the laws of Nature, and you will never be poor—your wants will be but few.

Follow the laws of the world, and you will never be rich—your wants will never be satisfied.

Mary, said he, in a grieved tone, consider what thee is doing. Thee can't make a fly.

I know it, said Mary, as she proceeded coldly with her savage work, and I am sure I shouldn't want to.

Thee really hurts my feelings, Mary.

Well, thou know, James, I haven't thy patience. I desire to possess a meek and quiet spirit, but I told thee I've no notion of being turned out of my own house by an army of flies.

Mary, Mary, it's no wonder thee has a heart to kill flies, when thee is lending a helping hand to kill thy fellow creatures! I

"The sweetest, a mother's love; the longest,

Then is taking a strange step for a Friend!

Has she made this a subject of meditation?

Does the feel that thee has been instructed

"Born to no Master, of no Sect are we."

FOUND DEAD. Dr. David Edwards, an aged and highly respected citizen of this place, was found dead in his bed on Saturday evening last. He had been quite feeble for some months, but the week before his death, he was smarter and felt better than he had for a long time. He retired in good spirits, on the evening of his death, but in a short time his daughter heard him groan. He was seventy-five years of age, and well known in this town and vicinity for his skill in veterinary.

DAN RICE. Don't forget Dan Rice. He is here with his "Big Show," and will give an entertainment both afternoon and evening. Dan wears well; and in the character of a "Showman," he is a head and shoulders above the usual run of those in his profession. His novelties are of a rare kind, of his own collection, and peculiar to his exhibition.

MURDEROUS ASSAULT. We learn from the Hingham Journal, that on Tuesday evening of last week, about 8 o'clock, as a party of four young and highly respectable ladies—three of whom were named Churchill, and the other, Frances Goodrich, of Quincy, who is on a visit to her grandmother, Mrs. Lemon, were proceeding homeward from an afternoon's visit to an aunt of Miss Goodrich, and when near the residence of Mr. Stephen Stowell, a man came suddenly behind them, and pushing Mrs. Churchill aside, seized Miss Goodrich in his arms and threw her over a stone wall, and commenced beating her in a most unmerciful manner. The other ladies were exceedingly frightened, but immediately proceeded to Mr. Stowell's house and alarmed the inmates. Before they reached the spot the villain had fled. They found Miss Goodrich in a weak and fainting condition and covered with blood. She was immediately carried to the residence of Mr. Stowell, when it was found she had been stabbed apparently by a dark knife, in the hip in three places. As soon as her condition would permit, she was conveyed to the residence of her grandmother, and Dr. Fiske called and dressed her wounds.

We have since learned that Miss Goodrich is slowly recovering; and that a person by the name of Henry Totman, of Hingham, has been arrested, identified by the afflicted lady, and placed under heavy bonds for a future appearance for trial.

To PATRONS. Our advertising friends have forwarded so many favors of late, that we are short of room, and are obliged to leave out much interesting matter we have in type.

NO CREDIT FOR OVERPLUS. Provost Marshal General Fry frankly admits his inability to find any principle of adjustment whereby towns in excess can now be credited in the draft. An earnest effort, he says, has been made in that direction, but the very effort has brought out so many difficulties and complications, not foreseen, and developed so many obstacles which cannot be overcome, that he has been compelled to abandon the idea.

Russ B. WALKER. The Fall Term of Mr. Walker's School will commence on Saturday, September 19. We announce this piece of intelligence with pleasure, as we know that it will be gratifying to our people—especially the younger portion of them. In his profession, Mr. Walker stands without a rival. As a teacher of the graceful accomplishment of dancing, his merits are highly appreciated in this community; he has only to signify his intention of opening a school, and a class is readily formed.

See advertisement in another column.

SECOND MASS. DISTRICT. The popular and efficient Assessor of the District, E. S. Beale, Esq., has furnished some information which gives a little insight into the nature and arduousness of the tasks imposed on the happy incumbent of this department of governmental service, especially in making up the annual tax list, which was recently committed to the collector's hands. He says:

"The whole amount on the annual list of this district is $134,782.94, and the number of names on the list against whom that amount is taxed is 3,973. Every tax is made separate, distinct, and complete in itself, and is levied on about 7,000 different items, every one of which is separately classed, lettered and numbered. Three exact copies of the entire work have to be prepared—one for the Collector, one for the department at Washington, and one to retain in my office; and then I have to make an abstract of all the items contained in the whole work, placing all the items under their proper heads. That must agree in all its parts and in the aggregate with the lists; and no error of one single cent is allowed to be made."

A valuable express horse belonging to Mr. Alfred Farnald, of this town, died suddenly on Tuesday last of wind-coic.

AUGUSTA, MAINE, AUGUST 31, 1863.

Your readers are no doubt familiar with the history of Augusta. I have never until the present time been able to visit the place. It is a pleasant city; uneven enough to give prominence to its public buildings, and beautifully shaded, which makes a residence here very desirable. The business of the place is good. Its hotels are filled with visitors. The Maine 23rd Regiment is here, and is to be mustered out and paid off to-day. Since the war, Augusta has exhibited more life than it ever did before; and the congregation of large numbers of soldiers here has given profits to the people, and character to the place. Its greatest business mart is Water street, which runs near the river. No daily paper is printed here, excepting the time when the Legislature is in session, when the Journal and the Age publish the daily reports of its debates, &c.

My way from Paris, I stopped at Harpswell, a place celebrated for its "fishing grounds." A company of four fishermen went out to fish. We were piloted by a boy, who took us eight miles from home, where the sea ran high, and the fish would not bite. Instead of taking big fish, we were all taken gloriously sick! The sails were set, and we steered for home, with sun-burnt noses and faint stomachs. Subsequent attempts, however, proved more successful. Our hostess treated her guests with chowders made from fish of our own catching.

The English papers state that all the winners at the late rifle matches were blue-eyed men. The greatest capture of men related in modern history, is that of Napoleon at Austerlitz, where he took twenty thousand prisoners. General Grant at Vicksburg, took thirty-one thousand. The spoil at Austerlitz was one hundred and fifty pieces of artillery; that at Vicksburg is set down at two hundred and thirty-eight.

The town of Litchfield, Connecticut, borrowed the money to pay its drafted men, at five per cent.—half from the Litchfield Savings Bank, and half from a bank in Bridgeport.

The enlistment of negro soldiers in the Border States is destined to have a marked effect on slaves there. Also the acceptance of negro troops in Maryland as a part of the quota called for by the draft, has a wonderful tendency to reconcile the Marylanders both to the use of colored troops and to the draft.

Two countries may be said to feed the rest of the world—the United States and Russia. And yet we find the Western Powers ungratefully endeavoring to sap the strength and cripple the resources of these two nations, even at the risk of starving the people.

Nearly every gate in Vicksburg is now adorned with an unexploded 13-inch shell, placed on the top of each post. The porches and piazzas (nearly every house has one) also are ornamented with curious collections of shot and shell, which fell on their premises during the bombardment of the city by the Federal forces.

The New Hampshire Legislature at its June session, passed an act to authorize the Eastern Railroads in New Hampshire and Massachusetts to unite and form one corporation.

The commutation money paid by those drafted throughout the country, will amount, it is supposed, to some forty or fifty millions of dollars. The United States Collector at Lancaster, Pennsylvania, has received seventy-nine thousand dollars and exempted two hundred and sixty-five men in consequence.

Reports from provost marshals all over the country render it probable that not more than 150,000 men will be added to our army by the conscription.

WORLD'S FAIR IN PARIS. A Fair will be held in Paris, from the first of May till the last of September, 1867, open to all the world. It is expected to excel in magnificence any that has yet been held in France or England.

MACHINE-MADE BAGS. The introduction of machine-made bags subsequent to the Exhibition of 1851, and all branches of trade are now using them. The manufacture of the bags consumes an immense quantity of gray and brown paper. One of the large London works turns out 130,000 bags per day.

HARD TIMES COFFEE. In these days of "Hard Times," when the public is complaining, especially our laboring class, that it takes two dollars to go as far as one formerly did to procure clothes, and when so many instances of genuine articles are brought into the market, that is nothing which has appeared that comes so near the pure, as regards quality and flavor, of any of them, as the "HARD TIMES COFFEE." See advertisement.

PERHAM'S NEW ENTERPRISE. We refer our readers to the patriotic project of Mr. Josiah Perham, the particulars of which are set forth in another column. The object proposed is the founding of a National Home for Invalid and Disabled Soldiers, and the plan for raising the funds is novel, but entirely feasible. Subscribers to the fund are entitled to four admissions to the Great Mirror of the Rebellion, or to the Seven Mile Mirror, either in Boston, or wherever else exhibited, for each dollar paid, and when 100,000 tickets have been sold, the ticket-holders will be presented with a large amount of valuable property.

NEW KEROSENE BURNER. This is a new article, for burning Kerosene, which has recently been patented, and a very safe and convenient one we think it is. Mr. Arey, on Temple street, has it for sale. Also, a prime article of oil.

PEACE HAS ITS VICTORIES. While some are fighting, let us thank the Great Giver that others are engaged in the healing process.

GRACE'S SALVE is the great remedy of the day. It is the best remedy for burns, scalds, felonies, flesh wounds, boils, blisters, warts, and almost every ill that "flesh is heir to." Just one box of it. It costs only 25 cents.

Summary of Intelligence.

ORIGINAL AND SELECTED.

At the surrender of Vicksburg, one of the rebel officers showed his spirit by opening a vein in his arm, and writing his parole in blood.

A man was lately arrested in Detroit, having deserted from four wives and five regiments.

There is a field of tobacco in Western Massachusetts for which the owner has been offered forty thousand dollars.

Over 100,000 bales of confederate States cotton have been captured near Natchez.

It is stated that there are now fifty National Banks organized in the United States, with an aggregate capital of over $7,500,000.

The yield of fruit this season in Michigan will be the largest ever known. The peach crop alone will amount to 250,000 bushels.

The French cavalry use scabbards which contract to half their length when the sword is withdrawn. How are they made?

SECOND MASS. DISTRICT. The popular and efficient Assessor of the District, E. S. Beale, Esq., has furnished some information which gives a little insight into the nature and arduousness of the tasks imposed on the happy incumbent of this department of governmental service, especially in making up the annual tax list, which was recently committed to the collector's hands. He says:

"The whole amount on the annual list of this district is $134,782.94, and the number of names on the list against whom that amount is taxed is 3,973. Every tax is made separate, distinct, and complete in itself, and is levied on about 7,000 different items, every one of which is separately classed, lettered and numbered. THE DESERTED ONE. It may be some consolation to the unfeeling wretch, who left the poor little infant on a doorstep, to know that during its short life it was well taken care of, and received all possible attention from those who took her in charge. Although forsaken and denied a mother's love she was not neglected.

DEMOCRATIC STATE CONVENTION. The Democratic Convention which met at Worcester on Thursday last, was a noble gathering—over fifteen hundred delegates were present. The greatest unanimity and enthusiasm prevailed, and every thing passed off most harmoniously. After organizing, by the election of J. D. Ball, Esq., as Chairman, the business of the meeting was taken up, and in its course, Henry W. Paine, of Cambridge, was nominated for Governor, and T. F. Plunkett, of Pittsfield, for Lieutenant Governor. F. O. Prince of Winchester, Secretary State, Nathan Clark of Lynn, Treasurer and Receiver General, Theodore H. Sweetser of Lowell, Attorney General, and Moses Bates of Lowell, Auditor. Adjourned at 5 o'clock.

DAN RICE. Don't forget Dan Rice. He is here with his "Big Show," and will give an entertainment both afternoon and evening. Dan wears well; and in the character of a "Showman," he is a head and shoulders above the usual run of those in his profession. His novelties are of a rare kind, of his own collection, and peculiar to his exhibition.

Poetry.

For the Patriot,
Taint So.
BY OLD CUFF.

Taint so—because we're getting up,
You think we want 'em mighty great,
Like duke, or count, or emp'r'r's pup,
Big paupers—feeding on de State.

Or trade some great family,
Like dat of his Villianham;

Taint so, no darkie bond or free,

So bad as dat—dat all a sham.

But den we'd like to heat folks say,

Dere goes a MAN, not a TING;

Because we're little darker clay,

Don't like to hear such 'sul'ing fling.

Poor Patrick tanks we're coming Norf,

To take away he labors there;

Psah! Psah! he needn't be so wrof,

To us de Souf is far more dear.

De cotton, rice, and sugar cane,

Is home to ebony darkie chile;

And dancing on de broken chain,

He'll make de Souf wid beauty smile.

Yes dat's his home and dere he'll stay,

And labor for his country's good;

Her righteous laws in truth obey,

And guard her wid de dearest blood.

Who made de weakle Suddens claim?

Who cultuvates de Suddern soil?

Did not de darkie do dat same?

Wid his 'trong arm and patient tol?

Ay! dat did he; and who can say,

When Freedom calls to labor now,

He will not Freedom's voice obey,

And handle well de hoe and plough,

Believe not what de traitors tell,

Who jibes and jeers and slanders fling;

Bring us to trial—prove us well,

Den judge us by de fruits we bring.

You've tried us on de battle field,

Wid you we face our country's foes;

Our mingled blood encrusts de shield

Dat Freedom o'er Columbus trows.

* Puppet.

Woman.

Oh! woman, woman, ever kind,
Thou best and brightest boon of Heaven,

Thy form of grace, thy feeling mind,

In pleasing excellence combined;

What perfect happiness we find

When heart for heart is freely given?

Man's harder nature may forget

The love that once inspired his breast;

Esnared in folly's fatal net,

On schemes of wild ambition set,

Till baffled hope awakes regret;

And care becomes his constant guest.

But only love thy nature knows,

Thy heart was formed for love alone,

And sooner shall the blushing rose

In fragrant leaves in darkness close,

Than thy fond bosom find repose

Where love has not upreared his throne.

The Struggle.

Say not the struggle nought availth,

The labor and the wounds are vain,

The enemy faints not, nor faileth,

And as things have been they remain.

If hopes were dupes, fears may be liars;

It may be, in you smoke concealed,

Your comrades chase e'er now the fliers,

And, but for you, possess the field.

For while the tired waves, vainly breaking,

Seem here no painful inch to gain,

Far back, through creeks and inlets making,

Comes silent, flooding in, the main.

And not by eastern windows only,

When day light comes, comes in the light:

In front, the sun climbs slow, how slowly;

But westward, look, the land is bright.

Anecdotes.

Ah, said a sceptical collegian to an old Quaker, I suppose you are one of those fanatics who believe the Bible? Said the old man.

I do believe the Bible? Do you believe it? No; I can have no proof of its truth.

Then, inquired the old man, does thee believe in France?

Yes; for although I have not seen it, I have seen others who have. Besides, here is plenty of corroborative proof that such a country does exist.

Then she will not believe any thing thee or others has not seen?

No. Did thee ever see thy own brains?

No. Ever see a man who did see them?

No. Does she believe thee has any? This last question put an end to the discussion.

A gentleman was once arguing with a Scotch lady, when at length he stopped, I tell you what, ma'am, said he, I'll not argue with you any longer; you're not open to conviction.

Not open to conviction sir! was the indignant reply; I scorn the imputation, sir; I am open to conviction. But, she added, after a moment's pause, show me the man that can convince me.

A little boy was asked, the other day, if he was a copperhead.

No, said he, looking down at his feet, I'm copper toes.

POPULAR PREJUDICE.

Every inventor, every originator of a new idea, is forced to combat that bugbear, popular prejudice. It seems as though mankind were adverse to any and all efforts to better their condition, or raise them higher in the scale of civilization. Let a man originate a machine of some kind or another to save labor, and he is met on every side by rebuffs and jeers; his works regarded as ridiculous, and against nine-tenths of the educated portion of the community he is forced to combat. Every conceivable and inconceivable reason is brought against the inventors, and under this mountain load of ridicule,

though for a while he may struggle manfully,

the poor man finally succumbs, and his invention dies with him. If a man advance a new opinion in science, immediately a hue and cry is raised by all the learned and scientific men in the community, and he is hunted down, in company with his opinion, with all the ferocity attending a slave hunt

in the South, until he is glad to retire from Auburn and Lewiston.

Dodging the Militia Fine.

In days gone by, when the objectionable military law were in force in sober old Massachusetts, the customary draft was made in a country town a few miles from Boston, and a notice to appear "armed and equipped according to law," was left at the boarding house of a waggish boy who had but little martial music in his soul. Determined that he would neither train nor pay a fine, and entertaining within a very indifferent opinion of the utility of the system, he took no notice of the summons.

Having been duly "warned," however, as he expected, at the expiration of a few weeks,

the sergeant waited upon him with a bill of nine shillings for non-attendance at the muster.

You are fined, sir, nine shillings, for non-attendance.

What is it? said the wag, pretending to misunderstand the collector.

A fine for not training, bawled the other.

"Born to no Master, of no Sect are we."

FREE ROAD. The long agitated question of a free and uninterrupted communication with Boston, has at last been consummated through the untiring exertions of friends and the liberality of generous donors. It will be seen by an article which appears in another column of our paper to-day, that on and after Monday next, the Neponset and Braintree Bridges, will from thence through all time, be thrown open free to the travelling community. The event is one of no small moment to our people, and will, no doubt, receive an appropriate demonstration, commensurate to its importance.

IN THE HOSPITAL. We regret to learn that Thompson Baxter Jr., a young and much respected soldier, who enlisted in the 33rd Mass. Regiment, Capt. Spear's Company, of this place, is now sick in the United States Hospital, at Frederick City, Maryland. He has, from long and fatiguing marches, brought on inflammatory rheumatism in his knee joints, which, from what we can learn, may take years to remove. We hope he may obtain a long furlough and soon be able to return to his parental roof there to enjoy the comforts of home.

A GOOD MOVE. Under our head of Special Notices, will be found the Card of the Merchants and Traders of this town, in relation to the closing of their places of business on and after Monday next, at eight o'clock.

This is a wise and beneficial measure to all concerned. It will afford the employer an hour or so of peaceful enjoyment with his family before retiring to rest; and the clerk, or assistant, time to unbend his mind from the arduous duties of the day, for those of a more ennobling character. Let other trades and professions follow the example—that their help may enjoy a little relaxation—and feel that there are other objects to live for; other duties which they owe to themselves and the community, besides the mere acquisition of wealth.

WAR NEWS. The news from our army is very favorable. Many important successes have taken place during the week. Gen. Gillmore's official report, announcing the capture of Morris Island, arrived at Washington on Thursday. We now have possession of Fort Wagner and Gregg, also of Cummings Point, which is in full view of the City was framed in 1796.

CONVENTION. The Norfolk County Universalist Association met in the Universalist Church in this town, on Wednesday and Thursday last. There were many ministers and delegates present, and the exercises unusually interesting.

FROST. The first of the season, was observable in certain localities in this town, yesterday morning. We don't hear of any damage being done.

GREEK FIRE. The name "Greek Fire" is applied to a peculiar compound of bitumen, naphtha and pitch, that burns on the surface of, or under water. It is composed largely of what the chemists call "arsenical alcohol," most destructive in its effects, and, in the course of its discharge, emitting a most offensive odor. "Greek Fire" has frequently been employed in European wars, but not often in modern times. The secret of its preparation and use was derived from a native of Heliopolis, Syria, about a thousand years ago.

DESENTERS. Two thousand deserters were arrested and returned to their regiments during the month of May, four thousand during the month of June, and six thousand during the month of July. Nearly all of these were old deserters. So certain does apprehension and punishment follow desertion now, that desertions have decreased seventy-five per cent.

DEATH OF A TOWN CLERK. Mr. Eben Tolman, for many years the Town Clerk of Dorchester, died at his residence, on the third instant, aged fifty years. He was highly respected by his fellow townsmen as a man of sterling integrity. The office of town clerk has been filled by the grandfather, father and himself about sixty years.

Russ B. WALKER. The Class for the Fall Term of Mr. Walker's School, which opens on Saturday, the 19th instant, we are pleased to learn is fast filling up. Those desirous of acquiring this pleasing, healthy and graceful accomplishment, under a teacher of rare endowments, have now an opportunity. The School commences at a most propitious season of the year, and very opportunity, at a period of each week, when the young student has an abundance of leisure, and an expenditure of spirit to enjoy a good time.

STATISTICAL. The Randolph Transcript gives the statistics of that town for 1863—Valuation $2,621,730; number of polls 1279; rate of tax $11.50 on $1000.

SMALL POX AT CHARLESTON. In view of the prevalence of the small pox in Charlestown, the City Marshal has issued a notice, posted throughout the city, requesting all persons who have never been vaccinated to do so at once; also persons who have not been for years, to have the operation again performed.

THE NEW POSTAGE CURRENCY. The Treasury Department is making extensive preparation not only for the engraving and printing of the new issue of postal currency and Treasury notes, but that the ink and paper will also be manufactured in the Treasury building at Washington. The postal currency is already printed, and will be issued as soon as there is a demand for it by the withdrawal of the old issue. The new fractional currency will be of the same denomination as the old, but instead of being of different sizes, they will all be of the dimensions of the present ten cent postal.

They are engraved in the highest style of art, and the colors, which are the distinguishing marks of the different values, are of such a chemical combination, it is asserted, as to defy photography. But perhaps the greatest safeguard against counterfeiting, in all the new issues, will be in the paper on which they are printed. This will be made a secret process in the Treasury Department, under the immediate superintendence of the inventor. The paper in question is thinner than that in common use, and it will be very much cheaper. Its advantages will consist largely in the fact that it is forty times stronger than the paper now used. It can be washed like a piece of linen, without in any way injuring the engraving; and withal, it cannot be photographed, as it photographs a dark brown, instead of white, like ordinary paper.

KNOXVILLE. This place, the centre of East Tennessee, which General Burnside has entered and which will probably be his headquarters for some time, is a city of about five thousand inhabitants. It is situated on the Holston river, one of the affluents of the Tennessee river, at the head of steamboat navigation. The city is regularly laid out and handsomely built. It contains a college, (the East Tennessee) five printing offices, three churches, two academies, and the usual county buildings. The great Virginia and Tennessee railroad runs through it. Being much the largest place in that mountainous section, its political and social importance can hardly be appreciated in this region of great cities and dense population. At the time Tennessee declared for secession, the vote in Knox county, in which Knoxville is, stood three thousand one hundred and ninety-six for the Union to one thousand two hundred and fourteen for secession. It was at Knoxville that the Constitution of Tennessee was framed in 1796.

RAILROADS IN NEW YORK. The annual report of the State Engineer shows that the length of railroads in New York is 3,319 miles, of which 2,710 miles are operated by steam. The city railroads constitute the remainder. The total earnings last year were, from passenger business, $9,873,004.84, or, excluding city railroads, $7,582,666.55. The freight business amounts to $18,545,978.89; and other sources, $1,034,474.24; making the total earnings of the roads, excluding those of the cities, $27,163,119.63. The earnings of the city railroads for the year ending Sept. 30, 1862, amounted to $2,344,060.77.

MOUNT WASHINGTON. The carriage road up Mount Washington has done an excellent business, upwards of one hundred persons passing the toll house daily since the 24th of June. The receipts from tolls this year will exceed those of '62 by more than one thousand dollars. The stockholders will receive this year a dividend of four per cent. Last year the road paid three per cent. It costs about two thousand dollars a year to keep the road in good repair.

A LOSS. Messrs. Prescott & Spear, milk dealers, had a valuable horse die one day the present week of colic.

CALIFORNIA TO THE PRESIDENT. President Lincoln has received a dispatch from California, assuring him in warm terms of the earnest support of the people, and declaring that the complete triumph of the Union ticket in that State by a majority of nearly thirty thousand is a pledge that California believes in his wise policy, and enthusiastically supports all his measures for the suppression of the rebellion.

THE DRAFT ACCOUNTS. The Adjutant General has been officially notified, that the "Draft Accounts" of the several towns of the State, which are for expense of enrolment, &c., last fall, and have been approved by Gov. Andrew, are being examined in the Adjutant General's office at Washington, and will be returned for payment as soon as possible—probably in September.

CADETSHIP APPOINTMENT. John Conlin, a son of a poor Irishman in Rutland, has just been appointed to a Cadetship at West Point, which he has long been ambitious to get. He enlisted and went bravely through several battles to earn a claim for it, and when at Washington went directly to the War Department and told his story and his aspirations, and he was immediately appointed from one of the districts of Georgia.

THE STAMP TAX. The Stamp Tax is about to be modified. The bureau is furnishing all kinds of stamps for any special tax, the law of last session requiring only the amount to be made up. As soon as the present issue of stamps are used up, they will be issued alike, of various denominations, and suited as well for a telegraphic message as an express receipt or a package of patent medicine.

COUNTERFEIT CURRENCY. The Buffalo Courier learns that an immense amount of fifty cent United States currency notes is manufacturing in New York. The officers in that city are on the alert for the distributors of the trash. It is said that no less than forty thousand of this counterfeit currency was in Buffalo no later than two weeks ago.

INVALID SOLDIERS' HOME. The benevolent object to which the exhibition of the Seven Mile Mirror is devoted, deserves the cordial support of all loyal people. We are glad to see so much interest manifested in it throughout the country, and hope for an early consummation of so liberal and humane an undertaking.

STATISTICS. A few figures, obtained from the Department of Agriculture, tell a story which the world would do well to consider. Our total agricultural exports (exclusive of cotton) in 1860—when we were yet at peace, were $90,849,556, of which Southern ports exported $19,738,365. In 1861, with half a million of men in arms and no Southern exports, they amounted to $137,026,505, and in 1862, with a million of men in the field, (one half of them from the rural districts,) and no Southern exports, they reached the sum of $156,142,075. The amount of wheat and flour alone exported in the year ending September 1st, 1862, exceeded that of the previous year by over seven millions of bushels.

MIRROR OF FASHION. The Fall number of this valuable Quarterly has been received, and contains several full-sized Patterns, together with Plates illustrating the latest fashions for ladies and children. It is the only Magazine of the kind in America that gives a reliable description of the latest Parisian styles. We recommend it to our lady readers, as we regard it as a very useful work.

GROWTH OF WASHINGTON. The demand for tenements in Washington is treble the supply. From five hundred to a thousand houses are needed. Building is going on rapidly and handsome blocks are rising in all directions. Two new first class hotels will be ready by the meeting of Congress. Washington is being completely regenerated, and is destined to become a very great city. It is estimated to contain now nearly two hundred thousand inhabitants.

RAILROADS IN NEW YORK. The annual report of the State Engineer shows that the length of railroads in New York is 3,319 miles, of which 2,710 miles are operated by steam. The city railroads constitute the remainder. The total earnings last year were, from passenger business, $9,873,004.84, or, excluding city railroads, $7,582,666.55. The earnings of the city railroads for the year ending Sept. 30, 1862, amounted to $2,344,060.77.

Volunteering in the rural districts of Pennsylvania has been on the increase during the past month. The number of men recruited in August exceeds that of any previous month.

The Massachusetts Twenty-third regiment at Newbern has only eighty-eight men.

The wheat crop of Wisconsin is estimated at the Madison Journal at 30,000,000 bushels, of which she can spare two-thirds.

Laughing Gas is now used by many dentists in extracting teeth, and it is claimed by them that while under its influence no pain is felt.

The women of the Northwest are getting up a monster soldier's fair, at Chicago, to raise $70,000.

All the denominations of the postal currency have now been counterfeited.

There are 357 public schools in Philadelphia, and the cost of maintaining them last year was $604,100.

The Lewiston Journal says that a large number of cattle are being transported from Maine this fall.

It is stated that Confederate bonds in England have gone down as low as forty per cent discount.

All negroes in the Army of the Potowmac are being enrolled.

The Wool Grower and Manufacturer, San Francisco, California, states that hundreds of tons of coal are now furnished by the Mount Diablo coal mines.

INTERESTING STATISTICS. The Springfield Republican says there are one hundred and thirteen marriageable ladies in Lee.

ESCORTS. The State of Massachusetts now employs couriers to pass over the route from Washington to New York daily, to accompany New England soldiers discharged or furloughed, and protect them from extortions and swindlers.

FROST. There was a frost in Randolph on the 31st ult.

Deaths.

In this town, on the 29th ult., Dr. David Edwards, aged 78 years, 5 months and 20 days.

Summary of Intelligence.

ORIGINAL AND SELECTED.

It has been figured up that it would take a drove of cattle seventy-two miles long, travelling ten abreast, to supply London with beef one year.

The mountains of northern Alabama swarm with rebel deserters.

Milford is the very centre of the boot manufacture of Massachusetts. In July last, there were sent from that town (by railroad) 11,000, and in August 7045 cases.

The Spanish Government has resumed the monthly sales of cigars at Manila, suspended towards the close of the year before last. The first took place on the 20th of May last, when above 33,000,000 cigars were sold.

It is publicly stated that all the government employees in the New York Custom House have just had one per cent. deducted from their monthly salaries, to pay the exemption fees of such as have been drafted.

Fifty-three men were drafted from Enfield, Ct. and fifty-two of them paid their $300.

The remaining gentleman was a darkie, who expressed his determination to go and represent the town.

For the last eight or ten years, with one or two exceptions, there has been, says the State Registration Report for 1861, a steady annual decrease in marriages in Massachusetts, Connecticut and Rhode Island also show a decrease.

The valuation of the real and personal estate of the city of New York for the 1863 has been officially fixed, by the Supervisors, at $594,196,813.

The Relief Bark Mary Edson, sent to Ireland by Mr. A. T. Stewart, with provisions for the starving poor, returned to New York, bringing one hundred and thirty-nine passengers, free of expense to them.

It is said that in the New England States there is about one-half the usual crop of apples while in the Middle and Western States, there are more than they have had for years.

The stories that the crops in the West have been seriously damaged by the late cold frost, are believed to have set afoul by speculators.

Gen. Dix has addressed a circular letter to the proprietors of the various New York city newspapers, requesting them to say nothing whatever in their columns in reference to military movements from that city, until further notice.

Hon. Moses Bates proposes to establish a new paper at Plymouth, to be called "The Rock of Plymouth."

Poetry.

Dying in the Hospital.

I am dying, mother, dying, in the hospital alone;
With a hundred faces round me, not a single one is known;
And the human heart within me, like a fluttering, wounded dove,
Hungers with a ceaseless yearning for one answering word of love.

Oh, 'tis hard, 'tis hard, my mother, thus to linger day by day,

Dying here, without the music of the battle's fierce array;

Dying, far from home and kindred, robbed of all life's dearest ties,

With the eager eyes out gazing but to meet with stranger eyes.

It were so sweet to fall, mother, with the battle raging round,

And to leap from earth to heaven at a single patriot-bound;

It were sweet to feel that glory would cheek the tears of woe—

That o'er hearts whose griefs were deepest a gush of pride would flow.

But to lie at night, dear mother, and to list the wander's tread;

As it falls upon my heart, I seem a prisoner with the dead;

And long to lose my sense of pain, to find a calm release,

And to sink each vain, vain longing, in a silent sea of peace.

Oh, could I see, Dear Mother, the dog that guards our door,

It would make each life throb at my heart beat quicker than before;

And the nursing of your own dear hands, the breath of our old hills,

Would send a flood of fresh life back through all these draining rills.

But it may not be, loved mother; I must die here, all alone;

Where, a hundred faces round me, not a single one is known;

With the human heart within me hungering, like a wounded dove,

For the soft glance of my mother, and her dear home words of love.

Oh, the heart of man, loved mother, is as dauntless as a rock;

In the time of mortal danger—in the battle's deadly shock;

But alone—alone and dying, how he craves affection's ties—

Craves a woman's strength in weakness, and the love-light in her eyes!

Oh, the dreams, my mother, that have vanished from my sky—

Like the misty mountain vapors that before the sunlight fly—

All the golden dreams of glory, with their rainbow tints of fame,

That would link with deeds of valor my bright, my deathless name!

Where are they now, dear mother? Like a mirror of the plain,

Like a bubble on the ocean, like a jewel on the sun;

Like the sweetest flowers of autumn, when they feel the biting frost,

All those glorious aspirations—they are lost, forever lost!

Yet if I could live, my mother, I know I still should go

And help to rid our country of her fratricidal foe;

For you have taught me, long ago, that he was no true man

Who would not, in a time like this, step forward with the van.

And though I leave, my mother, no laurel crown of fame,

There is not linked with my past life a single breath of shame;

And though I never shall see your face, I will no more complain,

For I know that not a sparrow falleth to the ground in vain.

But another dawn, sweet mother is breaking o'er me now;

When to-morrow's sunlight beameth, it will find a cold brown;

And another rough, rude coffin will be taken from the door;

God bless you, dearest mother, and good-by forevermore! —Continental Monthly.

The peculiar taint or infection which we call

SCROFULA lurks in the constitutions of multitudes of men.

It can be removed or reduced by the con-

fected, virulent state of the blood, wherein that fluid becomes incompetent to sustain the vital forces in their vigorous action, and leaves the system to fall into disorder and disease. The infection is variously caused by material

low living, disordered digestion from bad food, impure air, filth and filthiness, depressing vices, and, above all, by real infection. Whatever it is, origin, in the constitution, descending to children unto the third and fourth generation; "indeed it seems to be the sin which has brought the innocents upon their children."

The which it originates take various names, as to the organs it attacks. In the lungs produces tubercles, and finally in the glands, swellings which and become ulcerous sores; in the

and bowels, derangements which produce, dyspepsia, and liver complaints in the skin, eruptive and cutaneous.

These all having the same origin,

the same remedy, viz., purification and of the blood. Purify the blood, dangerous distempers leave you safe, foul, or corrupted blood, you can heal; with that "life of the flesh"

you cannot have scrofulous disease.

Ayer's Sarsaparilla

sounded from the most effectual anti-medical science has discovered for it entails. That it is far superior to any remedy yet devised, is known by all the great medical men. This is the most extraordinary in its effect

this class of complaints," is indisputably

by the great multitude of publicly wing diseases: King's Evil or

Swellings, Tumors, Eruptions, Blotches and Sores, Ery-

Rose or St. Anthony's Fire, Salt

Seald Head, Coughs from tu-

pus deposits in the lungs, White

Debility, Dropy, Neuralgia, or Indigestion, Syphilis and Infectious Diseases, Mercurial Diseases,

Weaknesses, and, indeed, the whole complaints that arise from impurity blood. Minute reports of individual cases, and of the number of patients cured, will be found in the directions for its use, and some of the remedies had failed to afford relief.

These are purposely taken from all the books of the system, and from all the publications of the medical profession.

THE QUINCY PATRIOT.

Saturday, September 19th, 1863.

"Born to no Master, of no Sect are we."

A GALA DAY. Monday partook of a holiday with us. Our citizens, as we anticipated, would not let so important an event, as the opening of the Neponset and Braintree Bridges pass without suitable demonstrations. Our streets at an early hour, were lively with those who intended to take part in the celebration. Flags were thrown to the breeze in every direction. At eight o'clock the Quincy Brass Band, Mr. Loud as leader, made their entry into the Square, and at their old quarters near the flag staff, for an hour or so, discoursed most excellent music. At a quarter to nine, they took the Horse Cars for Neponset, followed by a large cavalcade of carriages. Arrived at the Bridge, the procession came to a halt, where they were again entertained by the Band with some of their most popular airs. By invitation, they next proceeded to the Neponset House, in partake of a collation furnished by the hospitality of "mine host." At the conclusion of this interesting part of the ceremonies, speeches were made, and every thing passed off most agreeably.

REMOVALS. There is an indication, from the movements of certain of our business men, that they anticipate a brisk and active Fall trade. Mr. Lombard, as we intimated in our last, has cut the close intimacy which has so long subsisted between us—withdrew from our premises, and located himself on the Square—under the eaves of the Stone Temple—the old quarters of Mr. Dods, who has removed to that large and spacious room, formerly occupied by the Hancock Light Guard as an armory. By this exchange, Mr. L. has made a descent to the first floor, and Mr. D. an ascent to the second; the former seeking a lower strata of trade, and the latter one more elevated. They are both excellent artists in their line; have an extensive stock of ready-made clothing on hand, which is well worth the attention of our people, and rich and fashionable fabrics, suitable to be made up into every description of dress, for which they would be happy to receive orders.

NORFOLK AGRICULTURAL SOCIETY. The Fifteenth Annual Exhibition of this Society will take place at Dedham, on Thursday and Friday, 24th and 25th inst. These Exhibitions have always been highly satisfactory, and crowned with the most brilliant success; because the managers have ever encouraged a just and liberal policy in the development of the agricultural interests of the County. On the present occasion, the first day will be devoted to the reception and examination of articles—plowing, drawing matches, trial of horses, etc. The second, is the Grand Exhibition day, when the Annual Address will be delivered by Rev. George Putnam, D. D. of Roxbury. Norfolk is rich in her agricultural products, and this year the Exhibition promises to be even more abundantly supplied than at any former period.

GREAT ATTRACTION. The Seven Mile Mirror which was opened to the public on Monday evening last, at the Melodeon, in Boston, has attracted an unusually large crowd of visitors throughout the week. One-half the profit of the entire sale of tickets, goes towards founding of a National Institution, to be a home for invalid soldiers, which makes it an object worthy the attention of all. Tickets, admitting four persons to the exhibition, one dollar each, and also entitles the holder to a share in upwards of thirty-four thousand dollars to be distributed amongst them.

We can accommodate a few of our friends with tickets, at the regular price, if they will call soon at our office or residence.

NEW GOODS. Our enterprising friends, Messrs. Cushman & Brooks, have removed to their new store, Nos. 90 and 92 Tremont Street, Boston. We visited their rich palace one day the present week, and found it large and convenient, giving much better accommodation to themselves and customers than their old one. They have filled their new store with an entire new stock, which is too large for us to enumerate, and would refer our readers to their advertisement in another column. For reasonable prices, they surpass any store we are acquainted with in the city. We would most earnestly invite our readers to give them a call, believing they will be well pleased with their goods and prices.

OUR PATRONS IN WEYMOUTH. We take pleasure in informing our friends that E. F. Hall, Esq., of Weymouth Landing, has kindly accepted an invitation to act as Agent for us in that place. Thus giving our advertising patrons and others, in Weymouth, the advantages that they have long wished for, but sought in vain, until this time.

SILVER. A prime article which is just the thing for buckwheat cakes, and such dainties, may be had of J. Arey, Jr., on Templestreet, Mr. A. has also, for sale, a large assortment of family groceries.

Boston Correspondence.

FOREIGN.CAMP OF 24TH MASS. VOLUNTEERS,
MORRIS ISLAND.

South Carolina, August 18, 1863.

DEAR FATHER: I still live, and am tolerably well; in fact, quite well, except a little weakness in the knees.

19th. Cloudy—smoke from the east. We are on Pickett, in front of the siege, with sand blowing all over us. The city of Charleston in plain sight; also, Fort Sumter, Castle Pinckney, Fort Moultrie and other rebel fortifications. Our siege guns fire occasionally on one side. The rebels shell us occasionally; sometimes they fire quite fast from James Island—and shells burst all around us. Men are killed quite often; but we have been quite lucky—lost but one man.

Sunday, 23d.—Hot. Company inspection with knapsacks (at eleven o'clock) the hottest part of the day; in the afternoon, a Brigade review, by Gen. Gilmore; and then about dark, our Regiment marched to the front on Pickett, which is about three miles; thus showing that Sunday is no day of rest for soldiers.

26th. Moderate and cloudy. The 24th marched to the front towards night and made a charge on the rebel rifle pits, and took them with about one hundred prisoners; about fifty more ran for Fort Wagner; but some were killed before they reached it, which was only about twenty rods distant from the Pits. We soon had up sand breastworks to cover us from the grape and canister and shell from Wagner and other rebel works, which began to fire quite brisk. It was a lively time for a little while, you may rest assured. We had only one Lieutenant and two privates killed, and five or six wounded. We jumped over our breastworks, and went across with a yell—and so quick, that the rebels were taken by surprise; they did not know what in the d—l to do; the most of them surrendered—some few ran away. We took one Captain, two Lieutenants, with about one hundred privates. They were North Carolina troops, and seemed to be glad they were taken, for they took our shovels and worked like heroes for us, throwing up breastworks; they said if they had guns they would fire back on Wagner; they are sick enough of the war. I was across to the pits as soon as any, and rushed up to a pit where there were about a dozen rebels; but they soon dropped their guns, and we ordered them over the works; they came over and went to work for us with a good will. Ha! ha! ha!

For want of room I cannot state any more particulars at this time—except that old "Club" went in and came out of the fight in good trim, without even a scratch. We lay there till midnight, in a heavy thunder shower, before we got relieved. Three attempts had been made before with other Regiments, and they got repulsed with considerable loss. I forgot to mention that myself and a comrade jumped over into a pit and passed back twenty Windsor rebel rifles. Unconsciously I walked over a dead rebel, the darkness preventing my seeing him. Another rebel was shot through the hip and lay bleeding; he begged us not to hurt him, and asked for water, which was given to him. We soon returned over the breastworks. A rebel sharpshooter fired at me, and the ball went whizzing by—but it did not hit Club that time. Ha! ha! ha! After dark we got the wounded rebel down to the hospital on a stretcher with our wounded. Captain Foster Brown, of the Schooner Nelly Brown, from Quincy, is here with cannon and ammunition.

The election of Monday last in Maine, was neither a Republican or Democratic triumph. It was a Union victory. Judge Cony, the Governor elect, is a firm Douglas Democrat; has not altered a whit. He took the ground that all good men should take, to sustain the government in the vigorous prosecution of the war, with a view of crushing out the rebellion and restoring the thirty-five States once more to peace and harmony under our glorious Flag and Constitution.

The great speech on our foreign relations of Senator Sumner last week before the Cooper's Institute, in New York, has met with much commendation by the press generally. He has clearly shown the monstrous injustice we have been suffering for two years past in the dishonorable course pursued towards us by France and Britain. He has discussed the questions of international rights with that ability and fairness, that cannot fail to attract the attention of the British Cabinet and the Court of St. Cloud with lessons of diplomatic improvement to them.

Death of Sergeant E. F. Trask.

Died near Fort Randall, Dakota Territory, on the 3d instant, Eugene F. Trask, son of Frederick A. Trask, of this town, aged twenty-four years and six months—late Sergeant Major of the 41st Regiment, Iowa Volunteer Infantry. He was on his way from Fort Randall to Head Quarters, Sioux City, Iowa, (being detailed as a clerk in the Commissary Department at that place) and when about twenty-six miles this side of Fort Randall, the stage, in which he was a passenger, was fired into by the Indians. The first shot fired proved fatal to him; the ball passing directly through his heart, killing him almost instantly. His body was taken back to Fort Randall, and interred in the Military Cemetery. He was beloved by all who knew him, and has left a wide circle of friends, both in and out of the army, to mourn his sad fate.

A CONTRAST. Gold in New York at $1.26; at Richmond $12.00.

AWFUL TRYING, ISN'T IT? A miner at Pike's Peak writes that the miners are very much discouraged. They have to dig through a solid vein of silver, four feet thick, before they can reach the gold.

General McClellan has been placed on retired pay, a conclusive proof that the present Administration does not intend to employ him again.

The receipts into the Treasury from the last day of September was the largest ever reported in one day from the same source. They were on account of the Internal Revenue, $297,547.02; on account of the customs in the United States notes, $58,770.40; and in coin, $351,107.49, making in all $707,462.93.

The Louisville Journal says they had a

Vermont farmers report an unusually large crop of hops this year.

General Banks has restored the colors of the 4th Mass. regiment, and allowed the detailed members to come home.

A new iron steam cutter designed for the waters of Boston Harbor and Massachusetts

Bay, will be finished and go into that service on or about October tenth.

The Merrimac and Massachusetts corporations at Lowell, have been erecting large buildings, the former one 286 by 72 feet, two stories high, and the latter one 100 by 60 feet and six stories high. The two corporations are at present time highly prosperous.

Political matters are very quiet here for September. Our State election occurs on Tuesday, the third day of November next.

Let us be of what party we may, our duty is plain, and such as we shall follow, to vote for no man who sympathizes with the leaders of the rebellion, but to stand firm by the government in putting down this most wicked rebellion or crusade against right and liberty.

The election of Monday last in Maine, was neither a Republican or Democratic triumph.

It was a Union victory. Judge Cony, the Governor elect, is a firm Douglas Democrat;

has not altered a whit. He took the ground that all good men should take, to sustain the government in the vigorous prosecution of the war, with a view of crushing out the rebellion and restoring the thirty-five States

once more to peace and harmony under our glorious Flag and Constitution.

The great speech on our foreign relations of Senator Sumner last week before the

Cooper's Institute, in New York, has met with much commendation by the press generally. He has clearly shown the mons-tous injustice we have been suffering for two years past in the dishonorable course pursued towards us by France and Britain.

He has discussed the questions of international rights with that ability and fairness, that cannot fail to attract the attention of the British Cabinet and the Court of St.

Cloud with lessons of diplomatic improvement to them.

THE SEVEN MILE MIRROR. This startling work of art has been devoted to the interests of humanity. Mr. Perham, agent for the proprietors, submits to the people a plan for the founding of a National Home for Invalid

Soldiers, which is well worth the attention and support of all. Read the advertisement and send in your subscriptions.

THE BOUNTY TAX. The City Solicitor

of Lowell has given an opinion that the tax

$80,000 against that city on account of bounties is illegal, and cannot be assessed and collected. If an attempt is made to enforce its payment the question will doubtless be brought before the Supreme Court.

THE NATIONAL BANKING SYSTEM. The popularity of the new National Banking scheme is well illustrated by the fact that up to the 12th of September eighty two banks have been established under the act of Congress of 1863, or about one per day since the organization of the first in June last.

The Singer SEWING MACHINES.

OUR LETTER A Family Sewing Machine is fast gaining a world-wide reputation.

It is beyond doubt the

BEST AND CHEAPEST

And Most Beautiful of all Family Sewing Machines yet offered to the public. No other Family Sewing Machine has so many useful appliances for Hemming, Binding, Felting, Tacking, Gathering, Gaging, Braiding, Embroidering, Cording, and so forth. No other Family Sewing Machine has so much capacity for great variety of work. It will sew all kinds of cloth, and with all kinds of thread. Great and recent improvements make our Family Sewing Machine most reliable, and most durable, and most certain in action at all rates of speed. It makes the interlocked stitch which is the best stitch known. Any one, even of the most ordinary capacity, can see at a glance, how to use the Letter A Family Sewing Machine. Our Family Sewing Machines are finished in chaste and exquisite style.

The Folding Case of the Family Machine is a piece of cunning workmanship of the most useful kind. It protects the machine when not in use, and when about to be operated may be opened as a spacious and substantial table to sustain the work. While some of the Cases, made out of the choicest woods, are finished in the simplest and chastest manner possible, others are adorned and embellished in the most costly and superb manner.

Neither its importance nor its serviceability can be called into question; let the people respond in a spirit worthy of the project, and no one need fear to be disappointed.

Making the preparation in good faith, and ready to devote his whole energies to the great work, the projector firmly believes the tide of popular favor will flow in the desired direction, and accomplish the founding and ensure the erection of a permanent National Institution, which shall be an asylum for Invalid Soldiers, and a home for the disabled.

By combining this enterprise with the public place of amusement, of such well-known high character, as the Agricultural Hall, the projector will be enabled to raise a sum sufficient for the promotion of a great charitable design, may receive a full equivalent for the outlay in witnessing this splendid series of Paintings.

As soon as the Tickets are sold, in addition to one-half the profits to be paid over as aforesaid, the following described property will be donated to the Ticket holders and placed in the hands of the Trustee, to be disposed of in the Mass Meeting, which may be by selling the property and appropriating the proceeds thereof for the benefit of Invalid Soldiers, or they may instruct the Trustees to dispose of the property among the ticket-holders, or in any other way, as they may see fit, with this specific condition, that in disposing of the property there shall be no violation of the law.

Important to Drafted Men.
THE following information for Drafted Men is published by order of the Provost Marshal General:—

Drafted Men become soldiers in the service of the United States by the fact of their names having been drawn in the draft, and are not accepted or rejected by the Provost Marshal unless there is an announcement of the fact, and an order for them to report for duty at a designated time and place.

Extract from the opinion of the Hon. William Whiting, Solicitor of the War Department:—

"Any person failing to report for duty after notice is left at his place of residence, or sent to him by letter, will be considered as having a substan- tial excuse, and will be pronounced law a deserter. He may be arrested and held for trial by court martial, and sentenced to death.

If a person after being drafted and before receiving notice deserts, the notice may still be served by leaving it at his last place of residence, and if he is not found there, by sending the notice, or furnish a substitute or pay the $200 he will be in law a deserter and must be treated accordingly. There is no way or manner in which a person once enrolled can escape his public duties, and when drafted, whether present or absent, whether he chooses to remain in the United States or return to his native land, it is only by the performance of his duty to the country that he will escape liability to be treated as a criminal."

All drafted men in the Second District, who have not reported for duty will observe the law and forthwith govern themselves accordingly. In behalf of the Board. J. W. D. HALL, Provost Marshal.

PROVOST MARSHAL'S OFFICE,
SECOND DISTRICT, MASS.,
TAUNTON, Aug. 18th, 1863.

TEN DOLLARS REWARD and reasonable expenses for finding and bringing to trial persons for the apprehension and delivery of a DESERTER at these Headquarters, or at the Headquarters in any other District. By authority of the Provost Marshal General U. S. J. W. D. HALL, Provost Marshal.

CAUTION
TO FEMALES IN DELICATE HEALTH.

DR. DOW, Physician and Surgeon, No. 7 Endicott Street, Boston, is consulted daily for all diseases incident to the female system. Prolaps Uteri; Fallopian Tumors; Hernia; Abdominal, Suprarenal and other Medicinal discharges, well treated on new pathological principles, and speedily relieved guaranteed in a very few days. So invariably certain is the new mode of treatment, that most obstinate complaints yield under it, and the afflicted person soon rejoices in perfect health.

Dr. Dow has doubt had greater experience in the cure of diseases of women than any other physician in Boston.

Boarding accommodations for patients who may wish to stay in Boston a few days under his treatment.

Dr. Dow, since 1845, having confined his whole attention to an office practice for the cure of Private Diseases and Female Complaints, acknowledges no superior in the United States.

Poetry.

September.

Gentle September, thou art here;
The Graces follow in thy train,
The almoners of the bounteous year,
And scatter gifts of golden grain.

September I' e'en thy very name
Is syllabled unto the ear
In liquid sweetness; and the same
Sweet promise ripens in thy cheer.

We see thee in thy deep-hued dress,
We hear thee in the plaintive breeze,
We taste thee in the mellowness
That drops from thy rich-burdened trees.

We know thee by the tempered heat
That lingers in the sun's spent rays,
And by the passing hours more fleet
That fill the Indian Summer days.

And by the faint-hued haze which veils
The vista seen through branching trees;
But we feel thee most when language fails,
By other signs and scenes than these.

Thou hast a token in the sky,
A music in the wandering winds,
A strength in thy maturity,
In which the soul a solace finds.

We hail thee, harvest month—and more,
Thou art the heart's month—and we gain
Of calm content a plenteous store,
As well as gifts of golden grain.

Couldn't Help It.

A mother's pet, a little Jane,
Who was but four years old,
With azure eyes o'er rosy cheeks,
And curly like skeins of gold.

One morning searched the pantry shelves,
When mother was not by,
And took with dimpled hands, from one,
A nicely baked mince pie.

Then, knife in hand, upon the floor
She cooed took a seat,
And gave the cat, and kittens each,
A piece of pie to eat.

Her mother came—amazed, she said :
Well, here's a pretty show!
I couldn't help it, ma, said Jane,
I love the pussy so!

The girl who couldn't help it grew—
From feeding cats on pie—
To be a girl of sweet sixteen,
Delighting ev'ry eye.

And then to win her youthful heart,
There went a suitor bold;
She gave him both her heart and hand,
And then her mother told.

Her mother asked : "Why did you thus
Your hand on him bestow?"

"I couldn't help it, ma," she said ;
"I couldn't help it—no!"

"Oh nonsense, girl!" exclaimed her ma,
"You made the same reply

When you were but a little child,
And fed the cat on pie."

"I know I did," responded Jane,
And will the reason show;

I fed the cat and married John
Because I loved them so!

A Little More Toil and Care.

A little more toil and care,
A few more sighs and tears,
A few more crosses we'll have to bear
Through few remaining years.

A little more pleasure here
In doing righteous deeds,
A few more seasons in which to cheer
Some heart that comfort needs.

And then will we leave behind
The things of time and sense ;

Then for our labors, in heaven find

A lasting recompence.

Anecdotes.

A country fellow just come to New York, gaping about in every shop he came to, at last came to a police shop, where, seeing only one man sitting at a desk, he could not imagine what commodity was sold there, but calling to the clerk :

Pray, sir, said he, what do you keep sell here?

Loggheads! cried the clerk.

Do you? answered the countryman, by jingo, then you have a special good trade, for I see you have but one logghead left.

You are about to remove, are you not? No.

Why, you wrote up selling off.

Yes; every shopkeeper is selling off.

You say: No reasonable offer refused.

Why, I should be very unreasonably if I did refuse such offer.

But you say: Must close on Saturday.

To be sure; you would not have me open on Sunday, would you?

A little girl who had often contemplated the very aged appearance of her grandmother, of more than eighty years, her face wrinkled and time-worn, ran up to her one day and asked :

Grandmother, were you alive when God made the world?

Sommy, my son, don't stand there scratching your head; stir your stumps, or you'll make no progress in life.

Why, father, I've heard you say the only way to get along in this world, was to scratch a-head.

Drafted Men become soldiers in the service

Poetry.

For the Patriot,
Dying on the Battle Field.
BY F. M. ADLINGTON—WEYMOUTH.

I am dying, dearest mother,
But I feel it's sweet to die,
While the stars and stripes wave o'er me;
For this land of liberty.

For the land I love and honor,
For the land that gave me birth;
'Tis the brightest, fairest, purest,
And the dearest spot of earth.

I am dying, dearest mother,
But my face is to the foe;
On the field of battle lying,
Where I gave them blow for blow.

Many comrades lie around me;
Some are dying by my side;
Gallant hearts who faced the battle,
And the savage for death.

But they hear the shout of victory,
And unwilling yet to die,
Till they see the rebel colors,
At their feet surrender'd lie.

I am dying, dearest mother,
But I do not feel alone;
All my comrades are my brothers—
They will weep when I am gone.

They will weep to lose a brother,
When they lay me in the grave;
But above my bed of honor,
Will the stars of Freedom wave.

I am dying, dearest mother,
But you must not mourn for me;
Our lov'd country will remember,
And her sons be sons to thee.

I shall leave a name, dear mother,
That you need not blush to tell;
On the battle field of freedom,
Say your son unconquered fell.

That he left his dying blessing,
For his country and for you—
Bless the Stripes and Stars forever
Mother—mother dear, adieu.

I am going, dearest mother,
To the promised land on high—
Hope points her beauteous finger,
Where the faithful cannot die.

We shall meet again, dear mother,
God has promised—do not fear—
We shall meet again, dear mother,
Fare you well, my mother dear.

The West Wind.

Beneath the forest's skirts I rest,
Whose branching pines rise dark and high,
And hear the breezes of the west
Among the threaded foliage sigh.

Sweet zephyr! what that sound of woe?
Is not thy home among the flowers?
Do not the bright June roses blow,
To meet thy kiss at morning hours?

And lo! the glorious realm outspread—
Yon stretching valleys, green and gay,
And yon free hill tops, o'er whose head
The loose white clouds are borne away.

And there the full broad river runs,
And many a faint swells fresh and sweet,
To cool thee when the mid-day suns
Have made thee faint beneath their heat.

Thou wind of joy, and youth, and love!
Spirit of the new wak'den year!
The sun, in his blue robes above,
Smooths a bright path when thou art here.

In lawns the murmuring bee is heard,
The winking ring-dove in the shade;
On thy soft breath the new-fledged bird
Takes wing, half happy, half afraid.

Ah! thou art like our wayward race;
When not a shade of pain or ill
Dime the bright smile of Nature's face,
Thou lov'st to sigh and murmur still.

Aneclotes.

An Irishman describing America, said: I am told that one might roll England through it, an' wouldn't make a dint in the ground; there's fresh water oceans inside that ye might drown old Ireland in; an' as for Scotland, ye might stick it in a corner, ye'd never be able to find it out except it might be by the smell of whiskey.

One of our small men, a little bit of a fellow, at the dinner table of the Orleans House, was jokingly proposing marriage to a fat woman about six times his size. No, indignantly replied the big woman, when I marry I don't want to get a man so small that I'll have to shake the bed clothes in the morning to find him.

Patrick, said a gentleman to his Irish waiter, I am going out to-morrow—call me at four in the morning.

Yes, replied Pat, but won't yer honor have the goodnes to ring the bell, that I may wake in time.

A testy lawyer, lately in one of our courts found himself bothered with a knotty witness, who wouldn't explain as he desired, the difference between the thick and long kinds of whalebone.

Why, man, he said, you don't seem to know the distinction between thick and long.

Yass, I do.

Explain it, then.

Wal—you're plaguey thick-headed, but you ain't long-headed, no how, said Greeny.

Boy, what's become of that hole I saw in you pants the other day? (Young America, carefully examining his unmentionables.)

It is worn out, sir.
